COLOMBIA PRESIDENT'S VIEW ON LOAN AND OIL GIVEN

Senator Presents Olaya's Message to His Congress Saying Restoration of Grant Was Necessary to Get Credit.

STIMSON AID AGAIN REFUSES PAPERS

Acting Under Orders, He Says; 'Contrary to Public Interest' to Produce Messages—Senator Calls for Showdown on Matter.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Evidence that American credit was withheld from the Republic of Colombia because of its failure to restore a $2,000,000,000 oil concession to the Mellon and Morgan interests, was laid before the Senate Committee investigating foreign loans this afternoon.

Senator Hiram Johnson, who is conducting the inquiry, presented documentary evidence to show that when President Olaya of Colombia visited the United States in 1930, seeking a loan of $20,000,000, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon advised him to "settle your petroleum questions." The Secretary issued a statement denying the allegation.

Johnson also produced a message in which Olaya informed the Colombia Congress that an official of the Government had visited J. P. Morgan & Co., in 1929, and had been told by two of the Morgan partners, Thomas Lamont and Arthur M. Anderson, that Colombia would have a hard time borrowing money until the controversy over the oil concession was settled.

The Barco concession, as it is called, had been acquired several years earlier by a group in which the Mellon interests owned 75 per cent and J. P. Morgan & Co. the remaining 25 per cent, but it was canceled by the Colombian Congress in 1926. The controversy resulted from efforts to have it restored, and these efforts, aided by the State Department, finally succeeded.

Still Refuses Papers.

The Senate committee appeared bent on a head-on collision with the State Department, over the department's refusal to produce diplomatic messages relating to the Colombian loan and restoration of the oil concession by the Colombian Government.

Admitting that the contents of the messages had been related to attorneys for the National City Bank, Assistant Secretary of State Francis White flatly refused to produce them for the Senate, holding that it would be contrary to the public interest.

Senator Hiram Johnson has repeatedly suggested that the restoration of the oil concession was a condition of obtaining $4,000,000 credit.

The evidence has disclosed that the State Department intervened with the bankers in behalf of Colombia just after the concession was restored to the Mellon-Morgan group.

Four banking institutions, the National City Co. and the Bank of Manhattan Trust Co. of New York, the Continental Illinois Trust Co. of Chicago and the First National Bank of Boston, had advanced $16,000,000 of a $20,000,000 loan to Colombia, but withheld the remainder when the Colombian budget became unbalanced. Then the State Department intervened.

Declines to Show Messages.

As soon as White resumed the stand today, Johnson inquired whether he had changed his mind about producing Minister Caffrey's telegrams about the Barco concession. "I have not," was the reply.

The California Senator then asked if White would produce a transcript of those portions of the messages which related solely to the loan. White replied that he was "not authorized" to do so.

Johnson extracted the admission that a third telegram from Caffrey

GORILLA RECOVERS FROM PNEUMONIA IN OXYGEN TENT

Zoo's Baby Ape Responds to Same Careful Treatment That Child Would Have.

After two weeks of the same painstaking medical attention that a child would have received in a modern hospital, Yonnoh, the Zoo's young gorilla, is well on the way to recovery from pneumonia.

Dr. R. A. Kammerer, Zoo veterinarian, still takes Yonnoh's temperature and pulse several times a day and she is still on half-rations, but the oxygen tent in which she was kept for 18 hours out of 24 for some days has been sent back to the firm that owns it, the lung specialist is no longer called in for consultation, and Yonnoh's return to health now is merely a matter of rest and recuperation.

The illness has brought about a great change in the temperament of the only gorilla in the Middle West. Three weeks ago Yonnoh was rough, boisterous and suspicious of strangers. Now she is very gentle and highly tractable. Four men held her when her temperature was taken the first time, and now it is not necessary to hold her at all. The first time she went into the oxygen tent, she did so only following severe struggle. After two or three days, however, she scrambled back into the tent voluntarily when released from her cage.

Yonnoh will be on display again in about 30 days if she continues to improve as she has done in the last week.

ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT WINS, EVEN IN SOVIET RUSSIA

Theater Director Loses Job After Dancer Attacks Him With Inkstand.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Jan. 15. — Artistic temperament flourishes even under the five-year plan and the story is just getting around about how the director of Moscow's most prominent theater lost his job in a row with his premiere danseuse.

B. S. Arkanov, the director, Victorina Krieger, 40-year-old ballerina who holds the coveted rank of "People's Artist," and other officers of the Balshoi Theater, were talking over the company's affairs. The dancer took exception to what she regarded as aspersions cast on her dancing by Arkanov.

"Don't you forget," she is said to have told him, "I am a people's artist."

"Yes, you are—by mistake," Arkanov retorted.

Whereupon the ballerina, with a gesture of fury, seized an inkstand full of red ink and brought it down on Arkanov's head. The local union of theatrical artists expelled her, but so numerous were the protests that she was restored to good standiing and is back in the regular productions.

While Arkanov was still in the hospital he learned that he had been fired.

PLAN TO INFLATE CURRENCY FAST GAINING FAVOR

To Broaden Federal Reserve Rediscounting Powers, as Hoover Asks, Would Have That Effect.

SENATOR GLASS SET AGAINST IT

"Sound Money" Issue, Likely to Be Raised in Opposition to Expansion Proposals.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Sentiment favoring a substantial inflation of the currency is developing rapidly here. The question is certain to come before Congress within a short time. And there are positive indications that the administration will advocate a measure of inflation.

In his message to Congress last week, President Hoover urged a broadening of the rediscount provisions of the Federal Reserve act. Under the present law, the only paper eligible for rediscount by Federal Reserve banks consists of Government securities, ninety-day commercial paper and nine-month agricultural paper.

Hoover's Position.

The President said: "The discount facilities of our Federal Reserve banks are restricted by law more than those of the central banks in any other countries. This restriction, in such times as these, limits the liquidity of the banks and tends to increase the forces of deflation, cripples the smaller businesses, stifles new enterprises, and thus limits employment. I recommend an enlargement of these discount privileges to take care of emergencies."

Compliance with this recommendation would tend to produce an immediate inflation of the currency, because paper rediscounted by Federal Reserve banks, together with the gold reserve, form the basis of the currency. Indeed, the paper represents a larger percentage than the gold. The Federal Reserve Board is authorized to issue currency up to 60 per cent of the value of the paper accepted for rediscount.

It is a significant fact that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill, as originally drawn by Treasury officials, provided that the $1,500,000,000 of debentures to be issued would be eligible for rediscount. Because of opposition in the Senate, coupled with a desire to secure speedy action. The administration consented to the elimination of this provision. Had it become law, the Federal Reserve Board would have had power to issue $900,000,000 in additional currency.

Further Inflation to Be Sought.

That other proposals for inflating the currency will soon be made, cannot be doubted. Probably there will be several bills defining new forms of paper as eligible for rediscount and, consequently, as the base for additional issues of currency.

Those advocating inflation argue that the present depression has been aggravated by an increasing shortage of money. It is estimated that $1,500,000,000 is being hoarded. If this is true, the money in circulation has been reduced approximately one-third. About $5,000,000,000 is normally in circulation.

Nevertheless, any proposal to expand the eligibility provisions of the Federal Reserve act is certain to encounter strenuous opposition in Congress. In addition to raising the "sound money" issue, many members, it is understood, will conclude that an effort is being made to load up the Federal Reserve banks with doubtful paper.

Glass in Opposition.

In an interview which appeared in the Post-Dispatch Oct. 10, Senator Carter Glass (Dem.), Virginia, one of the authors of the Federal reserve act, said: "I am convinced that a concerted drive is in progress, with the object of stampeding Congress into changing the Federal reserve act so as to permit huge quantities of questionable paper to be unloaded on the Federal Reserve banks.

"The sort of 'broadening' sought by the New York bankers would enable Federal Reserve banks to make loans on railroad bonds, real estate mortgages, industrial stocks and bonds, and a lot of those miserable and immobile securities with which member banks loaded up during the stock boom, and which they now wish to unload. Such action would certainly wreck the Federal Reserve system. Congress will never accede to it while I am alive. And my health is excellent."

KILLED CHILD 'WHO COULDN'T GET WELL'

Father, Fearing Ultimate Discovery, Confesses Act More Than Two Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.

MILLERSBURG, O., Jan. 15.—James Stenhouse, 39 years old, waited in county jail today for action by the grand jury on his confession that he killed his two-year-old son, because the boy "could not get well."

The grand jury was examining charges that Stenhouse chloroformed the child because he had a brain infection which at best would leave him mentally deficient.

Stenhouse, who kept his secret for more than a year, surrendered to the Sheriff last Saturday and told of ending the boy's life.

Fear that some day he would make an unintentional remark concerning the boy's fate caused him to make his confession, Stenhouse told officials. Stenhouse, a stonecutter, told his wife, how he came home one night in September, 1929, found the child in a stupor and chloroformed him. She advised him not to tell authorities and he was able to keep his secret until recently when he felt he could no longer bear up under the ordeal of withholding his story.

Indications were today that Stenhouse, if indicted by the grand jury, would be sent to a State hospital for treatment.

Stenhouse said he talked the boy's death over with his wife last Friday and they decided it would be best for him to confess. He said he told his 13-year-old daughter, Ellen, how her brother died for the first time last Friday.

"She was all broken up," he said. "I don't know what made me tell her, and after I saw how she took it, I was afraid she might tell someone because I don't believe she quite understood the true circumstances. It was then I definitely made up my mind to tell."

During the time he kept the story, Stenhouse said he would go on a drinking spree to "get cheery." He said he often drank until his wife threatened to go to police with the story.

"I don't believe she would have told them, because she was afraid I would do something to myself for she knew how greatly I grieved."

Asked if he regretted his act. Stenhouse replied: "Under the circumstances I would do the same thing again. I could not bear to see the little fellow suffer and my wife ruin her health by constantly being at his bedside when I knew the baby could not be cured. I did not want my wife to go crazy by worrying over the boy."

MAYOR HOME 'FROM FIRST REAL VACATION'

Gains 14 Pounds in Six Weeks at Winnetka (Ill.) Health Resort.

Mayor Miller returned to his office today, after six week's absence due to illness, and was greeted by City Hall officials and other callers. He looked well, and said he had gained 14 pounds since he left Dec. 2, making his present weight 191.

"It was the first real vacation I ever had," he said, referring particularly to his stay in North Shore Health Resort, at Winnetka, Ill., for the last three weeks.

"I took it easy, played medicine ball, handball, cards, walked, drove with Mrs. Miller, went into Chicago, to see a show now and then. I am going to stick around a while now but if there isn't much doing, I might go away later for a short time." Physicians have recommended that he take an outing in Florida.

A hard cold and loss of weight since his summer journey to Paris, caused the Mayor to stay at home in the first week of December, and he then went to Deaconess Hospital, going from there to the institution near Chicago.

President Neun of the Board of Aldermen was acting Mayor in his absence.

NEW YORK POLICE BREAK UP UNEMPLOYMENT MEETING

Mounted Officers and Patrolmen Charge Crowd Blocking Broadway Near City Hall Park.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A disturbance developed near City Hall Park this afternoon when mounted policemen and patrolmen charged a crowd at an unemployment demonstration that jammed Broadway and Chambers street to such an extent that traffic was almost at a standstill.

The crowd had gathered around a news stand, near the park railing, on which was standing a blond youth who was addressing the gathering.

Between 200 and 300 of the demonstrators marched down to Wall street and held a brief meeting in front of the Subtreasury Building, across the street from the Stock Exchange and the Morgan offices. A large force of policemen maintained order and the crowd soon dispersed. . . .

LINE BREAKS, BOAT ADRIFT FOR TIME

Herndon, Former Naval Vessel, in Collision While Patrolling Area for Liquor Runners.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Smashed by a coal freighter as it was slipping through fog on the lookout for liquor runners, the coast guard destroyer Rerndon, with 82 men and six officers, was being towed to New London, Conn., today after a period of floundering helpless and unseen 60 miles off New London, Conn.

With a hole in her fire room, the destroyer, a former navy craft, was being towed by the Lemuel Burrows, Boston-to-Norfolk freighter which had hit it, when something happened to the tow line and the two vessels were separated in a thick fog. Later the Mackay Radio Corporation received a message declaring the Burrows had succeeded in getting a line aboard the Herndon again and was making for port.

No lives were lost, a message to the owners of the Lemuel Burrows said.

The collision occurred 55 miles south, southwest of Montauk.

The steamship Yorba Linda wirelessed that she was about 10 miles away and would go to the rescue.

The Government boat, a light, rakish craft 310 feet long, sent out the first call for aid. The call came about 12:40 p. m. Several Coast Guard and other craft were ordered to the scene.

First messages from the Lemuel Burrows said she was lowering boats, and although the succeeding flashes from the Burrows were not explicit, it was thought some of the crew of the destroyer might have been tossed into the sea by the crash.

The Herndon is in charge of Commander C. G. Roemer, with Lieut. A. C. Richmond as executive officer. Other officers are Lieut. (Junior grade) S. F. Gray, Lieut. (Junior grade) H. A. Loughlin, Lieut. K. K. Cowart and Ensign H. T. Diehl.

The Herndon is a former Navy destroyer which was turned over to the Coast Guard following the World War.

The freighter, a 7610-ton steamer owned by the Mystic Steamship Co. of Boston, is a coast wise vessel. She was on the way from Boston to Norfolk. She carries a crew of 35.

FIRST SNOW IN LOS ANGELES IN 54 YEARS; MERCURY AT 34

Motor Trucks Were Forced to Move Slowly; Newspapers Get Out Extra Editions.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 15.—There was a general snowfall in Southern California today, but most of the snow melted away before noon. So thick was the fall in the business area here motorists were forced to drive slowly. Tops of automobiles were covered with more than an inch of snow. The storm caused storm signals to be hoisted at all Southern California ports.

Most of the snow had disappeared in Los Angeles by 9 a. m., as the skies cleared and the sun came out.

Children, many of whom never had seen snow, frolicked in their yards, and parents got out of bed at early hours to take pictures. The fall, in some places, was two inches deep, but in most sections of Los Angeles it only covered the ground. So phenomenal was the fall that newspapers printed extra editions.

The Weather Bureau said it was the first snow in Los Angeles in the history of the bureau, which was established 54 years ago. The fall was measured at two inches and the temperature dropped as low as 34.

FLETCHER SEEKING POST AS ENVOY TO BRITAIN

Asks All Republican Congressmen From Pennsylvania to Support Him.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Pennsylvania Congressional delegation was asked today by Henry P. Fletcher, former chairman of the Tariff Commission, to support him for appointment as Ambassador to Great Britain.

Fletcher, who has had long experience in diplomatic work at several Latin-American posts, made the request in a telegram sent to all Republican members from his home State. He has been frequently mentioned for the British post since the recent announcement by Ambassador Dawes that he would resign. Fletcher pointed out Pennsylvania had not had the post since before the Civil War.

A majority of the Pennsylvania delegation have said they would support Fletcher for the appointment unless Senator Reed of Pennsylvania should be a candidate. Reed said today he was not a candidate and had asked the President to name Fletcher.

RAILROAD AND UNION HEADS OPEN WAGE SCALE SESSIONS

Meeting Was Delayed Until Executives Received Proper Authority From Certain Lines.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Nine railway presidents and the 21 heads of the American Railway brotherhoods and unions met around a conference table promptly at 2 p. m. today to seek an agreeable program of wages and unemployment relief.

The meeting had been delayed since yesterday morning until the railway executives received proper authority from certain lines.

Sitting apart from the council table were 192 delegates, representing the railroad employes.

The railroads have asked labor to accept a voluntary 10 per cent wage cut. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, is chairman of the committee of nine.

The employes have agreed to counter with a demand for assurances of sustained employment for a definite period and preliminary steps toward a six-hour day. David B. Robertson of Cleveland is to present their case.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 15.—Twenty-four hours of prayer for unemployment relief and a religious revival ended today in the Christ Reformed Church of Homewood, a suburb.

A telegram was sent to President Hoover asking him to call for similar services in churches throughout the country. It was signed by 12 clergymen. The prayers began at 9 a. m. yesterday. Twenty-two women and three men prayed throughout last night, approximately 180 persons were present at midnight.

NOT INTERESTED IN SHOALS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid Co., is not interested in leasing Muscle Shoals, he said today after meeting with the House Military Committee in a secret session lasting nearly two hours.

"Present business conditions are such," he said, "that it would be difficult to obtain a bid for Muscle Shoals from any responsible company."

CONFERENCE NEXT STEP IN ENACTING CREDIT MEASURE

Two-Billion-Dollar Federal Project Amended in Both Senate and Lower Branch to Extend Aid to Farmers.

EXPECTED TO GO TO PRESIDENT SOON

Early Organization for Making Loans to Railroads, Life Insurance Companies and Other Businesses Planned.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The $2,000,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation proposal was approved today by the House.

Attempts by farm members to have $50,000,000 set aside for loans to farmers failed. The fund would have been administered by the Agriculture Department for seed and fertilizer loans direct to farmers.

While these failed, a similar provision already is in the Senate bill, and the House has adopted an amendment to provide $200,000,000 for loans through intermediate credit banks and farm organizations.

In rapid succession, the House rejected proposals to place a $100,000,000 limit on loans to any one concern and to prohibit the corporation from assisting in any business mergers or consolidations.

As the bill stands, loans are limited to 10 per cent of the capital stock of the borrowing concern.

An amendment by Representative Chavez (Dem.), New Mexico, to make funds available for loans to irrigation and drainage districts was ruled out of order.

A short interlude is ahead before the corporation actually organizes for business, as the Senate passed the bill in somewhat different form from that in which it is expected to go through the House. But smoothing over of these differences in conference, redrafting of the bill in a manner satisfactory to both branches of Congress and to President Hoover, is expected to be no great matter, despite numerous controversial points involved.

There will be no time lost by the President in naming the directors, whose approval by the Senate also is expected to consume little time. The Treasury will turn over $500,000,000 of working capital and the organization will be ready to expand its resources to $2,000,000,000, making loans to railroads, financial institutions, life insurance companies and other vital businesses which now possess too little cash through a freezing of the values behind them.

At a morning conference today, Representative Snell of New York told the President that opponents of the measure appeared to have "talked themselves out." The President expressed no objections to the bill as it stands before the House.

The spot where the robbery occurred is about nine block from the Capitol. The reports to police said the robbers herded five employes and three customers into a rear room.

MELLON ANSWERS ALL CHARGES WITH COMPLETE DENIAL

Representative of Treasury Secretary Appears at House Committee's Impeachment Hearing.

SAYS CHIEF OWNS NO CORPORATIONS

Declares He Had No Conversations With President Olaya of Colombia on Oil Concession.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, by his representative, Alexander W. Gregg, denied to the House Judiciary Committee today every impeachment charge made against him by Representative Patman (Dem.), Texas.

Taking the stand for the first time after two days of testimony by Patman, Gregg said he would answer one by one the charges in the impeachment resolution.

He began with Mellon's business connections, after saying he had no information as to whether Mellon owned stock in 300 corporations with resources of $3,000,000,000.

"Mr. Mellon controls no corporation," Gregg said. "What his family and business associates control I don't know. Mr. Mellon does not own more than 50 per cent of the stock of any corporation.

"I do not regard his family as an issue."

Patman charged that Mellon had engaged in private business while in office in violation of the law.

Statement on Oil Concession.

Regarding the Barco oil concession in Colombia, Gregg read a statement he said was dictated yesterday by Mellon. This statement said:

"Mr. Mellon says that he met President Olaya at one of the usual social functions and of course conversed with him, but such conversation was general and respecting financial and other conditions in Colombia.

"Mr. Mellon had no conversations with President Olaya that had to do with the so-called Barco concession nor the Gulf Oil Corporation, nor with any suggestion whatever, alleged or implied, as to any support or assistance upon the part of this Government with respect to Colombia obtaining credit.

"Mr. Mellon has never had any conversations with officials of our State Department concerning the Colombian loan nor has he had any conversations with bankers with respect to this loan."

Patman charged yesterday that Mellon had a hand in influencing a loan to Colombia, made about the time the oil concession was given to the Gulf Corporation, a company controlled by Mellon interests.

"Mr. Mellon does not own personally any sea vessel," Gregg continued. "He is not personally interested in any imports. Some of the corporations in which he is a stockholder may be; I don't know."

Gregg, former Solicitor of the Internal Revenue Bureau, paused to assure the committee:

"I have investigated every fact I present and am prepared to prove every statement."

Methods of Tax Refunds.

Taking up the charge that Mellon had made large tax refunds to himself and companies in which he is interested, Gregg drew on his own Government experience to outline tax case procedure.

He emphasized that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is appointed by the President with the approval of the Senate and "is not an employe of Mr. Mellon."

Gregg said a tax refund never is made until approved by the joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation and that "never has a refund been made over the protests of this committee."

"I was in the Treasury from 1921 to 1927," he stated, "and I never knew the Secretary to consider a specific refund case."

"Mr. Mellon told me he had never heard of 'the Federal Architect,'" Gregg added.

Patman said Mellon, through this publication, had increased the use of aluminum in public buildings.

"Mr. Mellon personally owns no bank stock," Gregg said. "He sold it all before he took office.

"I checked up to see if he sold it to a corporation in which he is interested; he did not.

"I checked up to see if there were any strings on it; there were not.

"Mr. Mellon owns about 15 per cent of the stock of the Aluminum Co. That company owns 100 shares in a bank at East St. Louis. This is Mr. Mellon's only connection with any bank stock."

Referring to the charge Mellon engaged in the liquor business, Gregg said: "The Overholt Co. went out of business three years before prohibition. When Mr. Mellon took office he created an irrevocable trust with the trustee having the sole power to dispose of the liquor interest. It was liquidated in 1926."

Asked later if he meant Mellon was never consulted about the Barco concession, Gregg answered:

"I was careful not to say that; I don't know. He never suggested that the Gulf Oil Co. confer with representative sof the Colombia Government to arrange the concession.

"The Gulf Oil Co. owns 75 per cent of this concession which was reinstated last spring by the Colombian Congress. It was a compromise settlement."

Gregg then discussed the legal aspects of the impeachment charge, contending Mellon's stock ownership did not violate the statute forbidding Secretaries of the Treasury from engaging in trade and commerce.

He reviewed the Senate investigation made in 1929 called for by a resolution introduced by Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee.

Gregg named several of Mellon's predecessors and said they had stockholdings. Included were William G. McAdoo and Senator Glass of Virginia, Secretary of the Treasury during the Wilson administration.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the history and the uniform construction has been that ownership of stock is not in itself sufficient to disqualify a man under the statute under consideration."

COLLECTOR ENJOINED FROM PAYING OUT SEWER TAX MONEY

Prosecuting Attorney's Petition Similar to Previous Ones Filed in County.

Temporary restraining orders were issued at Clayton today by Circuit Judges McElhinney and Mueller prohibiting County Collector Benson from paying $69,465 in preliminary sewer tax collections to supervisors of Central, St. Ferdinand, Overland, Wellston, and Lemay Ferry sewer districts pending a hearing on an order to show cause Jan. 23.

Benson was scheduled to turn the money over today, with an additional $27,247 for the Webster Groves district, where there is already a Supreme Court order for payment of the tax.

Castlen's petitions are similar to previous ones filed by taxpayers against the five districts asking injunctions against collection or use of sewer tax money. They charge unnecessary expenditures and excessive tax assessments by district supervisors.

The litigation has grown out of assessment of $1,032,697 to pay expenses incurred by the six districts before and after the Ralph sewer law was repealed last spring. Terms of the repeal provided for assessment of taxes on an area basis to pay for preliminary expenses. No sewers were built under the law.

DETROIT COUNCIL CUTS ITS PAY

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 15.—Members of the City Council today voted to accept a salary reduction of $600 a year each in accordance with a schedule of pay cuts for city employes contained in an ordinance recently passed by that body.

The action came after City Comptroller G. Hall Roosevelt held up $22,504 in salary checks for the Council, the Recorder's Court Judges and several other departments. He explained he believed the constitutional officers should accept a salary reduction the same as other employes of the city. The Council's salary reduction ordinance provided for a 10 per cent reduction in salaries below $4000 a year and an additional 10 per cent for salaries above that level.

WINDOW-BREAKING BURGLAR SLAIN BY POLICE IN CHASE

James Jameson, 31-Year-Old Negro, Pursued by 3 Officers After He Tries to Rob Store.

The crash of breaking window glass and the clangor of a burglar alarm gong at Jefferson avenue and Olive street early today drew three policemen into a pursuit of a Negro burglar in which the marauder was shot and killed.

Patrolmen Robert Secrest and Emil Labitske were just east of Jefferson avenue on Olive street at 12:15 a. m. when they heard the commotion as the burglar smashed the window in the Barney L. Don Clothing Co. store at 213 North Jefferson avenue, just south of Olive street.

They rounded the corner on the run just in time to see a man run west in an alley. The policemen followed him closely, first shouting for him to halt, and then firing at him as they observed that he was carrying something in his right hand.

Trapped by Third Officer.

The burglar swung out of the alley north toward Olive street at the rear of No. 2620, but reversed his course and headed south again when his escape was cut off by Patrolman Joseph Strauss, who had been west of Jefferson on Olive when he heard the shots of the other policemen.

In a yard in rear of 2647 Pine street the pursuers got close enough for Labitske to fire one more shot. The Negro threw up his hands, turned around slowly and sat down beside an ashpit, trying to hide beneath him six pairs of silk stockings subsequently identified as having been stolen from the Don store.

At City Hospital No. 2 he identified himself as James Jameson, 31 years old, 2239 (rear) Walnut street. He died an hour later, from the effect of an abdominal bullet wound, after admitting he had smashed the window in the Jefferson avenue store. The police are trying to find the owner of a new knife and watch found in his pockets.

Paroled Convict, Alleged Prowler, Shot by Police.

A man who said he was John Freiner, paroled convict, was shot in the right leg at 12:10 a. m. today by Patrolman John Engler, who had come upon him in an alley in rear of 3865 McRee avenue.

Engler and Patrolman John Finan, in a scout car, had been ordered to the neighborhood by radio on a report there was a prowler there. Engler, driving the car while Finan patrolled the vicinity on foot, jumped from the machine and ordered Freiner to hold up his hands when he met him in the alley.

He reported he fired when Freiner turned and ran. The paroled convict declined to account for his presence in the alley at that hour according to the police, who reported they found a screwdriver and putty knife in his pockets, and a billy in his car parked nearby.

The wounded man, who gave his address as 2113 South Fourth street, told police he had served three years of a 10-year sentence in Chester, Ill., prison for robbery, and had been on parole for a year.

CARPENTER KILLS HIMSELF

William Simon, 22 years old, a carpenter, shot and killed himself at his home, 8207 Idaho avenue, yesterday afternoon.

His mother, Mrs. Mary Simon, heard the report of the shot and found the body with a bullet wound in the head, lying on the floor. A revolver was on a dresser nearby.

Police expressed the opinion that Simon stood before a mirror, and the revolver fell from his hand to the dresser.

CITY BOARD APPROVES FUND TO PAY EXPLOSIVE CLAIMS

One Person Killed, 13 Hurt When Attempt Was Made to Dynamite Chimney.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment today approved an appropriation of $50,000 from Water Department funds to pay claims resulting from the death of a man and the injury of 13 other persons on Oct. 3, 1930, when dynamite was discharged at the old Bissell's Point waterworks, at the foot of East Grand avenue, in an attempt to raze an abandoned 135-foot chimney. Settlement in full has been completed through negotiations, and judgments will be entered in Circuit Court.

The explosion, instead of wrecking the chimney, blew a large hole near the base, throwing brick and debris into a crowd of several hundred spectators. Robert Harmon, 53 years old, city photographer, was killed. An inquest verdict of accident was returned.

FIVE PERSONS IN CROSSING STREETS STRUCK BY AUTOS

R. L. Williams, Contractor, Suffers Fractured Skull; 7-Year-Old Child Hurt.

Richard L. Williams, a contractor, 4227 Lee avenue, and Daniel J. Collins, a clerk, 1922 Laflin street, were injured when struck by an automobile while attempting to cross Kingshighway at Clayton avenue early today. At Barnes Hospital it was found that Williams has a fractured skull. Collins was treated for lacerations and taken home.

Katherine Bostwick, 7 years old, suffered a fractured leg when hit by an automobile while running across the street in front of her home, 2527 Chester street, at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Joseph Heutter, an upholsterer, 4240 California avenue, suffered concussion of the brain when struck while crossing California avenue near his home by an automobile driven by Dr. Robert Fitzgerald of Mount St. Rose Sanatorium.

Mrs. Theresa Fix, a widow, 4341 College avenue, suffered concussion of the brain and lacerations when struck by an automobile in front of 3910 West Florissant avenue.

URGES 4 GRADE SEPARATIONS ON WIDENED NATURAL BRIDGE

Committee of Progress Council, Business Men's Group, Appears Before City Board.

A committee of the Progress Council, an organization of downtown business men, today urged he Board of Estimate and Apportionment to approve plans for underpasses at four intersections on Natural Bridge avenue, when that street is widened next summer.

The committee, headed by Charles E. Williams, argued that traffic would be speeded and safety increased by grade separations at Goodfellow boulevard, Union boulevard, Kingshighway and Grand boulevard. Plans for the underpasses have been developed by W. W. Horner, chief engineer for the Streets and Sewers Department.

The board expressed a friendly attitude toward the suggestion if money for the improvements were available and agreed to confer with Horner on cost.

KILLED GIVING FLOOD WARNING

Man Caught in Rush of Water in Nova Scotia.

By the Associated Press.

GREAT VILLAGE, N. S., Jan. 15.—Volunteer searchers of the wreckage left by a flood which swept six miles of countryside when a dam across Great Village River near Acadia Mines broke, shortly before midnight, today found the body of Thomas Kaulbach.

While other men of the district were rushing women and children through the darkness, to high ground, Kaulbach was seen near the home of Harry Eagles, where he was spending the winter. Friends said he was presumably on his way to the home of James Eagles, about 300 yards down the gulch, to warn him of the flood, and was caught in the swirling water. The home of James Eagles was spared.

Colombia President's Oil Loan Views

to the department, relating to the loan, was read over the telephone by White to Gerrard Winston, New York attorney and former first assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

"Will you produce that telegram for the committee?" asked Johnson. "My position is the same," White replied.

"You decline to do it?" "That's correct."

Again Johnson asked the witness to produce those portions of the messages which were not considered confidential, and again he declined. The same procedure was followed in respect to half a dozen other telegrams, with the same result.

"Acting Under Orders."

"Are you acting under orders?" asked Senator Jones (Rep.), Washington. "Yes, sir."

"Secretary Stimson's orders?" Johnson interjected. The witness hesitated, and finally said: "I did consult the Secretary, but I am willing to take the responsibility."

"I don't care who takes it," snapped Johnson. "I want to know whose decision it is?" "All right; I'll say it is mine," White replied.

"Aren't you pursuing the policy that has been followed for 25 years?" Chairman Smoot interposed, comfortingly. "Yes, indeed, sir," White responded.

"Do you mean to say that for 25 years it has been the Department's policy to transmit the contents of diplomatic messages to international bankers, while denying them to the Senate and the American public?" Johnson demanded.

"But, Senator," Smoot protested, "you can go down to the Department and read them."

"After giving my pledge not to mention the contents to a living soul," Johnson thundered. "I want to tell you, sir, that the Secretary of State or no other man is going to tie my tongue on a matter that affects the public interest."

"I'm in favor of having a showdown on this matter," declared Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi. "I think these messages should be produced here, and I'm ready to take a vote on it." The agitated Smoot said he would call for a quorum later in the day.

Knew Money Was for Arms.

Turning to another phase, Johnson elicited from White that the department knew, when it approved a $23,000,000 loan to Bolivia by Dillon, Read & Co., in 1927, that $5,000,000 of the proceeds would be paid to Vickers, Ltd., of London, for arms already delivered. The bonds, most of which were sold to American investors, are now in default, and quoted at about seven cents on the dollar.

White insisted that the Department passes only on the "political aspects" of foreign loans, and "not as business propositions." He did not then explain why the Department passes only on loans on which bonds are to be sold.

Johnson asked what American interests have large concessions in Latin-America. The witness mentioned nitrate and copper concessions held in Chile and Peru by the Guggenheim interests.

White said Caffrey did instruct him that the Colombian Congress was reluctant to confirm the oil concession. Asked if Caffrey wired that the Colombian Government was considering the concession only because it believed the State Department desired it, the witness said he didn't remember. He added that, if the department has such a telegram, he would refuse to produce it.

Johnson finally elicited from White that Caffrey sent repeated messages to Washington concerning the concession before the dispute over the loan arose.

Bolivia Grant and Loan.

Johnson asked White whethe the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey received a concession on one-third of the oil lands in Bolivia 20 days after the Bolivian Government received a large loan from the Equitable Trust Co. in 1922. White knew about the concession, but didn't know when or how it was obtained.

"Do you know that the Equitable Trust was a Rockefeller bank?" He didn't. The State Department consented to the loan. The bonds are in default.

"Did the State Department know that the Commerce Department advised of the unwisdom of the Bolivian loans?" "We did."

"Why did you consent to them?" "We only pass on the political aspect of the loans."

"Do you mean to say that, if a loan came to you which you knew was absolutely rotten, and would result in the robbery of the American people, you would consent to it?" "We have no authority to forbid people to make foreign loans."

Supervision or Hands Off.

Senator Costigan asked why, if the department is not interested in the business aspect of foreign loans, it passes only on those which eventuate in bond issues. White said he could not explain.

Replying to another question, White disclosed that, as early as September, 1930, the State Department was aware of the $415,000 "commission" paid by New York bankers to Juan Leguia, son of the President of Peru, for supposed assistance in obtaining the flotation of a $35,000,000 Peruvian issue. The department did not make its discovery public. However, White said a memorandum was sent to bankers, urging them to pay no more commissions to officials of Governments obtaining loans.

Costigan said the disclosures during this hearing showed that the Government should either exercise definite supervision over foreign loans, giving the public all the facts in its possession, or keep hands off entirely.

White agreed that, "unfortunately," the public in some instances has assumed that the department's assent to loans meant approval of the securities.

Back to the Oil Grant.

Johnson read excerpts from a message by President Olaya to the Colombian House of Representatives in June, 1931, in which Olaya urged the confirmation of the oil concession renewal without delay, on the ground that, unless it did so, the nation would not be able to obtain credit.

The Colombian President asserted that J. P. Morgan & Co. had been asked for a loan in 1929, and that two Morgan partners, Thomas Lamont and Arthur Anderson, had replied not only that their firm was unwilling to make a loan, but believed Colombia would have difficulty getting credit elsewhere in the United States until the dispute over the oil concession was ended.

It was a year after this visit that Olaya succeeded in obtaining the $20,000,000 credit from four other banking houses.

Interview With Olaya.

Johnson read an interview with President Olaya which appeared in the Bogota Tempo, after Olaya's return from the United States in 1930. He told of a dinner given in his honor by Secretary Stimson in Washington at which Secretary Mellon was present.

"We conversed extensively on the subject of conditions in Colombia," Olaya said. 'Secretary Mellon said to me, settle your pending questions on petroleum. Decide fairly and justly the difficulties that have been presented, and once you have adopted a policy which gives stability to industrial activities in this branch, there will be open for Colombia ample means for its economic progress and its financial restoration."

The bankers who made the loan and State Department officials all have insisted that the oil concession had no connection with the loan. A similar statement was made today by Secretary Mellon.

Johnson disclosed that before the Mellon-Morgan group acquired the Barco concession, it was owned by the Doherty interests. Although the Doherty people also had trouble with the Colombian Government, the State Department never intervened until it became the property of Mellon and Morgan, White admitted.

White said in his opinion the fact that final confirmation of the Barco concession was followed 40 days later by receipt of the remaining $4,000,000 was "just a coincidence."

Summary of Chief Developments in Yesterday's Testimony.

Yesterday produced the following developments:

After President Olaya of Colombia had issued a decree returning the $2,000,000,000 Barco concession to the Mellon-Morgan Oil Syndicate and while Secretary of State Stimson was unsuccessfully urging the National City group to advance $4,000,000 to the Colombian Government, Stimson ordered his subordinates to search the department files for something that might be used against the National City Co.

Representative Patman (Dem.), Texas, told the House Judiciary Committee that President Olaya stated publicly that during a dinner given in Washington by Secretary Stimson, Secretary Mellon told him that a settlement of the oil controversy would make it easier to solve Colombia's credit problems.

President Olaya, in at least two communications to the State Department, mentioned the return of the oil concession as a reason why Colombia should get the loan.

The discovery that the Mellon-Morgan oil group was represented by two former officials of the department, former Undersecretary Robert E. Olds and J. Herbert Stabler, former chief of the division of Latin American affairs, Olds representing the Morgan interest and Stabler appearing for the Mellon interest.

Refusal of Francis White, assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin-American affairs, to produce copies of telegrams from American Minister Caffrey, at Bogota, to the State Department, relating to the Mellon-Morgan concession, and his admission that he read them to the attorney for the National City Co.

Disclosures that, after the return of the concession to the Mellon-Morgan group, Secretary Stimson personally went to New York to urge the bankers to forward the $4,000,000 credit to Colombia.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR HARDIN COLLEGE

Action Brought by Members of the Faculty With Trustees Consenting.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEXICO, Mo., Jan. 15.—A voluntary receivership for Hardin College, 59-year-old junior college for girls here, has been granted in the Audrain County Circuit Court here. Members of the college faculty, with the board of trustees consenting, joining in asking for the appointment of a receiver.

The faculty members, in bringing suit, set out salary claims aggregating $25,000, including some unpaid salaries for the past school year, and the amount due under the current year's contracts running until June 3, 1932. Other unsecured claims total about $15,000.

Circuit Judge W. C. Hughes named Frank Hollingsworth of Mexico, attorney and former State Senator, as receiver.

The college, one of the oldest junior colleges west of the Mississippi River, was founded and endowed by the late Charles H. Hardin, former Governor of Missouri, in 1873.

The college is heavily in debt and several refinance programs have been undertaken the past several years. None was completed.

The Farm and Home Savings Loan Association of Nevada, Mo., holders of the mortgage indebtedness of about $275,000, was understood to be preparing to institute foreclosure proceedings at an early date, the faculty members filing suit to protect their salary claims.

The college student body totaled about 75, including boarding students and day pupils, and the income has proved insufficient to meet operating expenses and fixed charges. Slow collections added to the difficulties of the administration in meeting current obligations. The Rev. Blake Smith, 30 years old, is president of the college. The college heads said the receivership would not affect the school's educational program. The second semester will begin Jan. 26.

The Missouri Baptist General Association controls the college, and the association, in annual convention at Springfield, Mo., last October, voted approval for a $300,000 refinance bond issue program. Business conditions interfered with the sale of the issue.

A recent appraisal of the physical plant of the college placed its value at about $750,000.

HEARD STORE FIRE DISCUSSED WHEN HIDING IN AUTO

Owner of Building in Insurance Fraud Trial Tells of Alleged Admission by One Defendant.

"MYSTERY MAN" OF CASE IDENTIFIED

Aaron K. Stull, Who Was Injured in Previous Explosion, Pointed Out as Visitor to Jamerson.

Aaron K. Stull, mysterious figure in the trial of Elijah W. Jamerson and Otto F. Leman, an insurance adjuster of St. Louis, on charges of using the mails to defraud, was identified yesterday in the Federal Court at East St. Louis as the man who, accompanied by Leman, had visited Jamerson the morning after Jamerson's store at 1100 Illinois avenue, East St. Louis, was burned following an explosion.

Jamerson increased his insurance from $27,000 to $48,000 a month before the fire, it has been testified, and with Leman's aid, submitted fire loss claims amounting to $38,396 on musical instruments and automobiles, which Jamerson's bookkeeper said were valued at not more than $11,000. Correspondence relating to the insurance policies were sent by mail.

Madge Millard, an employe in Jamerson's music store at 331 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, testified that Leman and Stull came into the store and held a conversation with Jamerson, in his office.

She pointed out Stull in the courtroom. He is under subpena as a Government witness, but was not called upon to testify.

Injured in Previous Fire.

Seven months before the Jamerson fire, Stull was severely injured in an early morning explosion and fire that destroyed an East St Louis confectionery and building. He collapsed a short distance from the building after having been seen to stagger from the doorway.

He was indicted in 1929 in the Circuit Court at Belleville for malicious destruction of property and the case was removed from the docket a year later with leave to reinstate. He wears dark glass from an injury to his eyes from the explosion.

He was admitted to probation June, 1931, after Jamerson and Leman had been indicted, for term of five years on his plea guilty to theft from intersta freight shipments.

Stull's name was previous brought into the case in testimo y Lotus M. Hill, bookkeeper f Jamerson, who stated that a ma who said he was Leman cal Jamerson on the phone sayi "I've got to see you right away

Later Leman came into the st at 331 Collinsville avenue, and s to Jamerson, Hill testified, t "Stull was talking and we've got do something about it." Hill s Leman then uttered a threat sayi that "something ought to happen him if he is talking."

Owner of Building Testifies.

Fred W. Ziegenhein, owner he building at 1100 Illinois a nue, where Jamerson had branch music store and automob agency, testified he talked to merson about the amount of insurance the day after the fire "Jamerson turned white."

He said he told Jamerson a finding a pile of oil-rags in building and some unexplain large bottles and told Jamer that he thought the fire had started by someone to destroy building.

Jamerson told him then, Zie hein said, that he was not goin cancel his lease, which had years to run at $350 a month, desired that the building be paired for use as soon as poss Later, Jamerson sent him a n by mail, Ziegenhein stated, eling the lease, citing a c that a fire terminated the a ment, if the building was made tenable.

Ziegenhein related that he secreted himself in an autom in the display room of Julius fart's automobile agency in St. Louis and heard Seifart a Leman of knowing all about fire.

Ziegenhein quoted Leman a plying, "Well, I told him (Ja son) to get all the insurance and I would take care of the He corroborated Seifart's testi in which Seifart described a tempt by Leman and himsel put the squeeze on Jamers connection with the lease, by ting Jamerson to pay $35 terminate it, of which L would get $1000 and Seifart for Ziegenhein.

Hill said Leman then uttered a threat saying that "something ought to happen to him if he is talking."

Owner of Building Testifies.

Fred W. Ziegenhein, owner of the building at 1100 Illinois avenue, where Jamerson had his branch music store and automobile agency, testified he talked to Jamerson about the amount of his insurance the day after the fire and "Jamerson turned white."

He said he told Jamerson about finding a pile of oil-rags in the building and some unexplainable large bottles and told Jamerson that he thought the fire had been started by someone to destroy the building.

Jamerson told him then, Ziegenhein said, that he was not going to cancel his lease, which had four years to run at $350 a month, but desired that the building be repaired for use as soon as possible. Later, Jamerson sent him a notice by mail, Ziegenhein stated, canceling the lease, citing a clause that a fire terminated the agreement if the building was made untenable.

Ziegenhein related that he had secreted himself in an automobile in the display room of Julius Seifart's automobile agency in East St. Louis and heard Seifart accuse Leman of knowing all about the fire.

Ziegenhein quoted Leman as replying, "Well, I told him (Jamerson) to get all the insurance out and I would take care of the fire." He corroborated Seifart's testimony in which Seifart described an attempt by Leman and himself "to put the squeeze on Jamerson" in connection with the lease, by getting Jamerson to pay $3500 to terminate it, of which Leman would get $1000 and Seifart $2500 for Ziegenhein.

Prosecutor Knew of "Squeeze."

In further explanation of the "squeeze," Ziegenhein said that former District Attorney Harold Baker, who was in office at the time, knew of the attempt, which was made to get information for the Government, and that if the money had been secured it would have been turned over to Baker at once. He said that Baker wanted to find out Leman's part in the alleged fraud.

The stock book of Jamerson's company was identified by Hill, Jamerson's former bookkeeper, as one of the records he had falsified to make the amount of stock compare with Jamerson's proof of fire loss.

On cross-examination Hill admitted he said to Jamerson when he left his employment a year after the fire, "I took enough of your money to get away on." He stood on his constitutional rights and refused to answer for fear of incriminating himself, he told Judge Wham, when Patrick H. Cullen, defense attorney, asked him, "Didn't you take $1600 of Jamerson's money while you were employed by him?"

For the same reason he refused to explain a check drawn on the Jamerson company's petty cash account, which had been raised from $40 to $540.

The Government concluded its case yesterday and defense testimony was heard today.

Yacht Built to Sail or Cruise Under Electric Auxiliary Power

VIEW of a new private yacht built at the Friedrich Krupp Works in Kiel, Germany for an American yachting enthusiast. This four-masted bark, with a sail spread of 5000 square yards, has an auxiliary Diesel propeller engine in its hull, which is the largest ever built into a sea-going yacht. The power is supplied by four generators, each of which is coupled with an 800 horsepower oil motor. If the sails, also worked by electricity, are used to drive the boat, it is then possible through an ingenious arrangement to reduce the resistance by letting the propellers run, automatically adjusted to the speed of the ship.

ROY TIPTON TO BE RELEASED AND RE-ARRESTED TOMORROW

Will Be Taken Back to Leavenworth When He Completes Term at Missouri Prison.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 15.—Roy Tipton, former Egan gangster, will be released from the penitentiary here tomorrow morning, having served a two-year term, with time off for good behavior, but that will not mean he may go at liberty.

A Deputy United States Marshal will be waiting for him at the gate and he will be taken back to Leavenworth penitentiary to resume serving a 15-year mail robbery term of which he had served five years when he obtained a parole.

After he had begun to serve his term at Jefferson City, it developed that through the offices of State Senator Mike Kinney of St. Louis, the late Marshal Hina C. Schult of the Missouri Supreme Court had withdrawn from the Leavenworth files a "hold" order previously filed there for Tipton.

With this evidence of a pending sentence removed, Tipton's parole from the Federal prison was approved. It was revoked when the deception became known and he was ordered returned to Leavenworth. Later a hearing will be held to determine whether he should forfeit his "good time" allowance, which is five-twelfths of the original sentence of 15 years.

PHILIP C. SCANLAN LEAVES ESTATE WORTH $150,000

Benevolences Receive $8000, Five Relatives Share the Rest of the Property.

The will of Philip C. Scanlan, 4450 Lindell boulevard, former Park Commissioner, disposing of an estate of an estimated value of $150,000, was filed in Probate Court today.

He bequeathed $6000 to Archbishop Glennon to establish a burse in Kenrick Seminary and left a total of $2000 in other benevolent bequests. He also provided that $100 shall be paid to Annie Brennan for each year she has been in his employ since July, 1916, provided she was working for him at the time of his death.

The residue of the estate is left in trust of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., which is instructed to distribute the income into three parts. One part goes to Mrs. George S. Tiffany, a sister; another to Andre C. Scanlan, brother, and the remaining part is to be equally divided among the children of the late Alonzo C. Church, a half-brother. They are Alonzo C. Church, Miss Louise Chouteau Church and Mrs. James Lee Johnson.

The will was made four years ago. Mr. Scanlan died Wednesday and his funeral will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at St. Louis Cathedral, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

SOLDIER WOUNDS WOMAN, ENDS LIFE

Gunplay Follows Long Talk by Two in East St. Louis Rooming House.

A man identified by police as Alex Rebel, 36 years old, a soldier stationed at Jefferson Barracks, shot and killed himself shortly after noon today in a rooming house at 622A Ohio avenue, East St. Louis, after wounding a woman who gave her name as Lucile Morris. She lived at the place.

The woman, who was shot in the right chest and right arm, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. She was unable to give police any details of the shooting except to say that Rebel had gone to the rooming house this morning and "had a talk" with her that lasted several hours, at the conclusion of which he told her, "I love you, sweetheart," drew a pistol and started firing.

On being wounded, the woman ran from the room screaming and called for help. Rebel remained behind and shot himself in the head, dying instantly. A .32-caliber automatic pistol was found beside him.

Persons living in the building, the first floor of which is occupied by a confectionery, told police the soldier and the woman had been together at the rooming house at various times since last June. He was in uniform today.

A card issued by a loan company to Alex Rebel was found in his pockets. Records show that Rebel, a private in the Sixth Infantry, formerly lived at Batavia, Ill.

RESPIRATOR CARRIED BY PLANE REACHES PATIENT AT TUCSON

By the Associated Press.

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 15.—Grounded by bad weather several times on a flight from New York, the airplane bringing an oxygen breathing chamber for treatment of Miss Alice Hilliard, pneumonia sufferer, landed here at 10:10 o'clock last night.

The two pilots, Stuart Reiss and Robert Pickup, immediately delivered their cargo to the hospital where Miss Hilliard, a step-daughter of Robert Bingham, Louisville (Ky.) newspaper publisher, is a patient. Physicians said use of the device would be unnecessary as Miss Hilliard had shown considerable improvement since it was ordered.

OLD 'SHUFFLE' CASE FOUND AGAINST ALLEGED KIDNAPER

Charles Heuer, Held in Berg Abduction, Arraigned on Burglar Tools Charge Made in 1925.

Another of the numerous "court shuffle" cases discovered after Howard Sidener was replaced as Circuit Attorney by Franklin Miller came to light today when Charles Heuer, held in City Jail as an alleged kidnaper, was arraigned on a charge of possession of burglars' tools, dating back to June, 1925.

The old charge against Heuer, a former convict, was discovered by Circuit Attorney Miller's staff in going over court records in search of "shuffle" cases. Taken from City Jail and arraigned before Circuit Judge Pearcy on the six-year-old charge, Heuer pleaded not guilty. He is held without bond on an indictment charging complicity in the kidnaping of Alexander Berg, wealthy fur dealer, on Nov. 6, last.

The record in the Heuer case does not show how he managed to escape trial, nor does it contain a bond on which normally he would have been released. He was arrested in April, 1925, by Police Inspector Walton, then a lieutenant, and Patrolman Kincer.

Two others, Thomas Brennan and John Walker, were arrested with him. In their possession, the police reported, they had a loaded pistol, a sledge, punch, chisel and other tools. They were arraigned before the late Judge Gayer of Court of Criminal Correction, in June of the same year, and in November, the case against Brennan was nolle prossed.

How the prosecution of Walker and Heuer came to an end in a blind alley is as yet unexplained. The Sheriff's return on the warrants show they were committed to jail, but nothing in the record shows how they got out.

When Heuer was arraigned today he was asked how he wished to plead and answered "Not guilty."

"Have you a lawyer?" the Court asked.

"Yes," Heuer replied, "Sidener and Lacy," meaning former Circuit Attorney Sidener, who originally had charge of the prosecution of the same case, and Verne Lacy, a former Assistant Circuit Attorney.

Heuer declined to throw any light on the matter when questioned by reporters after being returned to jail. He refused to discuss the case beyond remarking, "I think there was insufficient evidence all around."

Change of Venue for Lawyer Held in Berg Kidnaping.

A change of venue was granted today by Circuit Judge Ossing to Paul A. Richards, attorney and self-declared agent of the kidnapers of Alexander Berg. On motion of Richards' counsel, Verne Lacy, who made the customary charge that the Court was prejudiced against his client, Judge Ossing transferred the case to Judge Pearcy's division.

Trial of the six defendants in the case, on charges of kidnaping for ransom, a capital offense, is set for Monday. Circuit Attorney Miller announced the State would be ready in all the cases, which are to be tried separately.

UNEMPLOYED PUT TO WORK ON STREETS IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Community Fund Provides Jobs for 80 Men in Cleanup Campaign.

The Community Fund in East St. Louis yesterday gave picks and shovels to 80 men, half of them white, and put them to work cleaning streets and vacant lots near the downtown section of the city. The men work four hours each day.

More than twice as many men as required replied to the call for work. Albert P. Lauman, City Health Commissioner, is co-operating with the Community Fund officials by supplying city trucks and employes to haul the rubbish.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY TRAINS

Thomas Lawrence, 40, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bassler, 68, Fatally Hurt in Separate Accidents.

A man and a woman were killed when struck by Missouri Pacific trains in separate accidents.

Thomas Lawrence, 40 years old, an electrician, 3522 Greenwood boulevard, Maplewood, was killed at 12:30 a. m. today when he was run down by a mail train while crossing the tracks near Bleeck avenue. He was not at the regular crossing, police report. Papers in Lawrence's pockets led to the identification of the body at the morgue by relatives. The engineer, James E. Hayes, 7015 Stanley avenue, and other members of the train crew were ordered to appear at an inquest.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bassler, 68-year-old widow, 2407 South Ninth street, was injured fatally at 4:45 p. m. yesterday when struck by a switch engine drawing a string of freight cars at the crossing at 4300 Gravois avenue. A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today.

The crossing gates extend only over the street, the sidewalk being open. Gustave Olsen, the watchman, reported that Mrs. Bassler approached the tracks with her head down, apparently unaware of the engine, which was running slowly. Olsen said he was ringing the bell on the crossing shed, and shouted to Mrs. Bassler, but she failed to heed the warning and stepped onto the tracks. The wheels of the engine passed over her legs. The body was taken to the morgue.

John L. Woods, 423 Fillmore street, the engineer, said he applied the brakes when he saw that Mrs. Bassler had failed to notice the approach of the engine, but was unable to stop before striking her.

Mrs. Bassler was employed at the National Candy Co., 4230 Gravois avenue, and was on her way to board a street car when killed.

MEAT CUTTER HANGS SELF

The body of Alfred Dugal, 45 years old, a meat cutter, 718 North Taylor avenue, was found hanging in a shed in the rear of 3414 North Euclid avenue yesterday afternoon.

Dugal apparently had stepped from a chair after putting a noose around his neck and tying the rope to a rafter. Relatives said he had been ill.

35,000 Women Seek Jobs, Bureau Places Only 2200

Welfare Association Finds Former Office Workers Willing to Become Domestics —Plight of Older Persons.

Free employment bureaus for women conducted for 14 months by the Joint Council of Women's Auxiliaries Welfare Association have received about 35,000 applications, but have been able to find only about 2200 jobs, Mrs. Mary E. Ryder, president of the association, said today.

Registrations are divided about evenly between the bureau at 4360 Washington boulevard and one for Negro women at 3533 Lawton boulevard, but 70 per cent of the jobs have been obtained by whites, Mrs. Ryder said.

The bureaus are in shelters started and operated by the association, but financed by the Citizens' Unemployment Committee. No data is available to indicate whether registrations at the two bureaus are duplicated at other employment agencies.

Most of the applicants for work at the Washington boulevard agency, Mrs. Ryder said, are former office workers and even professional women forced by circumstances to seek jobs as domestics. The surplus of domestic help, augmented by this type of worker, she said, has handicapped Negro cooks, maids and other servants in finding work.

"Suffer in Obscurity."

"Much has been said about unemployed men," Mrs. Ryder said, "but the tragic plight of the unemployed women is not so well known. Women may not congregate on street corners or make their condition known by standing in bread lines. Many even shrink from waiting in mixed lines for jobs. The great majority suffer in obscurity.

"The machine age in industry has displaced almost as many women as men. Even 11 years ago 42 per cent of industrial workers were women. In professional activities the woman who is more than 35 years old has a better chance of holding her own because she has demonstrated her value. But thousands of young women have lost out and among office workers the older women have been the first to go."

Mrs. Ryder said that observation at the Washington boulevard bureau indicates that hundreds of unemployed women have used up their savings during vain months of attempting to find work and come now to the bureau, desperate for a chance to do anything to make a living.

Women have been breadwinners as well as homemakers in many cases, she said, while others have been helped by relatives until assistance can be given no longer.

Plight of Older Women.

Women from 40 to 60 years old who have lost positions in offices after years of service present a major problem at the bureau. Some of them have weakened mentally under the strain of anxiety and the increasing realization that there is scant chance of finding work. Years of training have gone for nothing. Some of them have lost their savings. Others have depleted their funds supporting dependents. Insurance policies have lapsed. Friends of other days are gone.

Mrs. Ryder pointed out that the effects of malnutrition among the children of some of those who are seeking work may result in poor physical condition when they grow up, affecting future generations.

Another problem at the bureau is the difficulty of making prospective employers who live at a distance understand that women are sometimes unable to visit them for interviews because they cannot afford the necessary car fare. It was explained to a St. Louis County woman who today called the bureal, at FRanklin 6612, that no women had been to see her because they did not have the 40 cents required for transportation. It was suggested that she visit the bureau.

Due to the conditions which are changing stenographers to cooks and women of refinement to applicants for menial jobs, the atmosphere of the bureau does not resemble that found usually at employment agencies. Hot meals are served the applicants. Those waiting to register sit in a comfortable living room, attractively furnished, bright pictures on the walls. There is an absence of drabness, although the stories told the registration clerks smack of despair.

One woman, about 60 years old, said reluctantly as she registered today, "I had been a typist with one firm for 14 years. Last spring I was let out. It's not so easy now to scrub. I'm slow, I guess. But I must have work—any kind of work."

$265,000 DOUBTFUL IN $400,000 ESTATE

Edward T. Ustick's Notes on Texas and Louisiana Lands Deemed of Little Value.

Edward T. Ustick, chairman of the board of George D. Barnard Stationery Co., who died Nov. 6, left an estate with a face value of $400,154, as shown in an inventory filed in Probate Court today.

The amount includes Texas land, carried at $52,690; notes inventoried at $265,790, a large part of which, however, are considered of little value; $20,200 of the Barnard company stock, Government bonds amounting to $56,000; cash, $3755; chattels listed at $100 and miscellaneous items aggregating $1612.

Attorney Frank B. Coleman, executor and trustee, said Mr. Ustick made heavy loans on Texas land and Louisiana sugar plantations, taking deeds of trust as collateral security, evidenced by the notes. Much of this property, he said, has depreciated in value and in case of a forced sale the proceeds would not be sufficient to reimburse the estate.

One loan of $50,000 on Louisiana property in St. Mary Parish was made in October, 1927, by Mr. Ustick, who believed at the time, the inventory sets forth, he was getting a first deed of trust. Subsequently he discovered that a prior deed for $30,000 existed, held by the New York Life Insurance Co., so that when the property was sold at foreclosure nothing was left for his interest. A similar situation, it is shown, occurred on a $20,000 loan by him on other sugar land, his security being wiped out by the existence of a first deed for $22,000.

Another loss occurred in deposits made in an open account for his benefit with the Investors' Mortgage Co. of New Orleans. These deposits, amounting to $85,000, accumulated from payment of interest on deeds of trust, but the account is regarded as worthless because the company, according to the inventory, is insolvent.

Among the notes is one for $65,510 against Mr. Ustick's son, Edward T. Ustick Jr. This will be charged to the son's interest in the estate. Worthless stocks with a par value of approximately $60,000 also are shown, but do not go to make up the totals in the recapitulation.

Under the will the bulk of the estate is left in trust for the benefit of Edward T. Ustick Jr. and his brother, William Lee Ustick, English instructor in Goucher College, Baltimore. A separate trust of $25,000 is set up for a granddaughter, Helen C. Ustick, and another trust of $10,000 for John Ustick of Chicago, brother of testator.

HOLDS BILL LEGISLATURE DID NOT PASS IN EFFECT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 15.—Assistant Attorney-General Weatherby, in an opinion yesterday, held to be in effect an act of the last Legislature substituting for the personal property tax on stock insurance companies a tax of 2 per cent on premium collections, notwithstanding the House of Representatives had adopted a declaration that the record showing the passage of the act was erroneous and that in fact it had not passed.

It has been estimated that under the change in form of taxation the insurance companies will save approximately $100,000 a year.

The bill was the subject of a spirited legislative controversy in the closing days of the session. After it had been signed by the Governor, several members who recalled the bill had failed of passage by 40 votes, brought the subject up in the House. The record showed that the vote by which it had failed of passage had been reconsidered and that it then was passed. When the accuracy of the record was questioned the House adopted a resolution declaring the act was not passed.

Weatherby held in his opinion that he record showed the passage of the bill, and that such a record could not be expunged by the later adoption of a resolution. He said the question should have been raised at the time the bill was presented in the House for the signature of the Speaker.

TEN IN FAMILY KILLED IN TORNADO, 3 INJURED

Storm Sweeps Through Two Farming Communities in Tennessee.

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, Tenn., Jan. 15.—Ten members of a family were killed and three others injured yesterday, when a tornado swept through two farming communities, bowling over houses and barns. The dead:

P. W. Rice, 45 years old; Mrs. P. W. Rice; Opal Rice, 17; Hazel Rice, 14; Edith Rice, 9; James E. Rice, 4; Horace Rice, 10; P. W. Rice Jr., 9; a 6-month-old baby and Elsie McDaniel, 3, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rice.

Mary Ann Rice, Ila Rice and his wife, Lucille, are in a hospital at Dyersburg, Tenn.

Eight members of the family were killed almost instantly when the tornado shattered their home. The father and James E. Rice died several hours later.

Broken telephone lines prevented complete reports of the storm damage, but it is understood that 10 or 12 buildings in or near the Lex and Eaton communities were wrecked.

The dead and injured were picked up over a radius of several hundred yards among parts of the house.

P. W. Rice told nurses that he and his family tried to hold their doors shut against the wind.

"I had started to the barn," he said, "when I saw the dark cloud approaching. I ran back into the house and we decided that we would try to hold the doors against the wind.

"The next thing I remembered I was trying to pull myself from beneath a beam. I heard my wife groaning. I then lapsed into unconsciousness again and awakened in an ambulance on the way to the hospital."

CREIGHTON U. HEAD CALLS PROHIBITION 'LAWLESS LAW'

Father Mahan Says Men "Fear to Speak Out Their Mind for Truth."

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 15. — The Rev. Patrick J. Mahan, S. J., president of Creighton University, yesterday attacked prohibition in an address before the Omaha Bar Association.

"The glaring example of lawless law is the Volstead act, and a glaring example of what has no place in the fundamental law of the land is the prohibition amendment," Father Mahan said.

"The gravest consequence of this debasement of the idea of law is that we are called upon, because of our reverence for the true law, to submit to spurious counterfeits which steal our liberties," he added. "Men fear the charge of nullifiers and so fear to speak out their mind for the truth."

BROWN EXPECTED TO BE MANAGER OF HOOVER CAMPAIGN

President's Candidacy for Renomination Is Formally Announced by His Postmaster-General.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The name of Herbert Hoover has been formally put into the Republican presidential field by his Postmaster-General, Walter Brown of Ohio, in the face of threatened challenges from the party independents of the Northwest.

In a terse statement Brown said the President "will stand for renomination," and whatever is necessary to get convention delegates for him will be undertaken. Brown said no decision has been reached on the North Dakota primary of March 15 which Senators Nye and Frazier of that State, are urging Hiram Johnson of California to enter.

But Senator Johnson has given no answer and whether serious opposition to the President's renomination will be made is still uncertain.

Joseph I. France, former Republican Senator from Maryland, has announced he is seeking the nomination, but the anti-Hoover forces have been looking elsewhere for a candidate.

Brown to Manage Campaign.

Brown's announcement brought him forward as the campaign manager of the President with whom he conferred later in the day. He is expected to take over the chairmanship of the National Committee if Mr. Hoover is renominated in June. He is regarded as the spokesman of a board of political strategy among the President's intimates.

Mr. Hoover himself is expected to make his own announcement, when it becomes necessary for him to declare his intentions under the Ohio primary law.

While Brown said that delegates will be sought as the law of each State provides, he added there was no decison as to whether Mr. Hoover's name would be entered in the North Dakota primary on March 15.

Senator Nye was informed by the North Dakota Secretary of State that it had been decided that candidates must file in the North Dakota primary by Feb. 13.

Primary in California.

Among other states holding primaries is California, home State of both President Hoover and Senator Johnson. Should Johnson enter the contest there, the State is expected to become the first important political battleground of the campaign.

The name of Senator Borah has been brought back very definitely into the presidential picture, but he will say nothing whatever about his intentions.

One thing that is worrying the anti-Hoover group is the fact that delegates to the convention to be chosen by primaries number only about 300 of the 1100 total, far short of a majority even should all be won.

"The only way the President can be renominated," Brown said, "is to get delegates to the convention. There are about 20 or 30 different methods by which these delegates are selected and the President's friends will conform to these methods in the different states."

It was said at the White House yesterday that Mr. Hoover is giving little attention to personal politics at this time.

Secretary Hurley said today the Oklahoma delegation to the Republican convention in June would be "pledged to President Hoover."

The War Department head said Oklahoma does not have a primary, but selects its delegates through the convention system and he is "altogether certain that they would be Hoover delegates."

Hurley conferred with James Francis Burke, geenral counsel of the Republican National Committee, after the Cabinet meeting today. They sat in the lobby of the White House and talked.

Burke is consulting party leaders here on placing the President's name in the primaries.

District Club in Wisconsin Votes for Uninstructed Delegates.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Jan. 15.—Briefly commending the administration of President Hoover "for its efforts to maintain the stability and credit of the United States," the Sixth Congressional District Republican Club has voted to send its delegates to the national convention in Chicago uninstructed.

A resolution condemning Gov. LaFollette for "playing politics" with relief legislation and commending conservative Republican members of the Legislature for opposing the Governor's program was unanimously adopted. Another resolution urged resubmission of the eighteenth amendment.

$1,725,000 APPROPRIATION FOR CHICAGO FAIR INDORSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A bill authorizing an appropriation of $1,725,000 for a Federal building and exhibition at the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago in 1933 was approved yesterday by the House Library Committee and the Senate Commerce Committee.

Legislation was recommended to the last Congress by President Hoover but its passage in the House was blocked by Representative Blanton of Texas. Rufus C. Dawes, Chicago, president of the exposition, urged the Library Committee to approve the measure.

Congress has voted for Federal participation in the exposition.

Writer to Wed Ex-Actress.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 15.—Joseph Moncure March, writer, and Peggy Prior von Eltz, former movie actress, filed an intention to wed yesterday and said they hoped the ceremony would be performed on Feb. 4, the day March's decree of divorce becomes final. March figured prominently in a dispute between Mrs. von Eltz and her former husband, Theodore von Eltz, over the custody of the two Von Eltz children. Von Eltz objected to his former wife's having the care of the children because of her alleged romance with March. The two children were placed in joint care of their parents.

'OVER DRAFT AGE,' AL SMITH TELLS BOSTON BOOMER

His Only Comment to Suggestion at Democratic Rally That Party Should Demand That He Run.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Jan. 15.—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York says he is "over the draft age," and beyond that refuses to commit himself on the question of his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Smith smiled, but said nothing, when Daniel J. Gallagher, former United States District Attorney, jumped to a chair at the "Victory Dinner" of Massachusetts Democrats last night to caution "Al" to go slow with his plans "because the party's going to draft you."

Later Smith remarked that he was "over the draft age," and that was the only allusion he made to the subject.

He urged 2000 cheering Democrats to join in a united effort to restore their party to power by abandoning their traditional custom of finding fault with the Republican party and launching forth on a constructive program of their own.

Smith said success would come with an open declaration for resubmission of the prohibition issue to the several states, advocacy of a huge Federal bond issue for the expansion and improvement of public works and a consolidation of the forces of the party throughout the nation on an all-year working basis.

He took the Democrats to task for vacillation in "taking an extended vacation of three years" between elections. He assailed the Republican party for its "timidity on the subject of prohibition."

Smith insisted that the tariff had produced no votes. He said the Democrats ought to abandon the practice of condemning the Republican tariff measures. Instead, he said, he would substitute a clearly written party doctrine on the tariff and take it to the voters.

"Give us leadership," was the climax of his plea.

Gov. Roosevelt Calls for Fair Play in New York Address.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. — Strict adherence to the principles of fair play in the Democratic presidential campaign was the keynote sounded by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address before 3000 guests at the New York Democratic "victory banquet" at Hotel Astor last night.

He said "the President of the United States and his associates have perhaps shown incapacity to contribute leadership in the solving of a national crisis," but he declared that the Democrats "can never tolerate abuse against the person of the President of the United States." He regretted that there were those "who had forgotten their sense of fair play to the extent of making the President the subject of jests."

He declared, however, that "the battle of democracy is pointed not at the rank and file of the historic Republican party but at those who today direct its policies."

He was applauded for a suggestion that the States designate certain fields of taxation in which the Federal Government might raise its expense money and then let the State raise their tax money in the remaining fields.

When Roosevelt mounted a dais to help open the Democrats' $1,500,000 campaign fund drive, the crowd cheered him for a full minute before he began, and again when he finished.

They also cheered and thumped tables when a telegram was read from former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who was speaking in Boston.

John J. Raskob, Democratic National Chairman, sat near the Governor and smiled when the crowd cheered at every mention of his name and his work for the party.

Tammany was represented by John F. Curry, its leader.

The rally ended with talks by John W. Davis, presidential nominee of 1924, and Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, majority leader of the House, predicting "victory in 1932," with the help of the $1,500,000 fund now being sought.

SAYS TEACHER TAPED MOUTHS OF TALKATIVE BOY PUPILS

Mother of Evanston (Ill.) Student Starts Inquiry; Instructor in Denial.

By the Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 15. — A charge that adhesive tape was stuck over the mouths of second grade boy pupils in the Central Elementary School to keep them from speaking out of turn were under investigation today.

Mrs. Ralph Watts sent letters to the superintendent of the school district and others, charging the mouth of her son, Willard, 7 years old, was so taped, and referring to the use of the gag as "barbaric."

Miss Vivian Heuss, the teacher, admitted use of the tape, but denied any hardship resulted.

"Recently," she said, "I let my class decide what should be done with pupils who spoke out of turn. Their idea was that paper should be placed over their mouths. That was done. I merely attached the paper with strips of adhesive tape. The paper was not kept long."

HOUSE WETS AGREE ON PROPOSAL FOR DRY MODIFICATION

Blocs From Both Parties Approve Plan at Separate Meetings—To Hold Joint Session Later.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Republican and Democratic wet blocs of the House, in separate meetings today, agreed on identical resolutions to seek modification, rather than repeal, of the eighteenth amendment. The executive members of each group will meet this afternoon to map a course of joint action.

The draft of the proposed amendment to the Constitution as approved today specifically calls for ratification by conventions and thus eliminates the possibility of acceptance or rejection by State Legislatures.

The proposed amendment states that Congress shall have the power "to regulate or to prohibit" the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors, provided such regulation shall not be construed to abridge or deny the right of any state to authorize the manufacture, sale and transportation of such liquors. The proposal also provides that the Federal Government shall not permit the interstate shipment of liquor into dry states.

The Democratic group which worked on the proposed amendment comprises Representatives Linthicum of Maryland, O'Connor of New York, Cochran of Missouri, Sabath of Illinois and Harlan of Ohio. The Republican group consists of Representatives Beck of Pennsylvania, Stafford of Wisconsin, La Guardia and Andrews, both of New York.

Hearings on the proposed amendment will be held by a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee. If the entire Judiciary Committee refuses to report out the measure the combined wet blocs are prepared to invoke the new rule by which 145 members can call for discharge of a measure from a committee.

Later, both blocs expect to agree on a bill for modification of the Volstead act.

WILL INVESTIGATE LAW ENFORCEMENT SYSTEM IN HAWAII

Assistant Attorney-General Richardson Gets Blanket Authority for Inquiry Into Machinery.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A thorough overhaul of the law-enforcement machinery in the Hawaiian Islands may result from a study to be conducted there by Seth W. Richardson, Assistant Attorney-General.

The Justice Department investigation, requested by Senate resolution, after the Massie-Fortescue case, took definite form last night with announcement of detailed instructions from Attorney-General Mitchell to his assistant.

Richardson will leave at the earliest possible time with a staff of six or more aids; will study every angle of the local enforcement machinery with a view to possible recommendations for changes, and will go also into the operation of Federal courts there in prohibition and narcotic cases.

Has Blanket Authority.

Mitchell made it clear he was not in any way prejudicing the agencies of justice in the islands, nor intimating that reorganization was needed, but he asked Richardson to study courts, police, jury systems and parole board.

He is to ascertain whether under present administration of the organic law of the islands jurors of the best type are obtained; whether the parole system is operated on modern lines; whether the efficiency and discipline of the police are open to improvement and similar points.

At the same time he received blanket authority to "go into any phase of the matter that you deem advisable."

The Massie-Fortescue case will be gone into from the ground up, gathering information on the spot in complete disregard of already accumulated statements, so as to avoid any distortion and exaggeration.

Federal Court Inquiry.

The Federal Court part of the inquiry, unconnected with the present case, was ordered by Mitchell because, he held, efficiency of Federal statute enforcement had a vital bearing on the general crime situation.

Richardson specifically was advised to go into the rules of evidence in criminal cases, such as the law preventing conviction in assault cases solely on evidence of the complainant. Mitchell said it was not clear to him that corroboration should be required on identity of the offender, if the fact that force had been used was properly established.

Richardson probably will sail from San Francisco Jan. 29, aboard the President Lincoln, which is due in Honolulu Feb. 4.

To Recommend Death Penalty for Assaults on Women.

By the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, Jan. 15.—In efforts to curb assaults on women in Honolulu, Gov. Lawrence M. Judd expects to recommend to the forthcoming special session of the Hawaiian Legislature that the crime of rape be made punishable by death or life imprisonment.

The Governor so announced in a cable to Secretaary of Interior Wilbur in which he defended himself against congressional charges of partial responsibility for the city's crime situation.

While Judd prepared for the Legislative session Monday, defense attorneys chafed at the delay in presenting the grand jury murder charges against Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas Massie, and two enlisted men.

Prosecution Not Ready.

"The defendants are held without bond and are entitled to be informed promptly as to the nature of the charges against them," said Montgomery Winn of the Fortescue-Massie staff. "The hands of the defense are tied."

Deputy Prosecutor Griffith Wight said the case would not be presented to the grand jury until next week.

He explained the prosecution had not completed its investigation of the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, for whose death a week ago the four are accused. The Hawaiian was one of five men charged with assaulting the Lieutenant's wife.

The first panel from which jurors to try Mrs. Fortescue and her co-defendants will be selected was drawn yesterday. The 26 men included six Chinese, five Hawaiians, three Japanse, two Portuguese and 10 Anglo-Saxons.

Messages to Mrs. Fortescue.

Meanwhile defense attorneys published a partial list of persons who have sent messages of sympathy to Mrs. Fortescue. They included Corcoran Thom, Washington banker; Mrs. Edward McLean, wife of the Washington publisher; Joseph Patterson, Chicago publisher, and May Wilson Preston, New York illustrator.

Gov. Judd, in his cable to Secretary Wilbur, asserted that the person who furnished information on which the House Naval Subcommittee based its criticism of himself and other Hawaiian officials, had been "grossly misinformed."

He stated that he had granted executive clemency to Ben Ahakuelo, native amateur boxer who pleaded guilty of assault on a Chinese girl in 1929 and now is held as one of the attackers of Mrs. Thalia Massie, but said evidence pointed to extenuating circumstances in the first case.

'LYSISTRATA' IS RAIDED AGAIN

Los Angeles Police Act Despite Restraining Order.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 15.—Nance O'Neil, actress, and 58 of her co-workers had another ride to the police station early today when, for the second time within a week the modernized Greek comedy, "Lysistrata," was raided by Police Capt. D. McD. Jones, head of the antivice squad, at the close of last night's performance.

The players already awaiting trial Jan. 19 again were charged with participation in "a lewd performance." They later were released on their own recognizance. The raid was conducted despite a temporary restraining order the Superior Court issued after the first raid. The restraining order is returnable Jan. 18. "I'm tired of being a press agent for this show," said Capt. Jones.

WASHINGTON U. GROUPS PETITION FOR CUT IN ARMS

Document Sent to Hoover and Senators Is Signed by 341 of Instruction Staff and 911 Students.

"Substantial reductions" in national armaments and entrance of the United States into the World Court, are urged in petitions that have been forwarded to President Hoover and the Missouri Senators, with the signatures of faculty members and students of Washington University.

The disarmament petition was signed by 301 of the 375 members of faculties of all the university departments, by 40 part-time members of the medical faculty, and by 911 students. The World Court petition was signed by 287 full-time faculty members and 37 part-time members. The two documents read:

Disarmament: "Since the primary international significance of armaments is a relative one, each state was as secure when no state was armed as is the most heavily armed state today when all states are armed. The history of competitive armaments is little more than a trail of devastative waste and futility. To the armaments race there is no end. If one state builds, three score others must do likewise. In spite of the unsatisfied subsistence needs of more than one-half of all mankind, the outlay for armaments has increased at a vicious rate until now four or five billion dollars are used. At such a rate the prospect for the next ten years or the next century becomes utterly staggering.

Imperative Need of Peace.

"Mindful of the misery that now rules over large parts of the world, realizing the imperative need of an age of peace if mankind is to recuperate and survive, and deeply conscious that a better use can be made of the armament billions, we have attached our signatures to this petition to express our urgent hope that the delegation from the United States to the coming disarmament conference may proceed with instructions to assume a vigorous and constructive leadership in the adoption of a world program not only for the cessation of further competitive building, but also for the achievement of substantial reductions.

"On the great objectives of the conference we urge that there be no compromise. On the details and technique of the means by which the goals are to be reached, we hope the attitude of the delegation may be practical and conciliatory."

Appeal for World Court.

World Court: "Among the most obviously sound and enduring steps toward permanent peace was the establishment of the Permanent Court of International Justice. That such a court is in complete accord with the principles and ideals upon which the American system is based was first evidenced by the prominent leadership of the United States in the movement for its establishment during the two Hague conferences. The court has now functioned with promising success for 10 years, but the United States has failed to give either encouragement or support.

"In this critical transition period through which the world is now passing it is of fundamental importance that the United States resume its place among the leaders in the further development of this vital tribunal. We choose this means, consequently, of assuring you of our solid support as you resort to every means at your command to secure the prompt ratification by the Senate of the new protocol of adhesion, the terms of which protect so adequately the interests and traditional principles of the United States."

DIRECTS JURY TO UPHOLD WILL OF MRS. MICHAEL JORDAN

Judge Rules Against Granddaughter in Contest Against Testator's Daughters.

A peremptory instruction was given a jury by Circuit Judge Bader today to find a verdict sustaining the will of Mrs. Michael Jordan, formerly of 5015 Raymond avenue, who died in July, 1929.

The will was attacked by Miss Marguerite Jordan, a granddaughter. She alleged that Mrs. Jordan had been unduly influenced by three daughters.

Judge Bader said no testimony had been offered to prove undue influence, there was no evidence of unequal distribution of the property disposed of by the will.

Evidence was offered concerning a transfer by Mrs. Jordan to the daughters of International Shoe Co. stock valued at $126,000 a few days before she drew the will. It is pointed out, however, that at present this stock is not part of Mrs. Jordan's estate. The plaintiff was a daughter of the late Henry Jordan.

NORTH DAKOTA DEMOCRATS INDORSE GOV. ROOSEVELT

State Convention Asks Permission to Put Name on Primary Ballot; Petitions Out.

By the Associated Press.

VALLEY CITY, N. D., Jan. 15.—The North Dakota State Democratic convention here yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution indorsing Gov. Franklin Roosevelt of New York for President and asking permission to use his name on the ballot at the State primary March 15.

Circulation of Roosevelt petitions has begun although Roosevelt has yet to reply to the resolution. The petitions must be filed by Feb. 13.

Here's Quick Way To Break Up a Cold
Makes you feel like a new person almost before you know it

Take two tablets now.

Better almost before you know it.
THE thing to do with a cold is to break it up in a hurry—with something you know does the job; not to trifle with a lot of trick ideas and remedies. Colds are too dangerous to experiment with.
Get a box of Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.
Soon that miserable, aching feeling begins to go. The cold breaks up. The poisons are moved from your system. The world looks like an altogether different place.
Those results come because Hill's goes back to first principles by going to the seat of the trouble. It's not a newfangled fancy idea but a tried and proved way that's made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy.
Hill's costs only a few cents. Use it for quick relief after everything else you've tried has failed.

5000 ARE HOMELESS IN MISSISSIPPI FLOOD

Levee of Tallahatchie River Breaks Opposite Glendora—Boatmen Moving Refugees.

By the Associated Press.

GLENDORA, Miss., Jan. 15.—Relief workers today commandeered all available conveyances to remove hundreds of residents from the Tippo Basin of Tallahatchie County, swept last night by a wall of water that broke through the main east side levee system of the Tallahatchie River.

Water reaching a depth of eight feet in places poured through the crevasse into the flooded basin, forcing a hasty retreat of families that had remained in the area. W. R. Gray, Levee Commissioner in the district, said possibly 5000 persons would have to be moved.

The break occurred across the swollen river from Glendora, which has been trying to keep its levee intact and save the town from inundation. With the situation relieved by the opening on the opposite bank, boatmen brought many of the Tippo refugees here. Glendora is still menaced and partly under water. A slight break in the levee last night sent additional water into the business section.

More than 50 inland Mississippi villages and towns are continuing the fight against rising backwaters from streams swollen by weeks of heavy rains.

A similar, but less critical, flood situation in North Louisiana appeared unchanged early today.

High waters in Tennessee had inundated 50,000 acres today in eight western counties.

Charges Indignities and Asks for Custody of Children.

He alleges general indignities and asks for custody of their two children, Edward C. Jr., 13 years old, and Sarah Elizabeth, 15 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Davis were married in 1914, according to the petition, and separated this week.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 15.—Another special session of the State Legislature, to run concurrently with the one now under way, has been called by Gov. L. L. Emmerson. It will start next Tuesday.

Under the call, assemblymen are to consider a reduction in the salaries of public officials which would not become effective until after the approaching elections, and the necessity of a convention for the purpose of modernizing the revenue and other sections of the State's Constitution.

The present special session is meeting to consider unemployment, revenue and kindred problems.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 15.—Personal property of private schools held for educational purposes is subject to taxation, the Attorney-General's office ruled yesterday.

THREE MURDER INDICTMENTS RETURNED AT BELLEVILLE

Four Persons Named, Including Two Brothers Accused of Same Killing.

Three indictments for murder were returned by the St. Clair County grand jury, which issued its report at Belleville yesterday.

Virgil Faulkner, proprietor of a saloon at Dupo, was charged with murder, and Charles Scheu as an accessory, in the fatal shooting of Patrick McHale, bartender at the saloon, in a fight last Oct. 10.

Chincho and Selzo Cruz, brothers, were charged with killing Locadio Garcia, whose body with three bullet holes and a stab wound in it was found near Fairmont City Nov. 12.

Lindsey Brown, a Negro of Brooklyn, was charged with stabbing his wife, Hazel Brown, to death Sept. 17.

The grand jury examined 145 witnesses in four days, and returned 52 true bills and eight no-true bills.

DEFENDS BANKING OF $2,073,000 BY EX-SHERIFF

Member of New York Investigating Committee Says Culkin Merely Followed Old Custom.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Bank transcripts were read into the record before the legislative committee investigating New York affairs yesterday, showing that former Sheriff Charles W. Culkin deposited $2,073,383.18 gross, in five accounts from 1925 through 1931.

The Democratic minority, protesting against an attack by counsel Samuel Seabury, who characterized Culkins' acts as embezzlement and grand larceny, asserted that every Sheriff for 25 years had followed the practice of using interest on litigants' money as their own.

"Sheriffs of New York County for a quarter of a century," said Senator John J. McNaboe, Democrat, "have retained interest on funds in their custody and claimed it as a right. One of them was elected four times as Governor of this State, selected as the presidential candidate of a great party and received the largest popular vote ever given a Democrat.

"Is he, because he followed a custom, to be accused of embezzlement?"

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith was the man referred to by McNaboe. He was a Sheriff from 1915 to 1917 and McNaboe later mentioned him by name.

Seabury said he doubted the "historical accuracy" of McNaboe's assertion and others pointed out that when Smith was Sheriff, the office was on a fee basis.

Regarding Culkin, Seabury said: "If the District Attorney wants to, he could indict Culkin tomorrow and place him on trial."

Culkin's bank accounts were put into the record after he was called as a witness. He was not questioned because he refused to sign a waiver of immunity except for his official acts in his present position as chief of the Pension Bureau.

Seabury rejected his offer, saying he was unwilling that "any act of mine should give him immunity." Seabury refused to allow any examination of Culkin, asserting that the witness would "claim an immunity bath if a single question is asked."

The transcripts of Culkin's bank accounts showed the following deposits since 1925: Cash, $122,785.82; salary checks, $74,261; other checks, $1,545,034.57; unclassified deposits, slips missing, $207,677.96.

Withdrawals by check were $2,035,541.55, and by cash, $17,594.83.

Sheriff Thomas M. Farley was called but was asked only a few technical questions about the manner in which interest money is handled in his administration. Farley has been ordered by Gov. Roosevelt to answer charges filed by Seabury as the result of previous testimony.

ARTHUR N. SAGER RE-INSTATED TO BAR IN STATE OF NEW YORK

Appellate Court Holds Former Circuit Attorney of St. Louis Did Not Have Fair Trial.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Arthur N. Sager, formerly Circuit Attorney of St. Louis, now residing in New York City, has been reinstated to the bar of the State of New York by the Appellate Court. He had been disbarred following conviction of conspiracy to bribe and bribery of a juror in the trial of a case in Federal Court.

Sager's conviction was set aside by the United States Court of Appeals, which held that he had not had a fair trial on the bribery charge and that in the conspiracy charge, upon which two other lawyers were convicted with him, no offense was stated.

The reinstatement was based on a report by Charles Evans Hughes Jr., whom the Appellate Court had appointed as referee to hear the petition of Sager and his fellow defendants, Edward H. Reynolds and Joseph Shalleck, who also were reinstated.

Hughes reported that the lawyers had been convicted upon the testimony of two men "whose testimony was not worthy of belief" because of their questionable characters and known untruths, and that Sager's character and past reputation were such as to outweigh such testimony as has been adduced against him. It was admitted Sager had been indiscreet in giving a bailiff money to pay for a taxicab to take a sick juror to his home.

Message Causes Fatal Shock.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Margaret Ordner, 44 years old, of Parma, was worried because she had not heard from her niece, Miss Helen Pushcott, for several weeks. Last night her telephone rang. "I'm a friend of your niece," said a woman's voice. "Helen is in the hospital"—— Mrs. Ordner, ill with heart disease, fell dead from the shock. The rest of the message was that the niece was happy and working in the hospital.

FOREIGN DEBT DELAY RATIFIED BY MEXICO

Congress Approves Agreement by Which Payments Are to Start by 1934.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15.—Ratification of an agreement between international bankers and the Mexican Government for a moratorium on Mexico's foreign debt until 1934 was completed by the Mexican Congress last night.

The Senate ratified the agreement, which calls for the funding of the debts in one bond issue, with payments to start on or before Jan. 1, 1934, after the Chamber of Deputies had taken similar action.

According to President Ortiz Rubio's message to Congress, a new debt-funding arrangement along the lines of the Lamont-Montes de Oca agreement signed in New York in 1930 will be submitted for approval "at the appropriate time." The Lamont-Montes de Oca agreement was not ratified.

An initial payment of $5,000,000 which Mexico has made to the International Bankers' Committee as a guarantee of good faith, and which was returned to Mexico more than a year ago to steady Mexican currency, remains in the possession of the Mexican Government until the moratorium expires.

ARTHUR V. LASHLY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COUNTY BAR

Former Circuit Judge Arthur V. Lashly was elected president of the St. Louis County Bar Association at a meeting at the Courthouse at Clayton last night. Other officers: Former Circuit Judge G. A. Wurdeman, first vice president; Probate Judge Sam D. Hodgdon, second vice president; Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Herbert W. Ziercher, treasurer, and A. H. Kerth, secretary.

Former Circuit Judge Amandus Brackman is the retiring president. Circuit Judge Nolte, the principal speaker at the meeting, said the repeal last spring of the St. Louis County jury law was costing St. Louis County $120 a day for extra jurors and urged re-enactment of the old law by the next Legislature.

EMPLOYERS DENY COERCING WORKERS IN ALABAMA VOTE

Other Witnesses Say Ballot Boxes Were Not Stuffed as Heflin Has Charged.

By the Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 15.—Employers who were accused by former United States Senator J. Thomas Heflin's election contest witnesses of forcing their workers to cast ballots for Heflin's successor, John H. Bankhead, in 1930, denied the charges yesterday and said the men voted as they chose. Other witnesses for Bankhead denied charges of ballot box stuffing and supplying liquor to election officials.

R. A. Sandsing, mine superintendent for the Alabama Fuel and Iron Co., said he knew of no company employe who failed to vote as he chose. He said he did not tell his crews they would be discharged if they failed to vote the straight Democratic ticket and denied his superiors had dircted him to tell the miners how to vote.

ST. LOUIS NEEDS FOR 1932 TOLD TO COMMERCE GROUP

Walter Weisenburger Stresses Solution of Rapid Transit Question and City Planning.

Business and civic leaders of St. Louis took stock of the activities of 1931 and discussed plans for the advancement of the community in 1932, at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce at Hotel Jefferson last night.

More than 1000 persons heard Gov. Caulfield plead for a sound budget system for the State government; Charles Nagel urge consideration for the human equation in the new economics he thought would grow out of the depression; C. W. Gaylord, new board chairman of the chamber, argue for greater vigilance by shippers over railroad changes; and Walter B. Weisenburger, chamber president, tell of local conditions and needs.

St. Louis, along with Cincinnati and Baltimore, said Weisenburger, has withstood the depression better than any other large American city, retaining a solid industrial foundation for the future. While the rest of the country had 3448 bank failures last year, he went on, St. Louis had one, and it is difficult for St. Louisans to visualize the havoc elsewhere caused by lack of confidence.

Saying St. Louis did not accomplish improvements and other public undertakings as quickly as other cities, and referring to some of Chicago's civic enterprises, he remarked: "We wondered if sometimes it isn't more pleasing for cities to be broke, so long as they look prosperous?"

St. Louis' Transit Problem.

St. Louis, the speaker continued, can settle its surface tranportation problem this year, if tired of "playing around with it." The chamber's research has led to the following deductions, he said:

"St. Louis and the county offer a fair field for remunerative transportation operation, provided the carriers' injury and damage payments and taxes can be realigned so that the amount expended for these items is not beyond the reasonable average of other large cities. Our street car system probably serves about 59 per cent of the potential patronage of this city, leaving considerable field for development. To widen its service would require more capital, which cannot be provided under present conditions.

"In some places, the city or the Commonwealth has joined with the transit company in bearing capital expense. Taxes and other similar charges have in some cases been made secondary to a reasonable return on investment and to providing adequate service. The city thus becomes a partner in supplying a good transit system because of the far-reaching effect it has upon property values and business. In St. Louis, the reverse is true in some respects. The Public Service Co. has, in effect, been in partnership with the city through the payment of property taxes, mill tax, paving costs, etc., at the expense of the car rider."

Weisenburger referred to the Transportation Survey Commission's assertion that needed financing of mass transportation could be had only through a franchise to a private company or public ownership.

ST. LOUIS NEEDS FOR 1932 TOLD TO COMMERCE GROUP

For Rigid City Plan.

St. Louis needs an official city planning ordinance with teeth in it, he declared, and a city plan that is not a pretty picture but a diagram to be followed rigidly. The present plan, he explained, is neither complete nor official, but he pointed to the broad importance of sound planning. He criticised spot zoning and cautioned against abandoning the major street widening plan.

The Governor, said Weisenburger, has no real control over State expenditures, and without a renovation of the State's revenue and accounting machinery there is no effective way of estimating revenue at the time appropriations are made. The speaker asserted that the proper means for studying taxes and governmental costs was through an officially constituted group representing all taxpayers, and not through an organized minority.

He alluded to a current inquiry by an unofficial rural group,, and said the last official inquiry, by the State Survey Commission, was from the standpoint of tax shifting and more taxes, which now is out of tune with the times.

State Expenditures.

Gov. Caulfield, in his address, said the Governor should have authority to lay a budget before the Legislature for passage or reduction, but not for increase. State expenditures should be planned, he insisted, to care for education, justice and other fundamentals, permitting the dropping of non-essentials if necessary. Warning against injudicious tax-tinkering, he advocated a State-wide study of government. He expressed sympathy for the idea of reducing taxes and said he did not propose to administer the State in such a way as to cause increased taxes.

Chairman Gaylord said a major activity of the chamber was "keeping St. Louis caught up with its transportation needs." He added: "If we allow rail consolidation and rate changing to ruin our advantages of trade, the day of reckoning will be costly." He described plans to bring all shippers and receivers of freight, manufacturers and wholesalers, into the chamber's traffic bureau for unified action. He declared, "It's high time for the captains and kings of industry to come down off their high horse and directly participate in the creation of the government that so vitally affects their welfare," starting at the polls.

C. H. Morrill, retiring chairman of the chamber's board, pleaded for a more general understanding of the chamber's work and gave an illustrated account of last year's activities.

Neun Urges Subway.

Acting Mayor Neun, telling what the city hoped to accomplish this year, predicted that the Terminal Railroad would start operating over the Municipal Bridge in October, enabling removal of tolls from the vehicle deck of Eads Bridge. He advocated a movement for a subway in Olive street downtown and for automobile parking space and bus terminals east of Third street. Steps will be taken this year, he asserted, for the widening of Third street, between Walnut and Morgan streets. He expressed belief that the Transportation Committee of the Board of Aldermen soon would solve the problem of mass transportation.

The ordinance for uniform, scientific assessment of real estate will be passed soon, he said. During the year, Neun declared, Aloe Plaza, opposite Union Station, will be beautified, the old buildings will be removed from the Memorial Plaza site, the Municipal Auditorium construction will be started and the widening of Market street virtually completed.

Nagel, president of the Washington University Corporation, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor and a liberal Republican, told the gathering that industry must assume responsibility in the formation and expression of public sentiment, with the decay of great political leadership. The nation, he said, citing some of the measures in the present Congress, "is crowding fast toward Socialism."

"Politics," he went on, "is a back number, endeavoring to struggle with economic problems of which it knows little. There are able men in Congress, but they are not the old-time leaders. With the popular primary we have democratized our system until we don't know how to articulate it. Democracy is in the saddle but it can't speak. We must install a system whereby the public mind can make itself felt."

America, he added, must learn to view economic matters as an international problem to recover from the depression.

PROPOSES SEIZURE OF RENTS TO PAY DELINQUENT TAXES

Philadelphia Mayor Makes Threat at Conference With Real Estate Board.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—Seizing of rents to pay delinquent taxes of landlords was threatened yesterday by Mayor Moore in efforts to solve the city's financial problems.

"There is a law, I am told, providing for the taking by the city of rents if the landlord does not pay his taxes," Moore told the Philadelphia Real Estate Board.

"Try to get it," shouted a hearer.

"It's all right to say 'try to get it,' but we must obtain resources, even to the point of distress to certain persons," Moore retorted.

His plan was one of three proposed during the day. The others called for realization of funds through direct sale or collateral borrowing on delinquent tax and water-rent claims and for an all-embracing program of taxes, including municipal automobile licenses and occupational taxes.

LATE GIFTS BRING CHRISTMAS FUND TOTAL TO $18,360

Reports to Be Presented at Executive Committee's Final Luncheon Meeting Tuesday.

Late contributions amounting to $136.75 have been added to the thirty-second annual Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund, bringing the total received to $18,360.90.

Although it is three weeks since Christmas, letters continue to come to the Post-Dispatch thanking those who contributed to the fund for the Christmas cheer which they so generously extended. The following letter from J. A. Wolf, executive director of the Neighborhood Association, is one of them:

> We appreciate so much, not only the baskets which you sent for our members, but the businesslike manner in which they were handled this year. Not only do we thank you as an organization, but we thank you for the individuals who had such a good Christmas dinner because of the Post-Dispatch and its friends.

The final luncheon meeting of the Executive Committee which sponsored the Christmas Festival will be held at 12:15 o'clock Tuesday in Hotel Jefferson. Detailed reports will be presented at that time.

STAR GROUPS MOVING 15,000 MILES A SECOND

Discovery Is Regarded as Evidence of Expanding Universe Theory.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Two distant star-groups, speeding away from the earth at 15,000 miles a second, today gave astronomers possible new evidence that the universe is exploding.

Discovery of this terrific velocity, the greatest so far found among the giant star-group or nebulae that seem to be rushing away from the earth, was announced by the Carnegie Institution of Washington. The discovery was made at the institution's Mount Wilson Observatory, Pasadena, Cal.

The two new star-groups are expected to shed additional light on the problem of whether the universe is actually "exploding" or expanding at great speed.

This problem is now being studied at Pasadena by world-famous scientists, including Dr. Albert Einstein, Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of Mount Wilson Observatory, and Dr. Willem de Sitter of Holland.

Expanding Universe Theory.

One of Einstein's theories suggests that the universe is expanding. Another astronomer, Dr. Richard C. Tolman, holds that the universe may be alternately expanding and contracting. Others do not accept either view, and declare the star-groups are not actually receding, but only seem to be doing so.

"The results now reported," said the Carnegie Institution's announcement, "extend our knowledge of the relation between distance and apparent rate of recession or movement away from us. They are of especial interest in research concerning the possible expansion of the universe, as studied by Dr. Einstein and Dr. de Sitter, now in Pasadena."

The two new nebulae or "island-universes" were found by Dr. Milton Humason in a faint cluster located by Dr. Edwin P. Hubble in the constellation of Gemini. They are so distant that their light, traveling more than 186,000 miles per second, takes 135,000,000 years to reach the earth.

Shifting of Spectral Lines.

The highest apparent speed among nebulae previously discovered was about 12,000 miles per second.

The nebulae are believed to be receding because the light waves coming from them to the earth are distorted. When the light of the nebula is separated into its different wave lengths in a spectrum, the lines that represent the different lengths are shifted toward the red end of the spectrum. Speed of the nebula is calculated from the distance the lines are shifted from normal.

FUNERAL OF CHILD KILLED ACCIDENTALLY BY HER FATHER

Rose Marie Schmelzle Buried Yesterday; Parents Sit Apart at Services.

Three-year-old Rose Marie Schmelzle, accidentally shot and killed Monday night by her father, Joseph Schmelzle, in a family row at their home at 605 Wilmington avenue, was buried in Sunset Burial Park yesterday afternoon afert funeral services at the Southern undertaking establishment at 6322 South Grand boulevard.

Several hundred persons attended the services, conducted by the Rev. George Keating, pastor of SS. Mary and Joseph's Catholic Church.

Schmelzle, at liberty on $5000 bond, sat apart from his wife and his father-in-law, Joseph Schiller, his antagonists in the fight in which Rose Marie was killed.

"PAY 50¢ for a tooth paste? . . not me! I KNOW BETTER"

"I paid that for years—thought I had to in order to have nice teeth.

"But I don't pay that much now. Maybe I ought to thank the depression for a small but worthwhile lesson in economy—and for a real revelation in value.

"It occurred to me one day that all tooth pastes are pretty much alike, in the results they accomplished. If that was so, what was the use of paying 50¢ or more? That reasoning led me to Listerine Tooth Paste at 25¢. Been using it right along now, and figure I save myself about $3 a year. What's more, my teeth look cleaner and whiter than ever, and my mouth feels simply great!"

Quick, Safe Cleansing

That's the way a lot of men and women talk. Actually, more than four million people have rejected costly dentifrices for this modern one which sells for 25¢ the large tube. And while the price has been a consideration, the deciding factor in their selection was the outstanding quality of this tooth paste and the remarkable results achieved by it.

If you aren't already using Listerine Tooth Paste, do so at the first opportunity.

Erases Discolorations

See how teeth gleam. Note how swiftly but how gently it erases discolorations and tartar. How lustrous it leaves the teeth. Contained in it are new polishing and cleansing agents. They are harder than tartar and so remove it. But they are softer than enamel and consequently do not hurt it.

We are willing to wager that once you try Listerine Tooth Paste you will not return to soapy, gritty, or prettily colored dentifrices which cost more, but accomplish no more. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo.

WOMEN HELD AS HEADS OF AUTO THEFT GANG

Mother and Daughter Sought for Year for Federal Charges in West Virginia.

By the Associated Press.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Eunice Schweirtfeger, 36 years old, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Edith Yarnell, 18, sought for a year as the leaders of an automobile theft ring, are in jail here on Federal charges. The mother was arrested in Dover, Ok., and daughter in Dallas, Tex.

The gang is alleged to have stolen hundreds of automobiles, more than 100 having been recovered.

The older woman is said by the detectives to have been the wife of Manuel Agary, a Mexican insurgent General who was killed in battle four years ago. She later married Earl Schweirtfeger of St. Louis, now serving a four-year sentence in the Federal Reformatory at Chillicothe, O. He is her fifth husband.

Fifteen other men said to be members of the same gang have been convicted and are now serving sentences.

Detectives, working under the United States Bureau of Investigations, said the gang broke and spread when the first men were arrested more than a year ago. Confident that the two women would start back for Mexico, the detectives watched for them in cities near the border until they obtained a clew to their whereabouts 10 days ago.

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.
Kansas City 4, St. Louis 0.
Tulsa 1, Chicago 0.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 15.—Falling before an aggressive stubborn attack, backed by a stalwart defense, the seven-game winning streak of the St. Louis Flyers was abruptly halted here last night when the league-leading Pla-Mors defeated the St. Louis club by 4 to 0 in the fastest American League hockey game ever played on the local rink. With Tulsa winning, the Oilers drew into a third place tie with the Flyers.

The Flyers battled to the last ditch before they accepted defeat. At no time were they far behind the winners as far as play or ability was concerned. They gave back rush for rush, check for check, created most of the excitement and earned the plaudits of the crowd by their fine work, but they were not favored by Lady Luck.

Kansas City was by no means four goals better. They deserved the victory, but a 2-to-1 score would give a far better idea of the trend of the play. The clubs meet again here tomorrow night and if fortune favors the Flyers they are liable to start another winning streak.

Williams Stars for Flyers.

Play was fast and furious. There was no letup from start to finish and it was a tired bunch of athletes who wended their way to the dressing rooms after the affair ended. "Burr" Williams once again was outstanding for the losers. The big defense player smote them hip and thigh when they invaded his territory and was a power on the attack. Loucks combined well with Williams, but lost the puck oftener on rushes. Creasey and Mulligan played well, but weren't quite as effective. Rheaume in goal gave another good performance. Out in front, Bill Hill, McPherson, Scott, Kendall and St. John were in the limelight on numerous occasions.

Kansas City, a well-balanced aggregation, gave a powerful display both on the attack and defense. The defense, in turning aside the onrushes of the Flyers, appeared to greater advantage, but did not thrill the crowd any more than did Mitchell, Goodman, Dunfield and Campbell, four forwards who know what it is all about.

Kansas City opened the scoring in the first period when Johnny Loucks was parked on the fence for tripping. Dunfield and Mitchell engineered the play for the counter, with Dunfield on the scoring end. That was the only tally of 20 minutes of hair-raising hockey. Once when Kansas City was short-handed four men to six, the Flyers swarmed all over them, but couldn't beat Levine.

Breaks Against the Flyers.

In the second period, the first of the series of unlucky events came the way of St. Louis. Five of the Flyers attacked and they were caught behind the Kansas City blue line as McKinnon broke away. He tore toward Rheaume and shot as he was within striking distance. Rheaume made a sensational stop, but it was all for the good of his health, as Bill Kendall threw his stick in an effort to prevent McKinnon scoring, and the goal was allowed for interference.

St. Louis kept on trying, but to no avail. The defense was left wide open on numerous rushes and on two of these Kansas City scored. Halderson and Gorman were responsible for one goal and Dunfield and Mitchell snatched the other to add a couple of points to their goal average.

There was a lot of smart hockey, and Kansas City didn't play all of it. Fans who haven't missed games here in four years voted it the most sensational game ever played in this city.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A 10-round bout with Tommy Loughran in Madison Square Garden tonight gives Steve Hamas, all-around athlete at Penn State a few years ago, his first real chance to crash through into the top flight of American heavyweights.

The Passaic (N. J.) youngster, whose brief professional career of 26 bouts has resulted in 26 victories, 23 of them by knockouts, rules the short-ender in the betting at 8 to 5.

A month ago Loughran would have been favored at 100 to 1 or any odds you liked, but his stock has taken a sharp drop since the clouting he suffered at the hands of King Levinsky here recently. The boxing fraternity still thinks the Philadelphia veteran can outpoint Hamas, but they offer no juicy odds on him. They saw Levinsky park him on the floor three times and all but knock him out and they know that Hamas can hit.

American Association Is Likely to Be Literally "Up in Air" Next Season

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The entire American Association may be up in the air next summer—players, umpires, and all. Because of the great distance between the Eastern and Western clubs, the club owners of the big double A. circuit today had under consideration a plan whereby all long hops may be made by airplanes, and the shorter ones by busses.

The move is an economy measures, as the club owners failed in their negotiations to obtain rates from railroads.

President Hickey today called a meeting of the club owners for Chicago, Jan. 20, to adopt a schedule and consider using airplanes and busses as transportation for the 1932 season.

Under the plan it is proposed to lease two airplanes of the 12-passenger three-motor type. Two machines will be required to transport an entire club.

"I am heartily in favor of the idea," President Hickey said today. "We can save time and save money. It no longer will be necessary for players to remain over in Chicago in making the jumps between Columbus or Toledo and Minneapolis and St. Paul.

"By using the planes we can save a day on the hops, doing away with so many open dates. It also will be much cheaper than railroad rates."

In the eastern sector of the league the clubs intend to travel by bus between Toledo, Columbus, Indianapolis and Louisville. The planes will be used, if the plan is adopted, in making the trips to and from Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

President Hickey is enthusiastic over the airplane idea and his enthusiasm is shared by the club owners.

"Two airplanes can transport an entire club from one of the eastern cities to one of the Twin Cities within six or seven hours," President Hickey continued. "Think of the time that can be saved.

"When a plane lands the players it can immediately take off for some other city and transport another team. I am sold on the idea, and believe the club owners share my views."

If this airplane-bus idea is adopted, it will be the first big minor league to transport their players by airplane. Some of the small minor leagues have used busses in traveling from town to town.

BARON LONG RULED OFF BY AGUA STEWARDS

By the Associated Press.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 15.—Baron Long, owner of one of the largest stables here and also one of the triumvirate of proprietors of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club, was ruled off this Lower California track today by the stewards for his famous betting coup on Linden Tree, Jan. 7.

HINKLE IS SELECTED ATHLETIC DIRECTOR AT BUTLER UNIVERSITY

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 15.—Paul D. (Tony) Hinkle, whose Butler University basketball teams have attracted nation-wide attention, will replace Harry M. Bell as director of athletics and physical education at the university Feb. 1.

Bell, whose contract expires July 1, has been granted a leave of absence until that date, university officials said in announcing Hinkle's appointment last night. Bell will go to the University of California for post-graduate work.

Dr. Walter Scott Athearn, president of the university, said an assistant to Hinkle to act as head football coach, a position held by Bell, probably will be chosen later.

Hinkle, who graduated from the University of Chicago in 1921, has been a member of the Butler physical education staff in various capacities since 1924.

ONE-LEGGED GOLFERS MAY MEET IN MATCH

SILVER SKATES RACES WILL BE HELD AT ARENA

This year's Silver Skates Carnival will go indoors and will be held at The Arena, Sunday afternoon, Jan. 31. The action was taken at a meeting of the board of control of the Missouri Skating Association at the Elks' Club last night.

General admission will be 25 cents with only the boxes reserved at $1 and, after the expenses of the meet are taken out, 10 per cent of the receipts will go to the American Olympic fund. The St. Louis Hockey Club and the Missouri State Skating Association will equally divide the remainder.

The event was sent indoors only after several postponements made necessary by mild weather. The original date was Dec. 28. No precedent is set by the board in its action, for the feeling of the members is that the event belongs outdoors.

Some of the greatest skaters in the country are scheduled to appear and it is hoped the receipts will enable St. Louis to meet its Olympic Fund quota.

Playground Teams In Soccer Title Game Tomorrow

The opening round in the elimination series of the Municipal Playground Soccer League will be played at Murphy Playground, Twentieth street and Cass avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the Blow and Sherman teams are scheduled to go through a 40-minute match to determine which eleven will gain the honor of playing Columbus in the three-game championship series to decide the title in the 62-inch class. Columbus draws the bye.

The Sherman team won the championship last year in the longest series of games in the history of local soccer. Play went 11 games with eight drawn contests before a decision was reached. The Sherman team has won five and lost one in the regular seasonal play this year. The club clinched the group championship, Jan. 2, when it defeated St. Louis, 1 to 0.

The Blow Playground team, which was in the play-off round last year, won the divisional title in a five team group on the South Side this year and finished a full game in front of Buder with a record of seven games won, none lost and one tied. They gained the group title last Saturday, when they defeated Buder, 1 to 0.

Columbus had a rather easy time landing the top rung position in Central group where it won six games without a loss or a tie.

PAULINO 7-TO-5 FAVORITE TO WIN OVER LEVINSKY

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—How much dynamite there is in King Levinsky's right hand will be determined tonight at the Chicago stadium. The King's biggest test will be supplied in a 10-round battle with Paulino Uzcudun, whose cast iron features and sturdy frame have withstood the blasts of virtually every real puncher in the boxing business, without so much as a knock-down. If Levinsky, whose most recent important achievement was a 10-round decision over Tommy Loughran, whom he knocked down three times, can even get the durable Basque off his feet, the most doubting will believe he can punch.

Levinsky can't box a lick, and his campaign of battle will be the same as usual—climb into the ring and start swinging with his right. The plan has worked so well lately that the former Maxwell street fishmonger's rise to prominence among the heavyweights has been amazing. Before beating Loughran, he lost a decision to Primo Carnera, and it was so close that a large number of Chicago fans still think Levinsky won.

Against the King's wild, but ever busy right, Paulino will present his crablike defense, ceaseless body attack and apparently limitless endurance, and what little wagering there has been, has been done at 8 to 5 and 7 to 5, that the basque will win the decision. Paulino will weigh around 198 pounds and Levinsky will scale about four pounds less.

The advance sale indicates that as many as 15,000 will watch Levinsky's efforts to upend Paulino, along with viewing four bouts in the National Boxing Association's tournament to select a successor to Maxie Rosenbloom as world light heavyweight champion.

In the elimination series, Dave Maier, Milwaukee southpaw, will meet Abie Bain of Newark, N. J., in a 10-round bout, and Baxter Calmes of Wichita, Kan., and Bob Olin of New York, are down for the same distance. George Nichols, Buffalo, N. Y., another southpaw, will tackle Charley Belanger of Canada, in a third ten-rounder and Yale Okun of New York, and Tony Cancela of Tampa, Fla, will meet in an eight-round test.

WAGNER TO PLAY FOR MISSOURI FIVE IN NEBRASKA CONTEST

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 15.—The Missouri Tigers meet the Nebraska Huskers here tomorrow night in their second Big Six Conference basketball game, greatly improved with a week's rest behind them.

Last week-end found the Tigers almost fatigued after strenuous games with Washington, Creighton and the Kansas Aggies within five days, but since the Nebraska game has been the only one on this week's program, Coach George Edwards' men appear to be back in condition.

For a time it was feared an injured foot might keep Norman Wagner, Missouri's towering center, from starting the game, but the layoff helped him to get back into shape.

The Tiger mentor today said he would withhold Vic Davis, veteran guard, also suffering with an injured foot, from the starting lineup. He will be replaced by Jimmy Zinn, another veteran, who will be paired with John Cooper, sophomore scoring ace. Wagner will be at center and Capt. Max Collins and Joe Palfreyman at guard.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Worth Going After.

WHEN Mique Malloy, telephoning from Chicago several days ago, told the Post-Dispatch he was trying to bring the Schmeling-Walker championship fight to The Arena, the idea provoked a smile. There were plenty of objections. Mique was on the suspended list in Missouri. The Arena was tied up by Tom Packs and the announcement already had been made that the big show would go to Miami.

Today the outlook is much different and there is a real chance that the fight can be brought here, with Packs and Malloy working together. The commissioner has promised to restore Mique to good standing under certain conditions. Packs is willing to come in with The Arena and the Schmeling-Walker plum will NOT go to Miami, because there is no big money there this year.

That throws the situation wide open, with the Chicago Stadium, the Detroit Arena and the St. Louis Arena as the best available sites for the event. It can't be held in New York because Schmeling is under suspension in that state.

* * *

Local Arena Best Suited.

THE St. Louis Arena, according to Malloy, is the best suited to the purpose. At this writing Illinois still permits only 10 rounds of fighting and Schmeling insists on 15 for a title bout. The local Arena will seat for a big fight about 20,000 persons, a total which Malloy says is about 2000 more than the Chicago stadium's capacity. Wherever the bout is held the top price will be $25, so that a bigger gate is possible in this city than in Chicago.

Malloy and Packs are sold on the idea that St. Louis, with the support of the Southwest and the many nearby cities will pack The Arena for such a show. Several major cities are only a few hours ride from St. Louis. Malloy insists that there would be as many Chicago ringsiders in St. Louis for such a battle as there would be in their home stadium, were the bout held there.

* * *

If Malloy and Packs can bring the event to this city it will be an achievement of real merit and will do much to rebuild the boxing situation in this district.

There is only one fly in the ointment—it is probable that Madison Square Garden would want to retain active promotion of the event. However, this could be accomplished by organizing a Madison Square Garden of Missouri, after the manner of those in Illinois, Ohio and Florida, which could co-operate with the local promoters.

At any rate, the Schmeling-Walker fight for St. Louis is no longer a dream but a possibility.

Without Honor.

IN THEIR own respective countries prophets, fighters and other celebrities are without honor. If you mention in St. Louis that Joe Ghnouly is a candidate for national championship honors in his class, the boys just smile and say: "Sure, Joe is a nice little boxer." They feel that they have exaggerated a little in trying to be nice to a home-bred boy.

But the National Boxing Association has asked its members to ratify a list of rankings in all classes wherein Joe Ghnouly is placed fifth in the featherweight class. Kid Chocolate, Benny Bass, Al Foreman and Roger Bernard are the only ones rated above him.

The reason for local apathy toward Joe is that the fans have seen him extended and can't figure him as a title factor. He has little steam behind his blows. He is a "punchless wonder" in the eyes of the fans. The man who can't wallop, enjoys only transitory fame in the fight world today.

* * *

Manager Gus Wilson has done much with Joe. He thinks he can do more—develop a knockout punch. Unfortunately, boxing annals show practically no instance in which a light hitter became a walloper.

* * *

Mysterious Mr. Battalino.

ONE of the mysteries of the ring today is Bat Battalino, who although beaten seven times in one year and 11 times since he won his title, still leaves the impression of being a great fighter.

Still more mysterious is the N. B. A.'s classification of the gentleman. The National Boxing Association seems to have given up the job as hopeless. It places him second in the lightweight class, omits him in the junior lightweight division and then brings him back as No. 1 boy in the featherweight division.

To add to the mystery Bat, a few days ago, had a title match at 126 pounds canceled because the best weight he could do for that occasion was 135½ pounds—more than the lightweight limit. Yet, so we read, Battalino still is head of the featherweight class and is debating whether to defend his title at this weight.

Looks like Bat will have to unscrew a leg to get under the limit.

Try the Mutuels.

WHAT should be the two greatest race meetings of the year, the Belmont Park and Saratoga, are slowly bleeding to death. Receipts, it is said, do not cover expenses at either course and the good sportsmen in charge take one on the pocketbook annually.

The entire receipts for the tracks in the New York district were $2,257,731 last year. There were 171 racing days, so that the average receipts daily for all the tracks was a trifle over $13,000. To operate a track of importance and prestige, such as Belmont and Saratoga, requires at the very minimum $15,000, which accounts for the red tint on the ledger.

Time for the New York tracks to turn over a new leaf and put in the mutuels. Maryland racing has been built up financially and in quality, too, since the present racing law went into effect. Mutuels give the owners, the horsemen and the public the best break, when properly regulated. New York gets no revenue from its betting and as a result can't live on fees and admissions.

The situation seems to have reacted against the races, for in only a few instances are many horses of real quality entered in metropolitan events. Entries are few and frequently the presence of one top rank horse keeps down the starters to two or three.

The mutuel tracks not only seem to prosper financially, but they have better contention.

Final Details Are Completed For Cue Match

Charles C. Peterson, St. Louis billiard star, announced last night that he and Isidro Ribas, Spanish cue wizzard, will play the second and third sessions of their local matches in their coming international fancy shot billiard championship in his parlor, Feb. 9 and 10. Peterson and Ribas will open the match at the St. Louis University gymnasium, Feb. 8.

Following the contests here, Peterson and Ribas will move to Chicago, New York, Washington and Havana, Cuba, where the remaining sessions of the world titular match will be held. One hundred shots will be played in each city, with the title to be decided on points.

Incidentally, the coming match marks the first time that a championship trick shot contest has ever been booked. Peterson, who still holds the red ball and short stop crowns, came into possession of the fancy shot championship because of his rare ability and his popularity with sports writers all over the country.

For years Peterson wore the mythical crown without anyone disputing his claim. However, along came Ribas and after he won the European laurels and made a name for himself in this country he issued a challenge. Immediately after he was informed by the National Billiard Association that Ribas wanted a chance to play for the title, Peterson agreed to defend his claim.

A portion of the proceeds will be turned over to the War Veterans' Welfare Association.

MAJOR LEAGUES WILL NOT CUT ADMISSION PRICES NEXT SEASON

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.

DEPRESSION or no depression, your ticket to American League baseball games will cost just as much next season as last.

William Harridge, president of the American League, today said there would be no cut in prices for at least two reasons. One is that the owners do not feel called upon to lower the admission price, since they didn't raise it during boom times.

"Any suggestions that admission prices be lowered because of prevailing conditions, overlook the fact that in the boom period baseball made no attempt to take advantage of easy money," Harridge said.

COLUMBIA TO LIMIT ATHLETES' ACTIVITIES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. — There will be no more four-letter men at Columbia University under a rule proposed by the student board and adopted by the board of governors of the school.

The new rule limits athletes to participation in no more than two major sports in one season and is so arranged a man can win only three so-called major letters in any year.

Football, crew, basketball, swimming and track are placed in one group, and baseball, cross country, wrestling, fencing, tennis and rifle in another, the rule being that a man can participate in only two sports in one group and one sport in the other in any year.

CONCORDIA AT FULL STRENGTH FOR EVANSVILLE

The Concordia Seminary basketball team will strive for an even break in four games played when the Preachers oppose Evansville (Ind.) College tomorrow night at the Washington University Field House. Concordia's record to date is one victory and two defeats.

Although the Preachers did not win their last engagement, dropping a 24 to 21 decision to Centenary College of Shreveport, La., they are not to be censured too greatly, because illness and a lack of practice played a prominent part in permitting the Southerners to rally in the closing minutes of the game. Considering that Concordia only scored five points in the first half, the Preachers did exceptionally well in the second period.

The loss of Billy Rueter, captain and guard, affected Concordia's play in the second half last week. It is expected that Rueter will be able to start against Evansville, as will Herb Etzler and Herb Bredemeier, both of whom were "under the weather" against Centenary. In the event that neither Rueter nor Etzler will be able to start, Coach Al Oehlers will use Dick Lehman and John Herzog as guards.

Ed Dohrman and Paulson are certain choices for the forward positions as is Bredemeier for the center job. Al Kellerman, who lacks stamina to play more than half a game, will be kept on the bench as reserve forward or center.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 15.—Coach Matt Mann of the University of Michigan swimming team announced yesterday that the 1932 National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming meet will be held in the Michigan pool here March 25 and 26. Mann has been named manager.

ST. CHARLES DEFEATS TROY BASKET QUINTET

In a nonleague contest last night St. Charles High defeated the Troy (Mo.) basket team, 36-28. The victors exhibited an improved combination in Crouse, Meyer and Moore, who accumulated a total of 28 points. Barley, visiting forward, took the high point honors by collecting four field shots and three free throws.

Coach Dueringer's quint led, 7 to 6, at the first quarter and held only a two-point advantage at the half, but gathered 15 points in a third quarter spurt. The guests made a threatening rally in the last quarter, when they accounted for 13 points.

Rolling with the leading Nehis in Frank Heidel's South Side Major League, Bieger rolled 642 and helped his team amass a total of 3931 and win three games from the Buchholz Five. Al Hermle was inspired by Bieger's good shooting and turned in 610. In the other matches, the Cornwalls won two from the Sturms, the Waysides took two from the Hellrungs and the Seals won two from the Heidels. E. Hoffer rolled 641, F. Farber 637, Heidel 625 and Lainely 652.

Beaumont Will Play Soldan For Lead in League Tonight; Prep Basket Season Opens

By Harold Tuthill

The battle between Soldan and Beaumont for first place in the City High School League basketball race will be the headline attraction on the district schedule for tonight. Cleveland opposes Central in the first game of the double-header at the St. Louis University gymnasium starting at 8 o'clock.

It is difficult to decide as to the superiority of Soldan and Beaumont. Soldan has three veterans in Paul Braudrick, forward and Capt. Bob Lahey and Howard Butts, guards, whereas Howard Gruber is the only remaining regular of the Beaumont five that lost out in the play-off for last year's title. However, Ray Toberman and Albert Schroeder, have had enough previous experience, so that the North Siders are not likely to be made nervous by the importance of tonight's game.

Soldan Combination.

Coach Harry White will use Joe King at center and Art Mueller at the forward position opposite Braudrick as the starting Soldan five. It will be the first league game in which White's regulars all will be available as starters.

There is little doubt that Coach Raymond "Gus" Polster will use the same lineup that enabled Beaumont to run its string of consecutive triumphs to seven against Roosevelt last week. Besides Toberman at center, Gruber at forward and Schroeder at guard, Polster will start Isadore Handler at forward and Charles "Chick" Droke at guard.

Central did not show enough improvement in losing to Principia Junior College, 35 to 16, earlier in the week, to warrant the prediction that the Mid-City five would win from Cleveland in the preliminary contest. Cleveland, tied for third with Roosevelt, will be seeking an even break in four games, while if Central loses, it will be the third in as many starts for the Mid-City team.

What interest is not drawn by the City League, will be centered on the opening Preparatory League games. Western Military Academy plays at McBride and St. Louis University High is the guest of Christian Brothers College in the initial round.

McBride is a decided favorite to win from Western, because Coach Carl O. "Toddy" Kamp's boys have won four of their five games. The starting lineup for McBride will consist of Carl Peters and Wiese, forwards; Frank Keaney, center, and Burke and Ammon, guards.

C. B. C. Favored.

Having defeated Cleveland, a team which twice won from Coach Tom Stanton's St. Louis U. High five, C. B. C. should emerge victor in the other Prep League battle. Coach Jack O'Reilly probably will use Jack Sullivan and Gene O'Sullivan as the forwards; Phil Kilgus center; Russ Braudrick and John Busch, guards, as the Brothers' starting five.

Ferguson and Hancock, pace-setters in the St. Louis County league, have scheduled league games for tonight as Brentwood is the guest of Ferguson and Hancock is host to Clayton. If the leaders win it will be the fourth straight for both schools. In the first meeting, Hancock won easily from Clayton, 23 to 14, and Ferguson smothered Brentwood, 27 to 4. The probable Ferguson lineup will be George Tuthill and Ray Elliott, forwards; Donald Grimm, center, and Elmer Lueckerath and Louis Owen, guards.

Only one other suburban game is on tonight's program. Ritenour invades Wellston in a game that will not affect the top flight teams because Ritenour has lost one and Wellston both of its games in the league competition.

Although Coach Armin A. Wahlbrink's Maplewood five will be idle in the conference, the Blue and White will participate in the Booneville tournament, conducted by Kemper Military School. The meet will start this afternoon at 1 o'clock and come to a close tomorrow night.

Roosevelt will oppose Principia Junior College at the Howard Gymnasium, starting at 8:30 o'clock, in a return engagement between the schools. Roosevelt won the first game, 26 to 11.

On East Side.

Granite City will defend its hold on first place in the Southwestern Illinois Conference by being host to Edwardsville in the most interesting of the three games tonight. The balance of the schedule is Collinsville at Belleville and Madison at Wood River. Granite City is the only team which has not been defeated in league play. East St. Louis will play at Alton tomorrow night.

The program in the Cahokia Conference is O'Fallon at Dupo, New Athens at Marissa, Mascoutah at Lebanon and Ned Baden at Freeburg.

Both high school games tomorrow night will have a bearing upon the St. Louis County situation. Webster is host to University City in a game the result of which will drop the loser from a challenging position. St. Charles is the guest of Kirkwood in a not-so-important contest, since neither school has won a league game.

DEAN SIGNS WITH CARDS, EXPECTS TO WIN 25 GAMES

Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean, the young right-handed pitcher who has a fine chance to earn a job as a regular with the Redbirds of 1932, signed a Cardinal contract this afternoon after conferring for more than four hours with Branch Rickey, vice president and business manager. In accordance with the policy of disclosing as little as possible, no statement was made as to terms or length of contract.

"I'm all set now and I'll win 25 games at least for the Cards next year," Dean told a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"Do you think you'll be more effective as a result of your year in the Texas League?" Dean was asked.

"No sir," he replied. "I couldn't be any better. I'd have been a winner for the Cards last year. But they'll be glad they've got me the coming season. I'll see that they win another pennant."

Dean said he had spent much of the winter hunting with his brother, Paul, near Russellville, Ark.

"You ought to see my brother," Dean exclaimed. "He is as tall as I am and weighs more than 200 pounds. What a pitcher he is going to be."

Dean plans to return to Arkansas after spending the night in St. Louis.

BEARS HOPE FOR VALLEY VICTORY IN AGGIE GAME

By James M. Gould.

Still hoping for a Valley basketball victory, and with a fair chance of realizing that hope, the Washington University Bears depart tonight for Stillwater, Ok., where, tomorrow night, they engage the Aggies. The Bears, in conference play, have been defeated by Creighton and Grinnell, and the Aggies also have lost to those two teams. So tomorrow night's game will temporarily determine the occupancy of the Valley cellar.

Comparative Scores.

It is on comparative scores that the Bears are basing their hopes of a victory over the Aggies. Creighton won from Washington, 35-28, and the Nebraskans had to use every trick of defense in the last period to stave off a Washington rush. In the Creighton-Aggie game Creighton rolled up a record score in handing the Aggies a 65-23 defeat. Thus, Creighton's margin over Washington was a scant seven points and over the Aggies 42 points.

Coach White of the Bears will try another combination tomorrow. It is nearly that which started the season. Wise and the fast-coming Bob Mautz will be the forwards, with Maysack returning to center and Steideman and Landwirth occupying the guard positions. White has worked these players together this week and believes he now has the proper offensive-defensive group.

Maysack and Steideman this year have been far off the form they showed in the campaign a year ago. Both have been lethargic in practice and in the games in which they have appeared so that Hower, at center, and Marshall and Graves have come up from the reserves to be, for a couple of games at least, regulars in place of the veterans.

Steideman's failure has been hardest to explain. A year ago he was accounted one of the best guards in the Valley. This year, thus far at least, he has been performing like one of the worst. Now, however, Coach White believes Herb has "got going" and this will be proved or disproved in the Aggie game. Hower, Marshall, Graves, Whitehouse and Kern also will probably see action.

At a meeting of the Athletic Council at Washington last night, no action was taken either on possible changes in the coaching system or on the retention of baseball as a varsity sport.

Hereafter, holders of the "W" at Washington will be admitted to all college athletic events free as a reward for earning their letter.

Chaminade Five Wins.

Chaminade High's quintet scored its fifth victory in six games when it defeated John Burroughs yesterday afternoon, 31 to 29. John Burroughs, playing its second game, was never able to gain the lead. Chaminade will play its alumni team tonight on the Chaminade floor in the feature of an alumni night program.

The Passing Show.

JACK DEMPSEY'S hat is in the ring,
And at the crown he'll have a fling
Within the coming year.
He says he'd like to fight once more,
And win his laurels back before
He calls it a career.

Now with the Boston Braves appears
The future king of financiers,
Now in the embryo!
Art Shires took his pen in hand
And nicked them for eleven grand—
Beat that and take the dough.

At the Coliseum Wednesday night
The patrons saw some fighters fight,
Though not for championships,
When Schwake, Snyder, Brady, Tut
And Howard Scott and Kaiser cut
Each other into strips.

John Schwake, Webster Groves' big shot,
Put Angus Snyder on the spot
And cracked him on the jaw;
The Brady-Tut imbroglio,
While it was anything but slow,
Resulted in a draw.

The Eyes Have It.

Babe Ruth's 1931 batting record would indicate that he still has his eye on the ball, but he can't see Col. Ruppert's offer of $70,000 for one year. One of those ocular vagaries peculiar to ballplayers.

Babe thinks, however, that if the contract were made to cover a period of two years, instead of one, he might see his way clear to signing. Indicating that the "Bam" is getting far-sighted.

"U. S. Racketeer Hanged in Ireland."

A prophet is not without honor save in his own country.

We trust that this little episode will not compel Uncle Sam to use up a couple of quires of perfectly good note paper asking how come?

If our racketeers insist upon straying off the reservation they do so at their own risk.

"Art Shires Signs $11,000 Contract With Braves."

Indicating that "The Great" Shires is the greatest financier since Alexander Hamilton.

Anybody who can wangle 11,000 bucks out of the Braves at the present time should be lead-off man in the batting order of the President's Cabinet.

The recent Lenz-Culbertson tournament pales into insignificance beside the game of contract now being waged between the baseball club owners on one side and the baseball players on the other.

Finding the players vulnerable the proprietors are no-trumping and finessing all over the lot.

The players claim that their hold-out system can beat anything the magnates may have to offer. Time will snitch.

With those two billion berries that Uncle Sam will soon have available to lend to the worthy poor, the bankers and brokers and farmers and railroads have started to perfect themselves in the touch system.

Even Max Schmeling must have his eye on the jackpot as he has set his goal for '32 at $2,000,000.

YANKEES EXPECT "BABE" RUTH TO SIGN CONTRACT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A mere $10,000 stands between Babe Ruth and his signature to a New York Yankees' contract for 1932.

The first move in the annual duel between Ruth and his employers was the tender yesterday of a contract calling for $70,000 in 1932, a 12½ per cent reduction from the $80,000 the big outfielder received in 1930 and 1931.

"I won't sign that thing," said Ruth. "I think I'm worth the other $10,000 after the season I had. They're making a joke of this cutting business. If they keep it up pretty soon the public's going to want its cut, too. Then where'll they be? I haven't heard of them reducing the admission prices."

The home run star indicated he'd sign a contract for $80,000 for one year or a two-year contract at $70,000.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, at least at present, is unperturbed by Ruth's refusal to accept the Yankees' first offer.

"I do not think we can do better than a one-year contract at $70,000," Col. Ruppert said. "I haven't talked with Ruth yet but we will discuss the matter and I am sure we can reach an agreement quickly. We have never had much trouble doing so before."

Another of Curry's dogs, Bailey's Proctor Mike, won second place, and Shore's Carolina Jack, owned by T. C. Cary Baily of Baltimore, was third.

Sugar Creeks to Play Omaha Five, There Tomorrow

Faced with two league games on successive nights, the Sugar Creek basketball team will depart tonight for Omaha, where it plays the Oak Brands tomorrow. The team will then return home for the contest at St. Louis University gymnasium Sunday night with the famous Tulsa Diamond Oilers, who will come here with two all-America A. A. U. stars in the lineup.

Realizing that they will be forced to remain in first place in the league standings, the Sugar Creeks have been going at top speed in practices this week. A hard scrimmage with the St. Louis University varsity quint finished the team's workouts and Manager William O. De Witt says his players are on edge for their important week-end battles. Kingsley Wientge, the ex-Washington University guard, who scored 14 points in the first 13 minutes of play last Sunday night, has been particularly accurate in hitting the basket.

The two all-America forwards, "Chuck" Hyatt and Paul Burks, who played a leading role in the Tulsa club's recent overtime game with the Wichita Henrys, National A. A. U. champions, have been playing brilliant basketball on the present tour of the Oklahomans through Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana. On this same trip last year, the Tulsans won 15 straight games.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—European participants of the allied nations in the World War are drawing up varied reparations balance sheets with which to confront Germany at Lausanne on Jan. 25.

Since the armistice Germany has paid $4,829,000,000, if the figures of the Reparations Commission are accepted, but Germany maintains the payments total $9,119,000,000 No official statement exists. The figures of the Reparations Commission, which died with the birth of the Young plan, never were official, but were accepted by the allies as the most accurate available.

On its side, the German Government is busy preparing totals, and the indications are these will be considerably higher than $9,000,000,000.

Payments Made So Far.

The other two Powers most interested—France and Belgium—contend they have not received enough to cover the actual damage done to property by the German armies.

Belgium says she is still $100,000,000 short, and her 1931 budget shows $670,000,000 expended for rehabilitation of damaged areas as of Dec. 31, 1931, while only $570,000,000 was received from Germany as of June, 1931. This does not include any expenditure except for actual repairs to damaged property, the budget report says.

France says it is even worse off. Germany still owes the French $2,859,000,000 for reconstruction, the 1932 budget shows. As of April 1, 1931, France paid out in repairing war damages $3,915,000,000, and there remained $200,000,000 to pay. This totals for all reconstruction expenses $4,115,000,000, but on April 1, 1931, only $1,256,000,000 had been received from Germany.

Britain and Italy.

Great Britain's policy since the war has been to ask in reparations and other debts only as much as she paid to the United States in reimbursement of war-time loans.

Until the Hoover moratorium put a temporary end to all payments, the British Empire was receiving 23.05 per cent of all the reparations payments from Germany.

Germany has paid Italy about $85,000,000, three-fourths of it in goods, and mos of that in coal.

The original claims of the allies, mostly of France and Belgium, amounted to about $100,000,000,000.

The Reparations Commission asked the Governments to lay their claims before it and when this was done the commission approved bills for slightly more than half that amount.

Germany protested and the commission set the total of all payments at $53,809,000,000.

The Dawes plan did not set a total, but the Young plan calls for the payment of about $26,546,000,000, or half of the total which the original commission decided Germany ought to pay.

Austria's $20,000,000 Credit Extended to Dec. 31 by Bank.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. — The group of American and European banks which advanced a $20,000,000 credit to leading Austrian commercial banks have agreed to extend this credit until Dec. 31, 1932.

Under the new standstill arrangement payments by the debtor Austrian banks will be spread over the year in small amounts. In this way, it is expected to maintain the stability of Austria's currency by easing strain on foreign exchange transfers caused by heavier payments.

American banks hold only a small part of the $20,000,000 total. Their interest in the new arrangement lies largely in the indication it affords that a similar extension may be arranged for the short-term credits extended by banks of this and other countries to German institutions.

Bankers Said to Have Agreed to New German Credits.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—Renewal of Germany's short-term credits, amounting to 4,400,000,000 marks (about $1,000,000,000) upon payment of 250,000,000 marks, was said by the Vossiche Zeitung today to have been agreed upon by a committee of foreign bankers.

The newspaper said the Wiggin plan would be adopted, under which 200,000,000 marks would be consolidated into five-year credits bearing 6 per cent interest. The remainder of the 4,400,000,000 marks would be renewed for one year on payment of 5 per cent interest.

The committee, the newspaper said, also was discussing a plan under which Germany could repay the loans in Reichsmarks, eliminating the necessity of going into the money market to purchase foreign exchange to make payments.

Paris Newspaper Calls for U. S. to Concur on Reparations.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The newspaper Le Temps editorially says that the United States should concur in a provisional arrangement among European nations to smooth out the German reparations controversy and pave the way for a general settlement.

President Hoover's moratorium last summer, the paper said, opened the road for a settlement of provisional character and if the situation in June of 1931 justified such a step the situation now demands a similar initiative, this time of European design.

"A formula for a general moratorium of short duration with sure safeguards for everybody's rights," the paper said, "is susceptible to bring the United States into line, since it proceeds directly from the American initiative."

Gandhi's Wife Gets Six Weeks In Prison; Daughter of Patel And Two Men Also Sentenced

Indian Nationalists Found Guilty at Surat of Participating in Boycott and Civil Disobedience Campaign.

By the Associated Press.

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Gandhi, wife of the Mahatma, was sentenced to Surat today to six weeks in prison for urging villagers to adopt her husband's principles of boycott and civil disobedience. She was arrested several days ago.

When her husband went to jail she asked the policeman to take her, too, but they left her behind.

Mrs. Gandhi suddenly broke her silence. "Why are you giving me only six weeks in prison?" she demanded. "Do you want me free again so quickly to receive blows with my countrymen? I won't remain cuiet even after I am released. Please give me the same sentence you give my sister workers."

The Judge shook his head. "I am helpless," he said. "What is done is done."

Mrs. Gandhi picked up her Hindu books and her spinning wheel and followed the jailer.

Miss Maniben Patel, daughter of the imprisoned president of the Nationalist Congress, was sentenced with Mrs. Gandhi to three and a half months at hard labor and was fined 100 rupees ($25) for assisting at an unlawful assembly.

Sentences of two years at hard labor were imposed on two other leaders of the Nationalist movement. One of them, Abdul Guffar Khan, sometimes called the "frontier Gandhi," told the magistrate who sentenced him that prison terms and criminal charges would get the Government nowhere.

Police in Madras turned a fire hose on a crowd of Nationalist pickets. It had little effect, for the pickets changed to raincoats or bathing suits and withstood the stream.

Indian Nationalists, through their organ, the Free Press Journal, today called upon the nation to refuse co-operation with the three round table conference committees now on the way from London to pave the way for the establishment of constitutional reforms.

"The Government pronounced a death sentence upon the Nationalist Congress," th declaration said, "and the congress must now pronounce sentence of death on the Government."

"Any co-operation which rests upon a denial of human dignity," it continued after declaring there can be no co-operation while the present repressive decrees continue in force, "and a denial of human rights, or any in which life, liberty and property are held cheaply is a denial of all that is ennobling in life.

"In the name of law and order the Government has trampled on individual liberties, denied elementary rights of freedom and expression of political opinion, imprisoned and deported people on the flimsiest grounds, violated the sanctity of property and resorted to charges of police armed with staves, resulting in loss of lives and the establishment of a reign of terrorism."

Under the circumstances, it said, it is the duty of all citizens to register their protest by abstaining from all co-operation within the limits of the law.

"Let there be no illusions," the declaration warned. "Reforms by a Government which is dead to all sense of its obligations to humanity can never lead to any beneficial results."

The Bombay Chronicle, another Nationalist newspaper, said if the conference committees and the Government expect to succeed in their reforms they are "reckoning without their host."

U. S. TO DISPATCH MORE MARINES TO NICARAGUA

Reinforcements Needed to Supervise Elections There, Secretary Adams Says.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Secretary of the Navy Adams said today additional Marines would be sent to Nicaragua to help supervise the elections there. He said additional troops would be a "necessity" during the elections.

He added that no decision had been reached as to the number of men to be dispatched or the date of their sailing.

The President has appointed Rear Admiral C. H. Ward to supervise the elections.

The present force of marines in Nicaragua is deemed inadequate for supervision of the 2000 polling places in the country. There are now about 980 marines in Nicaragua. It is estimated that 300 to 500 more would be required to supplement forces already there and the Nicaraguan National Guard, which is marined trained.

A gradual withdrawal of the marines has been in process for seven or eight months.

URGES U. S. TO TAX INVESTMENTS ABROAD

Farm Bureau Submitting Program Sees Opportunity for $1,500,000,000 Revenue.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A broad tax program, one point of which would tap the income flowing from American investments in foreign countries, was put before the House Ways and Means Committee today by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the Federation, estimated his program would produe $1,500,000,000 of revenue annually.

Other points on his program included:

Increasing the corporation income tax rates from 12 to 15 per cent. This increase, he said, would bring $750,000,000 annually. The Treasury program would boost this tax to 12½ per cent.

He proposed integrating and increasing the rates of the estate and gift taxes to bring in a billion dollars a year instead of $12,000,000.

He said this could be secured by a 10 per cent tax on the $10,000,000,000 annually he estimated changed hands through inheritance.

Personal income tax rates, Gray said, should be increased in the upper brackets, and that lower income earners should be reached by lower exemptions. He favored $1000 exemption for a single person and $2500 for a married person and $300 exemptions for dependents.

He expressed opposition to a general sales tax and to select sales or miscellaneous taxes except in the extreme emergencies.

Gray said $16,000,000,000 was invested abroad and added:

"Some sort of supertax rate should be imposed on these earnings, thus making our citizens who desire to invest abroad pay the public at home in the form of a higher tax payment for the increased competition and other unfair conditions developed in the domestic field by such foreign investments."

Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills has opposed such a tax.

ECONOMISTS UNITE IN OFFERING PLAN TO REVIVE TRADE

For (1) Reconstruction Corporation (2) Government Economy (3) Liberal Reserve Policy.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A large group of economists of which Dr. Arren M. Persons, formerly of Harvard University, is chairman, after two months of interchange of opinion, have agreed upon a program of economic action which they believe should revivify business, restore values, increase employment and strengthen banks.

Dr. Persons, in an interview with the Associated Press today, said the program has been indorsed by trade associations, Congressmen, Government economists, farm organizations and prominent individuals. Its success, he said, depended upon wide co-operation of important interests, particularly industrials and bankers, and that it seemed assured.

They start out from these four conclusions:

"1—Though some important adjustments of various elements of cost and overhead remain to be made, the general contraction of credit and deflation of prices have gone far enough.

"2—The United States can have substantial business recovery without waiting for a solution of Europe's difficulties.

"3—Recovery is possible, on a sound money basis without recourse to monetary panaceas, but—

4—The depression will not cure itself, and requires prompt, intelligent and vigorous action."

Four Steps Recommended.

Then the economists recommend the four following steps:

"1—The enactment of the bill establishing the reconstruction finance corporation to deal more effectively with emergency situations;

"2—Proper economy in municipal, state and national budgets, and increased taxation;

"3—A liberal Federal Reserve policy, designed to check credit contraction and encourage some expansion;

"4—A commercial banking policy co-operating with the reserve banks in checking credit decreases and encouraging increases, including

"(a) An increase in sound investments.

"(b) Co-operation in aiding necessary Treasury financing.

"(c) Borrowing from Federal Reserve banks when necessary to meet these and other sound needs."

The Four Ends Sought.

They express the conviction that prosecution of these policies is sound, involves no important risks, and should exert powerful pressure toward these four ends:

"1—Stopping the downward trend of prices.

"2—Returning hoarded money to the banks.

"3—Restoring the normal value of securities, and

"4—Starting the beginning of business recovery."

Economists and others in the action taken, Dr. Persons explained, freely offer their services "in a nonpartisan and disinterested movement to defeat further economic suffering and destruction, but other interests, particularly industrialists and bankers, must be relied upon to make any program effective." The program, he said, was not drawn up to advance any private interest of members of the group, other than as private interests may be served by general business recovery.

Two Steps Completed.

"The first problem," Dr. Persons said, "was to ascertain if there was a sound economic program which could be expected to work, and the second was so to develop it that a representative group of leading economists of the United States could jointly indorse it. The third problem was to obtain the support of all interests in the country necessary to make the program effective. The first two problems are solved, and the third is in rapid process of solution.

"United on a sound program, we can and will defeat the forces of

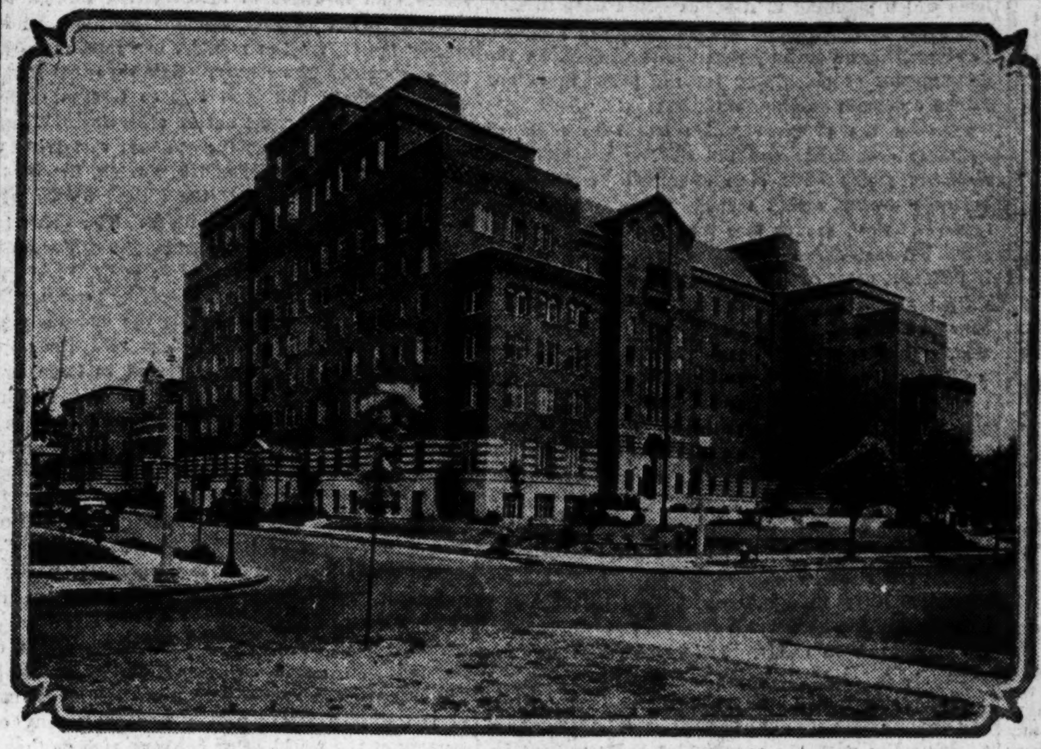
Winner of Tablet From Development Bureau



DEPAUL HOSPITAL, Kingshighway and Spalding avenue, awarded a bronze tablet by the Civic Development Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, which held it to be the only structure in St. Louis, completed during 1930, which merited that recognition.

HOSPITAL WINS AWARD FOR BEST BUILDING

Six Other Buildings Get Honorable Mention From Civic Development Group.

Awards were presented to the owners and those interested in the construction of seven buildings completed during 1930, at the Chamber of Commerce dinner last night by Luther Ely Smith, chairman of its civic development bureau, which sponsored a better buildings competition.

De Paul Hospital, a $1,750,000 structure on the northwest corner of Kingshighway and Spalding avenue, was held to be the only building completed during the year which met the requirements sufficiently to justify the award of a bronze tablet.

Buildings were entered in seven classifications and the rules provided that such tablets might be awarded to one or more buildings in each class. The hospital, operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, was in the class for public buildings. Certificates of merit were given to the architects, O'Meara & Hills; the engineers, Schutt-Meier Co., and the contractors, W. J. Lynch Co. The tablet was awarded for "good general design and appearance both as to exterior and interior, good mechanical equipment and high quality of workmanship."

Honorable mention was accorded six other buildings, and certificates of merit were awarded to those associated in their design and construction. These were:

Small residence—English cottage at 6243 Delor street, constructed for Lammert's, owned by W. C. Sloain; A. B. M. Corrubia, architect.

Large residence—6121 Lindell boulevard, owned by Morton Jourdan; Maritz & Young architects.

Public building—Sixth District Police Station, Ruskin and West Florissant avenue; Mauran, Russell & Crowell, architects.

Ecclesiastical—Scruggs Memorial M. E. Church, South, Grace and Fairview avenues; Ferrand & Fitch, architects.

Commercial — Continental Life Insurance Co. building, Grand boulevard and Olive street; William B. Ittner, Inc., architect and engineer.

Industrial — International Shoe Co. warehouse, Fifteenth and Morgan streets; Herbert Reinhardt, designer, James Black Masony and Contracting Co., contractor.

No awards were made in the classes for multiple dwellings and educational buildings.

Because few buildings were constructed during 1931, the period of the next competition, will be extended to include 1932 and, if necessary, 1933.

JAPANESE DRIVEN BACK BY CHINESE AT MANY PLACES

Tokio's Losses Heavy in Several Days of Fighting —Battle Still in Progress Along Railroad.

By the Associated Press.

TIENTSIN, China, Jan. 15.—Chinese newspapers say Chinese regular troops and volunteers have reoccupied Tahushan after 48 hours of severe fighting with the Japanese, who lost 100 dead and wounded before they retreated from the city.

Both Chinese and Japanese newspapers say the Japanese have been forced to retreat from the positions they occupied along the Peiping-Mukden Railway following their advance to Chinchow and that their losses in dead and wounded have been heavy in the several days of fighting. The Japanese were defeated in most places, the newspapers say.

The battle is still in progress along the railway between Tahushan and Tungliao, Chinese advices say, as a result of the Japanese drive into Jehol Province.

Japanese papers print details of the fighting that has been going on along the railway since Jan. 9 and say 5000 Chinese troops and volunteers raided various Japanese posts, inflicting many casualties on the Japanese, especially at Chinsi, where a Japanese detachment was surrounded and virtually annihilated. The Japanese papers do not give the number of dead.

Japanese military headquarters here say no information has been received regarding the outcome of the fighting and merely states it is going on. Other Japanese sources say the trouble in that area is due largely to the presence there of the Third Chinese Cavalry Brigade and several infantry units that withdrew to Southern Jehol Province after the evacuation of Chinchow and the Japanese advance on Shanhaikwan.

China Denies It Dropped Overtures to Japanese.

By the Associated Press.

NANKING, Jan. 15.—Eugene Chen, Chinese Foreign Minister, today said reports at Tokio earlier this week that he had discontinued overtures to Japan regarding a settlement of the Manchurian controversy on receipt of United States Secretary of State Stimson's recent note were "fabrications." The Tokio reports, which were credited to authoritative quarters, said Chen had approached the Japanese with fundamental proposals as a preliminary step in negotiations between the two countries.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Headed for Disaster.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE futility of such measures as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been demonstrated by the experience of the National Credit Corporation. Only an insignificant proportion of the pledged resources of the latter has been extended to the banks of the country. It is to be admitted that the scope of the new organization is more extensive than that of the credit corporation, but the fact remains that it is still possible to obtain credit upon good security, and any institution which will make advances upon any other kind is headed for disaster. Furthermore, the renewed confidence which the National Credit Corporation was intended to create has not been forthcoming, and there is no reason for believing that the Reconstruction Corporation will be any more successful in this direction.

It must be admitted, besides, that the factors pointed out by Senator Norris in the closing minutes of the debate on the bill establishing this new behemoth are worthy of serious consideration. After insisting that the whole proposal was neither wanted nor understood by the Senate, which was nevertheless going to vote for it, he contended that the credit of the nation was to be turned over to those very financial interests which have brought us to the sorry state in which we now find ourselves.

Such action has, in the past, caused the business men of this country to acquire a feeling that the Government will "look out for them" in time of need, and has resulted in a lessening of what beneficial effects might be derived from a depression. It is conceivable that if our financiers knew from experience that they would be left to their own devices when in difficulties, partially, at least, of their own brew, they would act more cautiously in regard to situations leading up to a crisis.

A Dog Averts a Tragedy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

TWO young women went for a hike through the snow of Rock Creek Canyon, Colo. A blizzard overtook them; the women faltered and fell. It began to look like another Alpine tragedy. But they had an escort—Queen, a police dog, which already had broken the path for them for several miles. Now Queen stood over them, the snow peppering her body, giving her cry of distress. The dog was heard, help arrived and the women were rescued.

This is just another example of the not infrequent occasions when the misunderstood and much maligned German shepherd saves its master from death. Popularly believed, too often, to be a vicious and dangerous creature, the police dog normally is really a most sagacious and trustworthy fellow. If he appears to be fierce, then he is fierce because that is his business. J. K.

Evidence of Hoarding.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A NEWS item says, "An increase of $758,180,985 in money circulation in the nation during the last 12 months was shown today in the circulation statement of the Treasury." What does this mean? Why do we need nearly a billion dollars more to buy less merchandise, commodities, labor, necessities, luxuries, etc., at reduced prices? Will continued applications of this rejuvenator make money like last year's fair tickets? Is this the same remedy that Germany tried and almost got cured or something? Will you please answer with a little editorial so I can find out what it is all about? CURIOUS.

(The news item referred to does not state that the country's supply of money has been increased, but notes an increase in that part of the supply which is in circulation. An increase of that amount is an evidence of hoarding and not inflation of the currency. Only an increase in the whole amount of currency could be evidence of inflation.—Editor's note.)

For Lower Taxi Fares.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE recent temporary strike of the union taxicab drivers resulted in the drivers taking cuts in their earnings, but the public is not given any consideration whatsoever, and rates of fares demanded by these companies remain the same as in the years of prosperity and high prices.

The writer spent last summer in Europe and found taxicab rates considerably lower than those existing here. One can ride all over Paris for 40 cents, and the same condition exists in Berlin and Vienna. When you ask the taxicab driver how much gasoline costs, he will tell you 32 cents a gallon. This price varies, being 40 cents in Italy and 35 cents in Vienna. The reason that their fares are low, even with those high gasoline prices, is that people constantly use this mode of transportation and European cabs are always busy. Here in St. Louis, cabs are parked for hours at certain prominent corners. People hesitate to use this mode of transportation when it costs $2 to go from Hamilton and Page to the Statler Hotel.

If the cab companies lowered their fares, they would do a much more thriving business and would not have to cut wages. W. E. R.

PROGRESSIVE PLANNING REPORT.

One of the outgrowths of the National Progressive Conference which was held in Washington last spring was the appointment of a committee of distinguished economists to study and report upon the practicability of national economic planning. The report of this committee has been published as a supplement to the current issue of the New Republic. The report outlines, for the first time, the actual problems which planning in America would have to face, and gives real content to the conception of planning by suggesting an entirely practicable program for the development of machinery for the planning of our future economic development.

Between the program which has been prepared by these economists and the specific proposals for planning which have been advanced by American business during recent months there is a striking contrast. Both groups face the same economic situation, but each approaches its solution from a radically different point of view. The plan advanced by the United States Chamber of Commerce, for instance, runs in terms of "equalizing production to consumption," "gauging output to consuming capacity," "controlling the tendency of productive capacity to outrun ability to buy" and "putting business on a profitable basis." This is to be accomplished, it is contended, by repealing the anti-trust laws and permitting industry deliberately to curtail its output. The objective is, in a word, monopoly. This is usually accompanied, as is the case in the famous Swope plan, with the proffer of insurance to labor against the risks of accident, unemployment and old age. It is social insurance which gives the monopoly pill its palatable coating. "We are ready to trade you," says business, in effect, "social insurance for monopoly."

The progressives, too, recognize that production and consumption are out of adjustment, but they have no sympathy with the proposal of business continuously to curtail output until it is brought within the limits of profitable sale. "A policy of restriction," says the committee, "is no remedy for a condition whose chief evil is failure to use our existing powers for production. General limitation of output will not produce general prosperity."

So the progressive plan runs in terms of increasing consumer demand to the point where it will coincide with human need and completely absorb the growing output of an expanding industrial system. This means, of course, the institution of wage policies which will support the purchasing power of labor, unemployment reserve funds which will stabilize consumer demand, tax policies which will remove the burden of taxation from the smaller incomes, and other means of "increasing the proportion of income going to the majority in the lower income ranges, who will spend more of it for the products of mass production." The type of planning which Mr. Swope has proposed would not extend beyond the limits of an individual industry. It is not national planning. It is industrial planning. The great syndicates which he would set up might profit largely from the curtailment of output. But they would do so at the expense of labor, at the expense of the consumer and of general social well-being. The progressives, on the contrary, would plan, in the interests of the whole nation, continuously to raise "the purchasing power and the standard of living of the people to the full extent which our powers of production make possible." There is a very real danger that Mr. Swope's powerful monopolistic combines would dominate the political state.

It is the purpose of the planning project which has been advanced by this committee of economists rather to control monopoly in the interest of the larger community. Their report will do much to advance our thinking upon the implications and the possibilities of the planning ideal.

NO BONUS FOR TRIPLETS.

Oklahoma ought to have a "reward or bounty" for triplets, thinks Claude Risenhoover, head of a family which recently increased by three the population of Sallisaw, in that State. Asking for his triplet bonus, he wrote with numerical exactitude to the State Treasurer: "I have three, two girls and one boy. They are 2 months old and doing fine." No, this proud father will get no bonus. But if he owned a railroad instead of merely three babies, he could march down to Washington very shortly and draw a million or so directly from the Federal Treasury. If he represented the dwindling Risenhoover Savings & Trust Co. instead of the thriving Risenhoover family, he would have an official welcome in place of an official rebuff. He has discovered another of the many reasons why it doesn't pay to have triplets.

PICAYUNE STUFF.

Apparently the Government is going ahead with its determination to erect in St. Louis a five-story Federal building instead of the 10-story structure that is needed. Both the Treasury Department and the Department of Justice, despite strong arguments for the larger building, have approved the five-story plans. This is picayune stuff, and reflects no credit on the intelligence of the bureaucrats who have made the decision.

One of the reasons for the new building is that the old one is inadequate to accommodate local Government offices, with the result that the Government is paying $75,000 a year rent for space in private buildings. It will still be paying rent if a five-story building is supplied. St. Louis has been assured by the Treasury Department that in a few years the remaining five stories may be added. To do so would add considerably to the expense. As Congressman Cochran told his colleagues in the House the other day, it will cost $800,000 more to do the job piecemeal than to do it all now.

Of course, the Government is short of funds, yet it manages to maintain a large building program in Washington, where the depression is not nearly so severe in its effect as in industrial cities. Mr. Cochran points out that three large buildings, to cost some $20,000,000, have just been started in Washington, one for the Department of Justice, another for the Postoffice and a third to be known as the Archives Building. He adds:

> Not one dollar of the emergency fund has up to this time been used to help those out of employment in my city—St. Louis.

The new Federal building project has been dragged from pillar to post for four years and now, with the site selected and everything ready for construction, we get half the building that is needed. At a time when 100,000 St. Louisans need work, and materials are low in price, it is a shame not to spend $1,200,000 more and do the job right.

SENATOR JOHNSON'S GREAT PUBLIC SERVICE.

While disagreeing with Senator Johnson's opposition to the moratorium, we are far from agreeing that the Senate Finance Committee has done the bankers an injustice in investigating foreign loans.

As a matter of fact, Senator Johnson, who has chiefly prosecuted the inquiry, has rendered a great public service. The country was aware that immense sums of money had been lent to foreign countries after the war. It could not be otherwise. When the United States was a debtor country, vast loans were made over here by the English, French, Belgians and Hollanders. The war left the United States with a wealth beyond its domestic needs. The thing to do was to put that wealth to work among debtor nations, which was what we did.

But except for Senator Johnson, however mistaken he might have been in opposing the moratorium, we would not know how some of these foreign loans were made, the discreditable part played in them by our State Department, and the hollow fashion in which our bankers sometimes took their own greedy share and left investors to hold the bag. If something still remains hidden that the people should know, we hope to see the committee dig it out.

The New York Times thinks that "in its zeal to expose a few cases of imprudent foreign loans," the committee "appears to be ignoring the economic and commercial principles which caused that general movement." We do not think that is the case. The committee is quite aware of the functions of a creditor nation, but as a creditor nation we cannot hope to continue all the practices which have made finance in the United States unlike finance in any other country of the world. Our bankers, rich as they are, have not the wealth to meet the world's expectations of the United States as a creditor nation. They must get the money from the people of the United States, and to do so they will have to have more regard for the risk investors take. The revelations before the committee have had the effect of making the investor wary, and there is no telling how long it will be before he can be tempted back into the field of foreign loans.

That depends upon the bankers. They cannot continue to sell the people loans which they know to be worthless. Nor can they hope very long to enjoy such extra-governmental connivance as that which stopped the mouths of our foreign representatives when they tried to sound a warning, and used a loan as a club with which to secure a concession for American oil interests.

Mr. Briand has been quitting Cabinet posts as long as the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. To express it mathematically, he has been in and out of more Cabinets than Sarah Bernhardt made farewell tours. We have quit writing finis to Mr. Briand's career. There will be another crisis. Messages will be sent to the Normandy farm. The old fire horse will gallop back to Paris and presto! another Briand Ministry. In the meantime, we wish him luck, piscatorially and otherwise. THE ATTACK ON MELLON.

Andrew W. Mellon has been Secretary of the Treasury since March 4, 1921, and, if he serves until the end of Mr. Hoover's term, he will have established a record for tenure of that office second only to that of Albert Gallatin, who served through Jefferson's two terms, Madison's first term and several months of the latter's second administration. That appears to be Mr. Mellon's intention and ambition, but Representative Patman of Texas seems serious in his attempt to disqualify the last Cabinet survivor of Mr. Harding's official family and to file impeachment charges.

Mr. Patman may have the law on his side, in citing that old Federal statute which declares that a Secretary of the Treasury may not engage, directly or indirectly, in trade or commerce. The point was raised long ago by former Senator Reed of Missouri, who reiterated it on several occasions. Yet friends of the Secretary insisted he had complied with the statutory conditions by disposing of many interests and so arranging his affairs that he possessed control in none of the numerous Mellon concerns. That such a captain of industry could divorce himself absolutely from business is literally impracticable, we should say. Indeed, it is a question whether any man eligible even for consideration for the office could maroon himself on a business no man's land. The alleged disqualification might, we imagine, have been preferred against other incumbents at any time in the last 50 years.

Mr. Mellon is, after all, only a symptom of the times. If business is to rule the land, we must expect to see men like Mr. Mellon elevated to places of power in which they lend themselves to the suspicion that they feather their own nests, whether they do so or not. The better plan is to have statesmen rule the state and leave business men to their own affairs.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND THE DEPRESSION.

The report of Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, Surgeon-General of the United States Public Health Service, that the American people were in better health during 1931 than in any year for which figures are available, would make better reading did not one realize that Dr. Cumming's survey does not tell all of the story. That the death rate, both for adults and infants, was the lowest in history is all well and good, and it throws credit to a year whose claims for credit were few and far between. But death is not the only sign of health conditions. Thousands of children who are underfed or fed improper foods do not die, but grow up to be ailing adults, incapable of keeping up with their well developed fellows, charges, more or less, upon others. For, as Miss Grace Abbott, realistic head of the Children's Bureau, says, it is the children who suffer the most serious lasting losses in a period of depression. Physical breakdowns 20 years from now will be directly traceable to malnutrition today. That is where the harm of 1931, and 1932, for that matter, lies in connection with the health of the country, and to overlook it would be woefully shortsighted.

NOT COVERED WITH GLORY.

The Deflation of Government

By Walter Lippmann.

IT is evident that office-holders have been the last great group of people to realize that the new era is over. One of the major tasks of the next few months will be to change fundamentally their whole state of mind. Every other section of the people now realizes that the boom is over and that it is necessary to bring costs and prices into balance at a much lower level than that of 1928-1929. All except the office-holders. They are still at the stage where most of us were two years ago, the stage of explaining why they cannot cut or why they can cut so little. For they have not yet adjusted their minds to the fact that they must cut, and that if they must they can.

Take, for example, three of our largest governmental agencies: the Federal Government, the State of New York and the City of New York.

The President has explained that out of the total appropriations less than half "is available for consideration in seeking means to curtail our expenditures." How does he arrive at such a figure? He does so by adding the cost of the debt, which is a quarter of the cost, to the expenditure on the veterans, which is another quarter. These he calls "fixed charges," but there is nothing "fixed" about a billion dollars for the veterans, which is as much money as the whole Government cost before the war.

These thousand millions are "fixed" only by political fear, not by the real and undeniable needs of the veterans. It is an absolutely safe assumption that, without depriving any veteran of his just due, the sum could be cut considerably by eliminating waste. It is simply inconceivable that it can cost such a gigantic sum as is now spent to provide for the veterans of an army of whom only about a quarter were ever within sound of the enemy's guns.

Passing by the veterans and the public debt, there still remain expenditures twice those before the war. Admittedly, governmental activity has had to expand. Still the fact is that business and agriculture are adjusting themselves to a level of incomes a good deal nearer the pre-war than the post-war level. How can the Federal Government seriously maintain that it is facing the realities of the present critical adjustment when it is still handing out enormous subsidies, making huge unproductive expenditures and is failing to reduce salaries?

These are not pleasant subjects to talk about. But this is a very unpleasant depression, in which we are gradually learning that our notion that we had suddenly grown fabulously rich was the illusion of inflation; that, after making up the losses of the war, we are at best somewhat but not very much richer than we used to be, and that we are compelled to bring our greatly expanded governmental expenditures into some reasonable relation with our real wealth.

From the Governor of New York we hear the same explanations as from Washington. He has a budget in which "well over two-thirds cannot readily be reduced either by the Governor or the Legislature unless they decide to ignore the established order and urge, as a matter of policy, that the State withdraw its support from commitments already made or discontinue established activities which are rendering distinct services to the social welfare of our citizens."

Everybody knows that official expenditures cannot "readily be reduced." The question is whether they can be reduced, and the failure to discuss a reduction of official salaries is prima facie evidence that Gov. Roosevelt, without impairing the essential obligations of the State to those in need, might very well save more money than he is saving.

The point is that the official mind has not yet adjusted itself to the situation, and a real will to reduce does not yet exist. Nobody is proposing to cut relief for the unemployed—in fact, it may have to be increased — or in the care of the States' wards. But that the State could reduce elsewhere if it had the mind to may be asserted. It spent less money 10 years ago and it could spend less today.

* * *

The City of New York is the most unregenerate of our examples, and Mayor Walker is a prize specimen of the happy-go-lucky spender of the boom period. The Comptroller's summary of New York City's finances for the five years, 1926 to 1930, offers a perfect illustration of what went on during the bad old good days of the inflation. The annual cost of the debt has been increased 50 per cent, the administrative expenses of the city have increased about 33 1-3 per cent, taxes have increased 40 per cent. What supports these borrowings and expenditures? The answer is, real estate. The assessed valuation was jacked up nearly 40 per cent. In other words, the city borrowed and spent and taxed on the basis of the boom in real estate. The boom is over. Yet, when it is suggested to the Mayor of New York that he cannot go on borrowing and spending as if real estate values were booming, he complains to high heaven and the Senate that the bankers are squeezing him.

What is squeezing him is the same thing which has been squeezing farmers, manufacturers, railroads, wage earners, investors and bankers, namely, the fall in prices which will not permit anyone to borrow and spend at the boom level.

The office-holder is so slow to learn the truth about what is going on because in a time like this he is specially protected and does not, like other men, have to face the music. His job is safe, his salary increases in value through enhanced purchasing power, and is tax exempt. His employer, the Government, can obtain money. The Federal Government, the State and the City of New York can obtain income if they have to, for they have the power to tax. Therefore, these office-holders are the last body of men to abandon the old inflationary mentality. But the time has come for them to abandon it.

All over this country the states, municipalities and villages have to go through what agriculture and business have gone through. They have to deflate. It is estimated that state and local governments have increased their expenditures eightfold in the last 25 years. The American nation is not eight times as rich. Therefore, the reform of government finance is one of the urgent inescapable tasks in the program of recovery.

Stimson's Internationalism

Preston W. Slosson, Associate Professor of History, University of Michigan, in Current History.

LIFE often wastes its best dramatic situations on essentially undramatic actors. Henry Lewis Stimson, the present Secretary of State, is a case in point. Happiness to Col. Stimson means horses, dogs, a good gun, a rolling countryside to ride, a summer home in the more rural part of Long Island, and neighbors to drop in by the evening fire. But Nicaragua, the Philippines and Washington dragged Cincinnatus away from his plow and eventually into international affairs of the first magnitude.

President Hoover and Secretary Stimson have formed a good team. Both are reticent, almost inarticulate; both came into politics from the outside without mastering the arts of electioneering and party management; both are conservative in domestic politics and internationalist in world outlook. President Hoover has not treated Secretary Stimson as President Wilson did Bryan or Lansing, as a mere clerk to sign diplomatic correspondence embodying the presidential policies; neither has he simply turned the State Department over to his Secretary, as President Harding did to Hughes.

There are several indications that, with a freer hand, Secretary Stimson would have followed a slightly bolder foreign policy, but the difference would not have been great. Both Hoover and Stimson are kindly disposed toward the League of Nations and devoid of the parochial fears that trouble the Borahs and the Johnsons, but both are moderate men, inclined if anything toward over-caution, and they are well aware of the checks imposed by a reactionary Senate, a suspicious press and a largely indifferent public.

The steps thus far taken have been timid enough—a one-year moratorium on international war debts, a slight naval limitation, an "observer" at the League. Even if this winter should add to them membership in the World Court, the United States will be still trailing in the rear of the international procession instead of boldly leading it. But our direction has changed; we are walking, however haltingly, toward the world and no longer away from it. It is for this right-about-face that President Hoover and Secretary Stimson may be longest remembered when their work is set down in the book of history.

OUR UNHEROIC GANGSTERS.

From the Des Moines Tribune.

THOSE who have any inclination to make heroes of city gangsters will open their eyes over the disclosure that one of New York's gunmen blondines his hair and has his eyebrows plucked. Some actual good may come out of the revelation that the average Broadway gunman is a sissy, as well as a coward.

Sentimentalists and hero worshipers should understand that there is nothing of the Robin Hood in these predatory sneaks. Even to compare them to the traditional bad man of the plains is like comparing the weasel to the lion. They do their shooting in gangs and always catch their victim when he is off guard or helpless. The two-gun man of the dark street becomes a lady-killer and a tailor's dummy by daylight. Al Capone has a penchant for frequent enamelings of his finger nails, and "Three-Gun" Crowley carried a vial of perfume when he was captured.

Whenever one gangster, single-handed, does his enemy to death, it is a safe bet that the wound will be found in the victim's back.

VENING OF BRAHMS BY ETHICAL SOCIETY

Second Program in Chamber Music Series Given at Sheldon Memorial.

THE chamber music activities of the Ethical Society were continued last night at the Sheldon Memorial auditorium when a mixed group, headed by Max Steindel, presented a program devoted entirely to the works of Johannes Brahms. The first concert of this series took Schumann as its inspiration and the last of the Romantic triptych will be Richard Strauss. This concert will take place March 24.

The chief number of last night's program was the Brahms F minor quintet, which was given a very vigorous and, on the whole, a comprehending interpretation by the Steindel string quartet, assisted by Mrs. Corinne Frederick at the piano. This work, like so much of Brahms' music, digs deep in spite of its outward lyricism, and requires something more than a mere command of the notes. The slow movement suffered somewhat from an apparent uncertainty as to its meaning on the part of the players. The vigorous conclusion, however, impressed the large audience very much.

The beautiful trio in E flat, for horn, violin and piano, was given an excellent performance by Edward Murphy, playing the horn, and Josef Faerber, playing the violin. Mrs. Frederick delivered the piano part with precision, spirit and musicianly feeling.

The program was rounded out to an unnecessary length by the inclusion of the Brahms "Liebeslieder," sung by a quartet consisting of Merleta D. Davis, soprano; Thelma Carroll, contralto; J. Glenn Lee, tenor, and Frank H. Spahn, baritone.

The concert lasted nearly two hours. A chamber music concert is exceeding the average audience's capacity for intelligent concentration when it goes beyond an hour and a half. Even so, last night's audience gave every evidence of enthusiastic approval after every number.

DR. JOHN WESLEY HILL ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB

Denounces Economists Who He Says Want Government to Support People.

Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor of Lincoln Memorial University, Cumberland Gap, Tenn., author of a biography of Abraham Lincoln, and Republican orator in past campaigns, spoke before the Kiwanis Club at Hotel Jefferson yesterday. Regarding the present problems of government, he said in part:

"If this nation is to continue as the embodiment of representative democracy, we must avoid everything which savors of despotism and draw a line of demarcation between regulation and strangulation; between government by commission and government by the people.

"There have arisen in our midst half-baked economists who insist that government should support the people. If, in response to this doctrine of the dole, the American people degenerate from producers into nonproductive parasitical consumers, the government will end nowhere but upon the rocks. Every adventure of government in business has ended in failure."

Costumes of Another Day Displayed at Thrift Party

Socially Prominent Carry Own Lunches to Function, Which Nets $2000 for Welcome Inn.

The fashions of half a dozen generations were on parade—prettily, quaintly or queerly—in the thrift party last night at Hotel Chase for the benefit of Welcome Inn.

Attendance was estimated at 800 and the proceeds, while not fully computed, will exceed $2000, Mrs. James M. Franciscus said today. Every cent of the receipts, except a trivial amount for stamps, will be used for the benefit of the more than 1000 families who obtain food from Welcome Inn. Literally everything was donated and all the 190 persons who took part were volunteers.

Guests in costumes of a decade or a century ago began gathering at the Chase soon after 7 o'clock. Many of the early arrivals brought supper baskets, and hot dogs and tamales, vended by socially prominent women, were available later for those who had dined at home.

At 8 o'clock, Paul Whiteman's orchestras with Mildred Bailey, began to perform. That was the first of several orchestras to play for dancing which continued until after 2 a. m.

The party began with a procession of all the women in old-fashioned dresses, in curious contrast to the varied modern dress of the spectators, for by no means all were in costume. There were evening clothes and sport clothes. There were white linens and a ringmaster's formal regualia. And there were beach pajamas.

First prize for the loveliest costume was awarded to Mrs. Carl Angell of the Park Plaza Hotel, who wore embroidered peach faille with a bustle.

The prize for the oldest costume went to Miss Pauline Kaiser, whose dress had been worn at the court of Napoleon by her great-great-grandmother.

Mrs. Robert N. Hawes, who was Miss Janet Gardner, won the prize for the most fanciful costume.

Mrs. Henry Clarkson Scott won the contest for the most popular, in a close race with Mrs. Oscar Johnson and Mrs. Adalbert von Gontard.

Each of the winners, while the bands played aptly chosen music, promenaded on the arm of James H. Platt, master of ceremonies and busiest man at the ball. Applause came in a crashing crescendo in the appearance of Mrs. Franciscus and Mrs. Nat S. Brown, chairman of Welcome Inn.

West End and St. Louis County attics and storerooms had been ransacked for weeks to obtain costumes for the ball, and what treasures those dusty old trunks had hidden! Somehow there seemed nothing incongruous about women in the dress of 1826 doing the dances of 1932—perhaps for the reason that the foibles of 100 years ago may be "the latest thing" tomorrow.

That possibility was emphasized by the fact that one of the gowns had been worn at the court of Eugenie herself. Nearly all were heirlooms, and several had been worn on occasions of state by women of distinction in the history of St. Louis.

While the modernists played cards, danced the latest jazz, or watched and listened while Clarissa Jeanne Bruere of St. Charles sang and danced, there was much for those who relished the savor of another day. There was, for example, the tintype man. There was a crystal gazer who gazed straight at her clients and told them things no crystal would be likely to suspect. And there were the bartenders, ruddy of cheeks and ruddier of nose, but the bottles behind that bar were wholly an innocuously modern.

DINNER FOR DIPLOMATS HELD AT WHITE HOUSE

Heads of Every Embassy and Legation in the Capital Guests of the Hoovers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—With a table set for 94, President and Mrs. Hoover last night entertained the Ambassadors, Ministers and Charges D'Affairs of every Embassy and Legation in the capital.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson stood near the Chief Executive and first lady as they met formally with the world diplomats in the East Room. Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Mrs. Borah, with Chairman Linthicum of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Mrs. Linthicum, likewise were nearby.

The seats of honor beside the President at the table head fell to Ambassador de Martino of Italy, dean of the diplomatic corps, and Signora de Martino.

After dinner in state dining room, the men retired to the upstairs library for coffee and cigars, while the ladies talked elsewhere. More guests came later. They were invited especially to attend a musicale at which Leonora Corona, soprano, and Gregor Piatigorsky, cellist, were the artists.

WOULD ELIMINATE TOWNSHIPS AND MERGE ILLINOIS COUNTIES

Elimination of townships and reduction of the number of counties in Illinois with a view toward reduction of taxes, were urged by J. Paul Clayton, president of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and vice president of the Central Illinois Public Service Co., in a meeting at Belleville yesterday under the auspices of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce. About 250 business men and city and county officials were present.

"There are too many taxing bodies in the State," Clayton said. "Chicago alone has 418 such groups. Townships and cities are frequently co-extensive and there is duplication of taxing power. The overhead of administration is unnecessarily high.

"Nearly $80,000,000 in taxes was levied in the State last year for road and bridge construction. In 12½ years this would amount to a billion dollars, which was enough to run the United States Government in 1900. After completion of the present $100,000,000 road program next year, the State should confine itself to construction of 200 to 300 miles of roads a year and apply half of the annual $30,000,000 gasoline tax to the general fund, thus reducing real estate taxes.

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 15.—The Worcester Art Museum, Princeton University, the Baltimore Museum of Art and the National Museum of France will collaborate in conducting excavations on the site of the ancient city of Antioch in Syria. Francis H. Taylor, director of the Worcester Museum, announced funds had been pledged for five years.

Art treasures uncovered will be divided among the State of Syria, the Louvre in Paris and the three American institutions. Taylor said the expedition hoped to shed light on the early history of Christianity, particularly in regard to certain references in the Epistles and the Acts of the Apostles. The expedition expects to start in the late spring.

Now she is BEGINNING TO LIVE

An appetizing cereal, bringing "bulk" and Vitamin B, stopped the source of those dull headaches, and premature wrinkles

SHE had been a sufferer from constipation for many years. It sapped her enthusiasm and energy, took the sparkle out of her eyes, and made her skin sallow.

Every night she dosed herself with pills and drugs — in bigger and bigger quantities as time went on. They gave only temporary relief. Then, fortunately, she read an advertisement about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN (just as you are doing now).

She tried this delicious cereal. The results were surprising. She found she had a lot more energy at the end of a day. Her skin lost its sallow hue. Her drabness departed. Her friends discovered in her a new and colorful personality.

How could so simple a thing as eating a cereal effect this great change? Here's why. ALL-BRAN brings two things that check common constipation. "Bulk" which exercises the intestines. Vitamin B which helps give them tone. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar in action to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture, and becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Try two tablespoonfuls daily. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Equally tasty as a cereal with milk or cream, or cooked into fluffy bran muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

17TH CENTURY DUTCH PAINTINGS ON EXHIBIT

Art Museum Displaying Collection Which Includes Several Rembrandts.

A collection of 35 paintings by Dutch artists of the seventeenth century has been placed on view in the new basement galleries at City Art Museum in Forest Park and will remain until the middle of February.

Landscapes and genre paintings predominate in the exhibition which includes works by Rembrandt, Hals, Cuyp, Pieter de Hooch and 22 of their contemporaries. It was assembled by the College Art Association with the aid of Dr. W. R. Valentiner, director of Detroit Institute of Arts and a leading authority on Dutch painting.

Aside from masters such as Rembrandt and Hals, whose work commands respect from whatever point it is viewed, Dutch painters of the period have been admired for their representations of the common things in the lives of those among whom they lived.

Ironic Portrait of Family.

Typical is Jan Steen's ironic "Portrait of the Artist's Family," which shows his wife dozing at the table after a heavy meal while he is enjoying an after-dinner pipe and the children nearby are blowing soap bubbles. In contrast are two portrais by Terborch and "Party on a Terrace" by van den Eeckhout, artists accustomed to beautiful costumes and rich stuffs and skilled in portraying them.

The Rembrandt is a small portrait of an old man, and Hals is represented by a larger portrait of a boy. From Cuyp's brush there is a landscape, a view of the Maas near Dordrecht, and de Hooch, whose "Game of Skittles" is in the museum's permanent collection, is represented by a picture of a mother nursing her child.

Among the others there are hunting scenes by Philip Wouverman and Nicholaes Berghem, "Fish Pond" by Meindert Hobbema, fishing boats off shore in a storm, by Abraham Van Beyeren, and a colorful picture of a laughing girl with a tambourine, by Judith Leyster.

A Golden Age of Art.

"No other country or period," Dr. Valentiner says in his introduction to the catalogue, "created so many excellent works of art. We are told that there lived at this period, in the small space which Holland comprised, nearly 3000 painters, and that every fourth or fifth man was an artist.

"The variety of invention, the taste in composition and color-scheme, the excellent tradition in technic and style well illustrated by our exhibition is astounding. Even though the tendencies of our modern artists are quite in other directions—and every epoch has a right to its own style—they can learn much from the self-control with which these Dutch masters concentrated upon the field for which they were most gifted."

TRADE COMMISSION'S POLICY ON AGREEMENTS CRITICISED

Conferences Relating to Petroleum and Cotton Seed Oil Cited at Senate Hearing.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Federal Trade Commission was criticised today for holding and sanctioning trade practice conferences at a hearing before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. The committee was to pass on the renomination of Commissioner William E. Humphrey of Washington to the commission.

Senator Connally (Dem.), Texas, and Representative Fulmer (Dem.), South Carolina, urged the committee to look thoroughly into the trade practice conferences before reporting on Humphrey. They complained of conferences relating to the petroleum and cotton seed oil industries.

Chairman Couzens called upon Humphrey to explain the commission's policy toward the conferences. The commissioner said they were requested by representatives of the industries to clear up their standing under the law. A member of the commission presided over them but he insisted that the commission did not give its sanction to the agreements.

Representative Fulmer contended that as a result of the conference relating to cotton seed oil, the independent buyers had been driven from the field by a combination in restraint of trade.

"Who presided over that conference for the commission?" inquired Senator Watson (Rep.), Indiana. Fulmer said Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch had presided. McCulloch is a former Arkansas Chief Justice.

Princess Adopts King's Puppy.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—King George is having a hard time getting a dog to replace Snip, his dead pet. The Duke of Gloucester bought Dougal, a black Aberdeen, for his father, but at the palace Dougal turned out to be a bit young. He was always breaking rules which he could not understand. Princess Elizabeth, 5-year-old mistress of the royal family, formed an attachment for the pup and adopted him.

Rumanian Mourning for Sophie.

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 15. — King Carol today ordered a six weeks' mourning period at the Rumanian Court for former Queen Sophie of Greece, out of deference for his former wife, Princess Helen, who is Queen Sophie's daughter. Crown Prince Michael, who loved his grandmother dearly, placed black crepe bands on his hat and arm as soon as he learned of the mourning decree.

SLAYER OF POLICEMAN HANGED IN KANSAS CITY

Of Joe Hershon's Companions, One Is in Prison for Life, Other Killed Self.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 15.—Joe Hershon, 23 years old, robber and gunman, was hanged in the Jackson County jail today for the murder of Patrolman Charles H. Dingman Jr., Dec. 2, 1929. To the last he said he was innocent. He said goodby to his jailers as the trap was sprung.

Of his two associates in a career of crime which ended in the shooting of the policeman, Charles M. Curtis is serving a life term and Gideon Moore, alias John Watson, is dead. Authorities said Moore confessed he fired the fatal shot when the policeman attempted to halt their automobile for questioning. Moore took poison in jail in 1930 and died.

Hanged in Baltimore for Killing Man Kneeling for Mercy.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 15.—William Blocksom, 42 years old, Negro, was hanged in the Maryland penitentiary here early today for the murder of Randolph Taylor, Negro, at Snow Hill last October. The killing occurred in a quarrel over a gambling debt. Witnesses said Blocksom shot Taylor as Taylor knelt on the floor pleading for his life.

By the Associated Press.

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Joseph Senna, 32 years old, was electrocuted in Sing Sing last night for having participated in the murder of two men in a holdup a year ago.

Senna and Manuel Prado held up six customers and two clerks in a store. Anthony Carriera and Emanuel Brianca attacked the robbers with shovels and Senna and Prado shot them to death. Prado was killed by shovel blows. Senna was hurt but recovered. He stood trial

It is for us to decide whether, in 1932, enlightened co-operative action is to replace unenlightened individualistic action, whether business expansion is to replace business contraction and whether the wages of employed labor are to be resumed, or substituted for doles to unemployed."

INDICTED FOR PERJURY IN PERSONAL INJURY SUIT

Three Men Accused When One Admits He Testified Falsely in Claim for Damages.

Indictments charging perjury were voted yesterday by the grand jury against John McCallum, 1817 Kennett place; William Nicely, 2638 Caroline street, and Dewey Baker, 1208 St. Ange avenue.

The indictments will replace warrants previously issued charging the three with false testimony in a personal injury suit tried last September in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court. McCallum at that time was suing for damages on the ground he had suffered injury to his leg in a fall at the Woolworth store at Broadway and Washington avenue.

Confronted on the stand with records of City Hospital which showed he had been treated for a leg ailment for an extended period, he admitted his testimony was untrue.

'CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE' CAMPAIGN BY OUSTED NEGRO STUDENTS

Pupils of Knoxville (Tenn.) College Told to Re-enroll or Leave School.

By the Associated Press.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 15.—About 250 Negro students at Knoxville College started what they termed a "civil disobedience" campaign yesterday after they had been dismissed by the president, Dr. J. Kelly Giffin, and asked to re-enroll or leave the school.

Eugene Johnson, Cincinnati, president of the Student Council, said trouble arose over the disciplining of 40 students for attending a dance and the throwing of a vase of water at a white matron.

Dr. Giffin said: "They are out and every student must reaffirm his pledge of loyalty to the college and its rules."

The college, whose faculty is composed largely of white members, is supported by the United Presbyterian Church. Its student body comes from 22 states.

Johnson and Leonard Cary, football captain, said among demands being made of the college were permission to dance, remittance of penalty imposed on 40 students, fair wages for working students, "clean and proper foods" in the dining room and re-establishment of the Student Council."

60 DAYS FOR WOMAN FOR ATTEMPTED JAIL BREA

She Confesses She Engineered Plot That Failed; Year for Ex-Convict Aid.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Opal Kolin, 19 years old, formerly of St. Louis, was sentenced yesterday to serve 60 days in the House of Correction on her confession that she attempted to help Michael Romano escape from county jail.

Nathan Goldman, 22, parole convict, pointing a pistol at a taxi driver outside the jail Oct. 5, drew a one-year sentence from Judge Rudolph de Sort. He led police to Miss Kolin's home, and she confessed engineering the plot. Romano has been removed to Joliet penitentiary to serve a term of one year to life for robbery.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

ABOVE the timber-line! Another world. Where every breath is like a tonic. Every step a thrill . . . and every man a king. Because the air is pure.

It's purity that distinguishes the good things of life from the almost-good. And that's as true at the cigarette counter as it is 5000 feet above sea level.

Chesterfield's purity starts with tobacco . . . the ripest, finest, purest leaf that money can buy! Mild tobaccos . . . made milder still by cross-blending. Then they're wrapped in paper so pure it burns without taste or odor.

Every ingredient . . . every method used in making Chesterfields is checked by a staff of scientists. Even the air in the factories is washed and changed every 4½ minutes.

By our use of a highly scientific process which was worked out by Dr. Paul Gross, Head Chemist of our Research Department, Chesterfield reaches a state of purity unmatched, to our knowledge, by any other cigarette.

Try the air at the bottom of a mountain. Try it at the top. Try any other cigarette. Then Chesterfield. The difference is purity . . . and what purity means in milder, better taste. You'll find . . . they satisfy!

● A refreshing radio program, too! Chesterfield is on the Columbia Network every night, except Sunday, at 10:30 E.S.T. Nat Shilkret's Orchestra and Alex Gray, popular soloist.

ADEQUATE DIET MUST INCLUDE VITAMINS

Well-Known Chemist Gives Interesting Advice on Food Needs.

Nutritive failure results from the lack in food of any of 37 substances known to chemists, was the statement of Dr. E. V. McCollum of the School of Hygiene and Public Health of Johns Hopkins University, in a lecture given recently at the State College of Pennsylvania.

He discussed particularly the effect of vitamin deficiency in disease, ponting out that the damage done by deficiency of the diet in one vitamin differs strikingly from that of every other.

The importance of the sunshine vitamin D was especially stressed by Dr. McCollum as it affects the bone and tooth structure. He praised the new movement toward vitaminizing certain foods, including bread, which form staple articles on menu for old and young.

He said: "This is a step in the right direction, and we shall doubtless see an extension of such methods of improving staple foods which enter into the diet of everyone as time goes on."

Included in Dr. McCollum's lecture was a strong denial of recent publicity given to the potentially "poisonous" character of vitamin D, which he said was very much exaggerated.

"Publicity has been given to the poisonous character of large doses of vitamin D and some people have become apprehensive of eating foods vitaminized by the addition of activated ergosterol. It is true that vitamin D is a very potent substance, but the amount we require is astonishingly small. Nutrition investigators have established a unit of vitamin D, and 150 such units constitute the therapeutic dose sufficient to prevent rickets in an infant. But since three-billionths of a gram of the pure vitamin furnishes the 150 units, a single gram of pure vitamin would furnisd 50,000,000,000 units. Experiment has shown that a million units are toxic, but this amount would have to be taken daily to cause injury. This is equivalent to the vitamin D content of five tons of bread every day."

SWEET POTATOES WITH MARSHMALLOWS

Boil eight medium-sized potatoes until tender, remove skins and mash. When well mashed, beat in two tablespoons of butter, one-half cup of hot milk, one-half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of cinnamon or nutmeg, and one-fourth teaspoon of paprika. Beat well. Fold in one cup chopped nuts, turn mixture into a buttered baking dish, cover with one-half pound of marshmallows and bake in a moderate oven until marshmallows puff and are brown.

Cranberry Salad.

Cook one quart cranberries in three and one-half cups of boiling water until soft. Strain and add two cups of sugar. Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in one-half cup cold water, then dissolve in the hot mixture. Cool. Add one cup each of diced pineapple seeded and halved white grapes and chopped nuts. Pour into wet molds and set away to chill. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

SALMON LOAF WITH MUSHROOMS

Bone, skin and drain canned salmon flakes. Take two cups, add one cup of soft bread crumbs, two beaten eggs, three-fourths cup of milk, one minced onion, one-half chopped green pepper, one teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of pepper, one tablespoon each of melted butter, cornmeal and lemon juice. Press into shallow greased mold and bake 40 minutes.

Fry medium-sized chopped onion in two tablespoons of butter, add one can mushrooms cut in half. When seared, sprinkle two tablespoons flour over them, add one and one-half cups of milk and simmer few minutes. Add one-half cup of liquid from the can of salmon, one-half diced pimento, 12 chopped stuffed olives and seasoning.

Baked Bean Sandwich.

Drain liquid from beans. Mash with a fork and moisten with enough chili sauce to spread nicely. Spread between thin slices of buttered bread, remove the crusts and cut in halves diagonally.

MOCK DUCK WITH FRUIT DRESSING

Pound one and one-half pounds flank steak. Brown quickly on both sides in hot frying pan. Mix one cup chopped cooked prunes, one teaspoon lemon juice, one beaten egg, one and one-half cups bread crumbs, pepper and salt and place in center of steak.

Lay small pieces of suet on steak after it is rolled and tied. Cover with hot water and bake for one hour in moderate oven. Thicken liquid for gravy.

MOIST POTATO SALAD

Wash six very good potatoes and boil in their jackets until tender, or for about 20 minutes. Drain, cool slightly, peel and slice while still warm. Put in a bowl with a thinly sliced onion for each six potatoes. Mix one teaspoon salt, a little pepper, one-fourth teaspoon celery seed, five tablespoons salad oil and three tablespoons vinegar and pour over the potatoes.

Mix carefully with a fork, keeping the slices whole. Cover and let stand for at least an hour. Then add two tablespoons minced parsley and mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing to taste. Serve on lettuce or shredded cabbage.

TWO LIVER RECIPES WITH POTATOES AND PEPPERS

Remove seeds from six green peppers and parboil for five minutes. Mix together two cups of ground liver, one cup of cooked corn, three tablespoons of chopped onion, one tablespoon of hot fat, one-half cup of milk, two teaspoons of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Fill the pepper shells with this mixture. Cover with pepper tops or bread crumbs. Stand upright in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Heat two tablespoons of fat, add two tablespoons of flour, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper, one teaspoon of salt and mix until smooth. Add one cup of milk slowly and bring to the boiling poont, stirring constantly. Add two cups of cooked liver, cubed, heat thoroughly Bake six medium-sized potatoes . Cut a slice from the top of each potato, scoop out the inside, being careful not to break the shell. Mash and season the potatoes. Fill each potato shell with the creamed liver and place a spoonful of the creamy mashed potato on top. Brown in oven.

Mixed Salad.

Mix chopped ripe olives, chopped celery, onion juice, pepper and salt with small amount of cream cheese. Form into balls and stuff into cavities of canned pears. Serve with mayonnaise with chopped salted nuts on lettuce.

COCOANUT CAKE HAS ITS ENTHUSIASTS TOO

Lemon Filling and Icing Add to Popularity of This Recipe.

"There are so many good chocolate recipes, but it is seldom that one is given for a cocoanut cake," writes a reader of the Home Economics Section.

Perhaps it is because chocolate cake lovers are in the majority; however, cocoanut cake is delicious too, and with this lemon filling and icing it will gain new friends.

Cocoanut Layer Cake.

Grate a fresh cocoanut or buy the fresh grated. Cream together one-half cup shortening and one cup sugar. When well blended add two eggs and beat to a smooth thick cream. Next stir in two-thirds cup milk. Measure two and one-quarter cups sifted cake flour and sift again with two teaspoons baking powder and one-quarter teaspoon salt. Add to the liquid mixture, mix well and pour into two greased medium-sized layer cake pans. Bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes until firm, well risen and delicately browned.

Cool and spread lemon filling on one layer. Sprinkle thickly with the grated cocoanut, cover with the other layer. Spread the top layer with lemon icing and sprinkle with the rest of the cocoanut, making it as thick as possible. If you grate the cocoanut yourself, see that it is squeezed as dry as you can get it.

Lemon Filling.

Mix one cup sugar with one tablespoon cornstarch. Add one well beaten egg and two tablespoons cold water. Stir constantly over a slow fire until thickened and boiling. Add one-third cup lemon juice and the grated rind of a lemon. Remove from the fire and cool before using.

Lemon Icing.

Put two tablespoons lemon juice, the grated rind of one-half lemon and two teaspoons water in a bowl, add confectioners' sugar gradually, beating hard, until the mixture is thick enough to spread smoothly. It will make about two and one-half cups.

Banana and Marshmallow Shortcake.

Make individual shortcakes. Split and butter while hot and spread layer with sliced bananas and small marshmallows cut into eighths. Garnish with whipped cream.

FRUIT COCKTAIL

ake a heavy syrup of three s of sugar and half a cup of r, cooking slowly. Cool and l juice of one lemon. Dice three nges, two grapefruits, one can ed pineapple and one and one-lf cups cooked and drained nes.

Take juice of all these fruits d add to lemon and syrup. Strain and chill. Chill fruit also, place fruit in glasses and pour syrup over all.

Creaming Made Easy.

In cold weather, when the ingredients and utensils are likely to be chilled, a tablespoon or two of warm (not hot) water added to the shortening will make creaming with the sugar easier, and will not affect the texture of the cake.

PLANNING THE MENU; RECIPES FOR WEEK

Fricasseed Chicken With Savory Gravy, Spice Pudding and Potato and Orange Combination.

Chicken fricassee served with boiled rice and a savory gravy seasoned with beaten egg, lemon juice and paprika makes the main course for Sunday dinner in the week's menus published today. There will be enough stock left from cooking the chicken to make soup for Monday night. If you are rather short on it, add a can of asparagus or celery soup and a little milk to make up enough.

Canned or stewed dried figs are used for breakfast on Monday, with a little diced orange added to cut some of the sweetness.

Make enough biscuits for Sunday supper to serve toasted with honey or jam for Monday's lunch.

One pound of chopped beef mixed with three-fourths cup soft bread crumbs, seasonings as desired and one-half cup milk, shaped into cakes that are baked or fried will serve four persons for Monday dinner. And the cost is one that is attractive to today's housewife. On Tuesday another inexpensive meat dish is provided in the shape of stuffed roast shoulder of pork, with which sweet potatoes and oranges go well.

Home baked pork and beans make another inexpensive and generally popular dinner. Buy the marrow beans if you like large ones, or the plain navy or pea beans if the small varieties are preferred. One and one-half pounds will make a good sized pan of baked beans that will allow enough over for bean soup or chowder another meal. Soak the beans over night and cook them slowly the next day. The more slowly, the better, experts say.

Chicken Fricassee.

Have a four to five pound fowl cut in pieces for serving. Singe each piece, then rinse with cold water and put in a deep kettle. Cover the chicken with cold water and heat quickly to the boiling point. Reduce the heat at once, add one tablespoon salt, two peeled and quartered onions, a handful of celery leaves and a sprig of parsley. Cover and simmer for 2½ hours, or until the chicken is very tender. Lift the pieces of chicken carefully to a hot platter, removing the skin if desired. Beat one egg and gradually stir into it three cups of the chicken stock. Mix one tablespoon cornstarch with a little cold water, add to the mixture and stir over a slow fire until thickened. Add one tablespoon lemon juice, salt and pepper to season and pour part of the sauce over the chicken, passing the rest with it. Serve with boiled rice or mashed potatoes.

Steamed Spice Pudding.

Cream together one-quarter cup shortening and three-quarters cup light brown sugar. Add one egg and beat until smooth. Then stir in one cup sour milk or buttermilk. Sift two and one-half cups flour with two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon each cloves and nutmeg, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking soda. Add to the liquid mixture and pour into a greased pudding mold, filling it about two-thirds full. Cover and steam for two and one-half hours. Empty coffee, baking poder or tea cans make good pudding molds, if they are water tight in the seams. Serve with fruit sauce or hard sauce.

Roast Shoulder of Pork.

Have the butcher skin and bone a fresh shoulder of pork (sometimes called a "picnic ham"). Stuff the cavity where the bones were with bread and onion stuffing, tie the meat firmly and place in a roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour and roast in a very hot oven until a light brown, or for about 30 minutes. Reduce the heat to moderate, or 375 degrees or less, and continue cooking until the meat is very tender, or for about three hours for a four to five pound shoulder. Serve with spiced apples, baked apples or apple sauce.

Sweet Potatoes and Oranges.

Boil medium sized potatoes without peeling until they are partly tender, or for 15 minutes. Drain, cool slightly, peel and cut across in slices a scant half inch thick. Butter a shallow baking pan and place the potatoe slices in it. Mix one-half cup brown sugar with one-quarter cup water and one tablespoon butter. Boil for five minutes, then baste the potatoes with it and bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes. Place a slice of peeled orange the same thickness as the potato on each slice of potato. Baste with the sugar syrup and bake 15 minutes longer, reducing the heat. Baste again when they have cooked 10 minutes. Serve hot with any remaining syrup poured over them.

HAM, ONIONS AND TOMATOES

Slice cold baked ham thin, and cover bottom of greased baking dish. Sprinkle with minced onion and minced celery. Cover with cooked baked noodles.

Pour sufficient canned tomatoes over to cover well, season, and bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes.

Beefsteak Smothered in Onions.

Heat a frying pan very hot, put in steak (porterhouse is best, cut thick), sear on both sides without any fat. Cook about five minutes, then season with salt and pepper.

Add one dozen small onions which have been sliced and cooked in boiling salted water for about half an hour. Cover meat with these and water in which cooked, and simmer for 25 minutes. Remove steak to platter and pour over it.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES FOR A SUNDAY BREAKFAST

Recipe for Substantial Old Winter Morning Favorite Revived.

Nothing better than old-fashioned buckwheat cakes made after this recipe, which of course includes yeast. The batter must be mixed the night before, indeed, may be mixed and kept in the refrigerator a number of days, taking out a small portion of the batter at a time.

Mix two cups of buckwheat flour with one cup white flour and gradually add one quart of luke warm water or equal parts milk and water, stirring constantly and mixing to a thick batter. It may be necessary to add a little more buckwheat, but usually the two cups will be enough.

Break one cake yeast into one-half cup luke warm milk, stir until dissolved and then stir into the buckwheat mixture. Cover and put in the icebox over night. In the morning add one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one-quarter teaspoon baking soda dissolved in one-quarter cup warm water, and two tablespoons melted fat. Beat an egg light and add.

The batter should be very thin—fermentation of the yeast will thin it somewhat, but if it is still thick, add milk to make a mixture no thicker than heavy cream. Cook on a hot griddle, allowing a little longer time for cooking than for cakes made with all white flour. Grease the griddle if necessary.

The flavor of the buckwheat cakes really improves as the batter stands and the thick batter of the original mixture may be kept a number of days. The recipe given serves six, but it may be increased in proper proportions if desired to keep the batter on hand for a few days.

Peanut Butter Biscuit.

Next time you make baking powder biscuit, instead of the usual shortening, use one-fourth cup of peanut butter and you will have a new and delicious kind of biscuit.

SAUEKRAUT MAY BE SERVED IN MANY WAYS

Cocktail, Sausage, Noodles and Savory Dressing Recipes Given.

Sauerkraut with its valuable food properties, too often is served only the one old-fashioned way, when it may be combined well with other foods. When you begin serving sauerkraut for the winter, try it now and then in cocktails, with sausage, noodles, fried with bacon, or heated with a savory sauce.

It may be combined with grated cheese and cooked potatoes and baked in a casserole, making one of those "whole meal" dishes.

Savory Sauerkraut.

Heat one-fourth cup butter in a skillet until golden brown. Add one quart of sauerkraut and one-fourth teaspoon celery seed. Mix well with a fork and cover, cooking for five minutes until thoroughly heated throughout.

Onion and Bacon Flavoring.

Fry stripes of bacon, take out and brown a minced onion in the bacon fat. Add drained sauerkraut and bacon stripes, and cook until sauerkraut is slightly brown.

Sauerkraut With Noodles and Sausage.

Arrange alternate layers of drained sauerkraut and boiled, well seasoned noodles in a baking dish, having two layers of noodles and thick one of sauerkraut. Spread one-half pound pork sausage meat over the top and bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

Sauerkraut Cocktails.

The canned or bottled sauerkraut juice is very convenient for serving as an appetizer. Strain the liquid from the can, season it spicily with lemon juice, salt and paprika, and serve very cold in small glasses, accompanied by a tiny toasted wafer.

Strained Green Beans

Coarse fibre removed. Ready-to-serve. Specially prepared for baby. Also Prunes—Spinach—Carrots—Peas—Tomatoes—and Vegetable Soup.

NOODLE COMBINATIONS FOR FRIDAY DINNERS

Vegetable, Croquette and Dessert Recipes of This Substantial Food.

Noodles are inexpnsive, tasty if well prepared and a good substitute for meat on Friday. They are also good in desserts, as will be found by following these recipes:

Broccoli.

Boil five-ounce noodles in salted water and drain. Boil one head of broccoli in salted water and drain, cut up in small pieces. Pour some white sauce in casserole, add broccoli noodles and one cup of grated cheese alternately. Pour more white sauce over top and sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs, salt and pepper. Bake well.

Peanut Butter Croquettes.

Mix two cups of cooked egg noodles with two tablespoons of butter, one tablespoon of milk, one eggs, one small chopped onion and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. RABBIT SAUSAGE IS A NEW COMBINATION

Now we can get a delicious new sausage which is combined of good quality of pork and young domestic rabbits, and is just the thing for the Sunday morning breakfast when guests are on hand.

Young domestic rabbits also are to be found in plenty in the markets and shops and are a very economical form of meat for there is little waste.

These rabbits are raised under sanitary conditions, and are fed on good grain and hay. There are many recipes for rabbits, and the United States Department of Agriculture has issued a leaflet giving some very good ways of preparing them.

BOILED ARTICHOKES

Select ones that look fresh and green. Remove any discolored leaves, cut off the stem flush with the bottom of the artichoke and trim, with a pair of scissors, the spiny ends of the leaves, cutting off a good quarter inch from the ends. Soak the artichokes for 10 to 30 minutes in cold salted water, drain, cover with boiling water to which is added one teaspoon salt and one teaspoon vinegar for each four artichokes.

Boil for 30 minutes until you can pull off a leaf easily. Drain, serve with melted butter or hollandaise sauce, or chill and serve as a salad with mayonnaise made quite tart with lemon juice.

PUDDING SAUCE

A nice sauce for steamed puddings or for baked fruit puddings is made as follows: Mix three-fourths cup sugar with two tablespoons cornstarch. Stir this into two cups boiling water and boil until transparent, or for five minutes.

Remove from the fire, add one teaspoon butter, one-fourth teaspoon salt and the juice of a lemon, or one teaspoon lemon juice and one-fourth to one-half cup any other fruit juice, such as pineapple, grapes, orange, etc. Or use only one-fourth cup sugar and stir one-half cup any jelly into the hot sauce when it is clear.

Mixed Fruit Conserve.

Cook and seed two pounds prunes. Cook half pound cranberries in just enough cold water to cover until well done Combine the prunes and cranberries, and add three cups sugar and juice of two oranges.

Cook slowly until clear. Then add one cup finely chopped walnuts, remove from fire and seal in glasses.

APRICOT CUSTARD

Beat yolks of three eggs, add one-third cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoonful salt and two cups hot milk. Cook in double boiler until thick, stirring all the time. Add to custard after it is cooler three-fourths cup stewed and crushed apricots. Beat whites of three eggs stiff and add three tablespoons powdered sugar. Fold one-third of whites in custard and pour rest over custard after it has been put in serving dish, and brown in oven.

MIXED MEAT LOAF

One pound round stead, ground; one-half pound fresh pork, ground; one-third cup cracker crumbs, one tablespoon finely diced green pepper, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon mustard, one cup canned corn, one egg.

Combine all ingredients and form into a roll. Place in a greased loaf pan and bake in hot oven for 45 minutes. Serves six.

Braised Liver.

Have the liver—2½ pounds—cut in one piece, scald with boiling water, rinse, drain, sprinkle flour, salt and pepper and brown quickly in a little hot fat. Put in a deep baking dish, surround with a cup of diced carrots and peeled onions, add one-half cup water and three tablespoons tomato catsup, cover and cook very slowly for two and one-half hours.

BEANS ARE A GOOD MEAT SUBSTITUTE

Many Varieties May Be Used in Stews, Chili and Other Combinations.

There are few foods that offer more opportunities to the housewife planning meals on a small budget than dried beans. Not only are they "cheap and filling," but they rank high in food value because they contain much protein, iron and some fat, and are also rich in starch and in minerals.

Beans require long cooking, and they must be soaked over night or for several hours before cooking. Beans swell to almost three times their bulk when cooked.

Bean Stew With Dumplings.

Soak one pound of dried red beans over night in plenty of cold water. In the morning drain, cover with two quarts fresh cold water and heat slowly to the boiling point. Simmer for 30 minutes, then add one-half cup sliced onions, one and one-half cups diced carrots, one-quarter pound diced salt pork, and one cup sliced celery. Cover and cook slowly for 30 minutes longer or until the beans and the vegetables are tender. Season to taste with salt and pepper and set aside until dinner time. Reheat to the boiling point, drop small dumplings on the top and boil gently for 10 minutes. If the beans seem somewhat dry when they are reheated, add one cup hot water, or as much as needed to make plenty of gravy for the dumplings.

Dumplings.

Sift 1½ cups flour with ¾ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Rub in 2 teaspoons shortening and add ½ cup cold water or enough to make a drop batter—one that will drop from the spoon and keep its shape. Drop from a teaspoon on top of the stew.

Chili Con Carne.

Soak ½ pound navy beans over night in cold water. Next day, drain, add 1 quart cold water, heat to the boiling point and boil slowly for 45 minutes or until tender. Cut ⅓ pound salt pork in small dice and brown in a saucepan. Add ½ cup sliced onions and cook until they are golden brown, then add ¾ pound lean ground beef and cook for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add the drained beans and 1 quart canned tomatoes. Season with a little salt and 1 tablespoon chili powder. Simmer for 45 minutes or until the meat is tender and the flavors well blended. Thicken the gravy with flour.

ECONOMICAL PLANNING AND BUYING OF FOOD

Great Care Exercised by Many Women to Aid the Family Budget.

Even though food prices are lower in many instances than they have been in years, many women feel there is need for strict care in purchasing to get full value for the money spent. Many families have had to cut expenses, including the food budget, to a minimum, and unless one has a knowledge of food values or marketing, there is apt to be danger in providing too limited a diet. Fortunately good meals do not depend on expensive materials as much as on care and good judgment in the use of ordinary material.

The United States Department of Agriculture through the Bureau of Home Economics has done a great deal of work in planning low cost meals; as a family food guide they recommend milk for children every day, and bread for every meal.

Each day's food, the bureau states, in addition to bread and milk should include cereal in porridge or pudding, potatoes, tomatoes or oranges, a green and a yellow vegetable and a fruit. Two to four times a week menus should include tomatoes for everyone in the family, dried beans, or peas, eggs, especially for children, lean meat, fish, poultry and cheese. These foods all give full nutritive value for the money spent on them, and are also foods that are among the least expensive ones we find in the markets.

With such a list to start from, it is not difficult to plan attractive and wholesome meals. By careful planning you will find that it is entirely possible to occasionally use your favorite cut of steak or some luxury in food—and the fact that it is less often used makes it taste all the better!

It is always more economical to plan meals in detail at least a day in advance, and to do your marketing in person. Buying in quantity usually means a considerable saving by the end of the month. Even where small amounts must be bought for one reason or another, it is possible to effect some saving if you remember that many foods are cheaper in bulk than in packages; that the larger package or can is almost always a better buy than the smaller one, and that it is well to read the labels on packaged and canned goods and find out what you are getting for your money. Some packages contain more by weight than others at the same price.

In buying meat, consider the amount of gristle, bone and lean meat in the cost per pound. Many of the coarser cuts are just as nutritious, but require different methods of cooking than the expensive cuts. They may, however, cooked with care, be just as palatable. Plan to use every bit of leftover meat to the best advantage.

Here are breakfast and dinner menus, substantial and economical, but tasty, which may serve as guides to arranging other low-cost meals.

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, whole wheat cereal, cornbread, coffee, milk for children.

Dinner—Irish stew with dumplings, cole slaw, chocolate bread pudding, coffee, milk.

Hopping John.

This is a dish that is a favorite in the southern section of the country. Soak ¾ pound dried beans—small white ones or the yellow, black-eyed beans—for several hours, in 1 quart of cold water. Drain, add 1 quart fresh water and 1 teaspoon salt and boil gently for 1½ hours or until tender but not broken. Wash 1 cup rice and boil in 6 cups salted water for 20 minutes. Drain the rice and rinse with hot water. Cut ¾ pound fat salt pork in small dice and brown in a frying pan. When brown and crisp remove from the fat and add to the rice, add ½ cup chopped onion to the fat and cook for 5 minutes. Mix the beans, the rice, pork fat, etc., all together and serve very hot with chili sauce, horseradish or catsup.

Celery and Nut Roll.

Put a little celery, carrot and nuts through meat chopper, moisten with lemon juice or mayonnaise and put in hollowed-out center of roll for a child's lunch box.

STOCK LIST CONTINUES RISE AFTER HEAVINESS

Market Absorbs a Flurry of Profit Taking — Trade Volume Moderate With Net Gains of 1 to 3 Points Numerous.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The stock market again absorbed a flurry of profit taking today and pushed forward in continuation of the recovery which has been in progress since Jan. 6. Trading was in moderate volume, but net gains of 1 to 3 points were numerous The turnover approximated 1,600,000 shares. The closing tone was firm.

The market slipped off one to three points in the early profit taking, but most of the losses were more than regained during the afternoon. Delays in beginning the railway wage negotiations in Chicago caused some temporary uneasiness in brokerage quarters, and apparently prompted much of the realizing. Bonds reacted somewhat.

Farm implements were notably firm. Case pushed up about three points, and International Harvester half as much. Miscellaneous shares up about a point or more included United States Steel, Westinghouse, Woolworth, Liggett & Myers B, New York Central, Illinois Central, Johns Manville, Eastman, Consolidated Gas, Rock Island, United Aircraft, and others. Union Pacific, however, failed to recover an early loss of three, and American Telephone lost more than a point, net.

Rail Meeting Factor.

Railroad banking quarters remained confident of successful conclusion of the negotiations for a 10 per cent railway wage reduction, despite a hitch in the proceedings. It was said in these banking quarters that delays had been anticipated in well-informed circles, and expectations of an immediate successful conclusion of the parleys had been too optimistic.

Agreement of a large group of economists, as disclosed by Dr. Warren M. Persons in an interview with the Associated Press, that the United States may move forward toward business recovery without waiting for Europe, by such simple expedients as passing the reconstruction finance measure, and embarking upon a credit expansion program while protecting the gold base, was described in banking quarters as encouraging. Approval of the reconstruction finance measure is regarded in Wall Street as assured.

Gloomy talk of inflation in America in some of the capital centers of Europe is described as absurd in Wall Street. The Federal Reserve, it was explained, could put out several billions in credit through normal channels without impairing its gold reserve ratio to a point that could be regarded as serious. Money rates continued to sag today, with dealers making another cut of one-eighth of one per cent in bankers acceptance rates.

Some brokers thought the market might be disappointed by the failure of the Reserve Bank to cut its rediscount rate and by the absence from the weekly statement of evidence that an easier credit policy had been launched. It seemed probable, however, that the decline of $87,000,000 in total reserve credit, including a $61,000,000 drop in bill holdings, reflected the continued return of year-end credit to the banks. Furthermore, the cutting of the bill-buying rate was not taken until Tuesday and the statements are for the week ended Wednesday.

Currency circulation fell off $42,000,000 against a $28,000,000 rise in the previous week. This decrease was less than seasonal; in the same week of 1930 there was a shrinkage of $133,000,000. Because brokers' loans were down in a week of advancing security prices, it was assumed that short coverings and some outright buying had been the major factors in the advance.

Sterling Is Strong.

Continued strength of sterling was notable in the foreign exchanges. Cables were quoted at $3.49, up 2½ cents. The Canadian dollar gained ½ cent, and the French and German currencies were up slightly.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

(Jan. 15.)

LONDON—For the first time in some days the strength in sterling exchange failed to favorably affect prices which yielded on profit-taking. Giltedged securities, industrials and American issues weakened while gold mines drooped further on reports that South frica would maintain the gold standard. Strength in Japanese bonds and Indian issues together with a moderate rise in breweries and the late recovery in American stock imparted the appearance of steadiness to an otherwise irregular close. Sterling exchange after early strength and rapid fluctuations closed around $3.49.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—Profit-taking and settlement day caused some readjustment to yesterday's higher market and the Bourse opened somewhat irregular. Later the market calmed but in the last half hour renewed activity appeared in all compartments and closed firm.

London Wool Auction.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—At the auction sales today 8056 bales of wool were offered, of which 6834 were sold. Withdrawals of medium greasy merinos were frequent because of the sellers' firm limits, while other grades met a spirited sale a full current rates.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Raw sugar was unchanged early today, and the only sale confirmed was 18,000 bags of Cuban from store concluded late yesterday at 3.16c delivered. Holders asking this price for sugars to arrive early in February, but buyers showed no further interest.

Futures opened at 2 points decline to 1 point advance, with the spot month showing the maximum decline under liquidation, caused by the issuance of 28 notices. They were promptly stopped, however, and following the call the early loss was recovered, while there was little or no change in other deliveries, with the general market at midday net unchanged to 1 point higher.

Trading was of fair proportions, but orders appeared to be pretty evenly divided, with trade and commission houses buying, while European and Cuban interests sold.

In refined, demand was only of a day-to-day character, and prices were unchanged at 4.15c for fine granulated.

Futures closed barely steady, unchanged to 1 point lower. Approximated sales 15,600 tons. January, 1.04c; March, 1.06-07c; May, 1.08-09c; July, 1.13-14c; September, 1.19c; October, 1.22c; December, 1.24-25c.

GOVERNMENT ISSUES LEAD BONDS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A reaction in United States Government obligations today brought a sinking spell in the bond market and various corporate issues gave back some of their recent profits.

All of the Federal loans were down from fractions to over a point at one time. The railroads also took part in the declining movement, although most of the losses recorded were moderate.

Dealers generally were not disheartened by the decline which they described as temporary and natural owing to the fact that prices had continued upward for eight consecutive days.

The utility issues were irregular and the industrials were inclined to weakness. Foreign bonds also had a mixed trend. There was an upward movement in the Argentine list. Both British and Japanese loans recovered. German 5½s and 7s were soft.

BANKERS ACCEPTANCES RATES ARE REDUCED

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Another reduction in yield rates on bankers' acceptances was announced today.

The cut, amounting to one-eighth of one per cent affects the 60 and 90 day maturities, making the rate for both 2⅞ per cent bid, 2¾ per cent asked. The lower rates were put into effect by all acceptance dealers. Yield rates on other maturities remain unchanged.

It was explained by dealers that the reduction was made because of the small supply of offerings. Earlier cuts in the yield rates failed to stimulate offerings, as the dealers expected.

The volume of acceptances in the market has not been sufficient to supply the demands of the Federal Reserve Bank, dealers said today. The bank is said to be in the market for acceptance purchases and general demand also continues strong.

The present rates are 30, 60 and 90 days 2⅞ per cent bid, 2¾ asked; 120 days, 3⅛@3; 150 and 180 days, 3⅜@3¼.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES UNCHANGED TO 3 HIGHER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A further advance at the opening of the cotton market today was attributed to continued trade buying and covering, but the market met considerable realizing and some Southern selling around 6.74c for March and 7.07c for July contracts.

This supplied the demand and caused moderate reactions, but after selling off to 6.65c for March and 6.98c for July, the market again steadied, with active months ruling about 1 to 3 points net higher around 2 o'clock.

Futures closed steady, unchanged to 3 points higher. January, 6.58c; March, 6.68-70c; May, 6.86c; July, 7.03c; October 7.28c; December, 7.42c; spot steady; middling 6.75c.

Holders of common stock in the old St. Louis Independent Packing Co., sold last August to Swift & Co., will receive immediately a dividend of about $2.50 for each share from the St. Louis Independent Liquidating Co., it was said by L. E. Denning, former president of the packing company, now head of the liquidating company. Collection of outstanding accounts may eventually increase the dividend to about $3, Denning said. There are 200,000 shares of no par value common stock. Stockholders at their meeting approved the distribution and voted to dissolve the corporation. Any further dividends will be distributed by the officers and directors as trustees. The old packing company—a new one of the same name has been organized by Swift & Co.—was sold for about $3,000,000. Swift agreed to pay $1,500,000 for buildings and equipment and the market value of stock on hand, estimated at $1,500,000. Preferred stock in the old packing company has been retired for $2,010,060, at the rate of $110 a share, plus $10.50 in accrued dividends for the 16,681 shares.

Stone, resigned. Unger will retain the title of assistant cashier of the First National Bank, to which position he was elected Tuesday. The First National recently absorbed the Franklin-American, and the State Bank & Trust Co., which the Franklin-American had controlled.

The total dividends paid amounted to less than 50 per cent of total earnings.

The George W. Simmons Corporation, national distributors of package groceries, with headquarters in the Railway Exchange Building, is planning to reincorporate as Piee-Zing, Inc., and remove its offices to Chicago next month. The annual meeting of stockholders on Jan. 28 will act on the proposal to dissolve the present company. W. L. Stickney, president, said the removal was in connection with business expansion and the reincorporation was due to a requirement that companies registering for business in Illinois have a minimum par value of $5 a share for common stock. The Simmons Corporation, incorporated in Missouri, has a par of $1 for common stock and $10 for preferred with a capital of $150,000 evenly divided between the two issues. Stickney said while Piee-Zing, Inc., will be incorporated in Delaware for $150,000.

DEARMONT OUTLINES STATE ECONOMY PLANS

Democratic Candidate Says Taxpayers Are Aroused and Reforms Can Be Made.

State Senator Russell L. Dearmont of Capt Girardeau, candidiate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, speaking last night before the Carondelet Township Democratic Club, at 9404 South Broadway, outlined plans for an increased efficiency in State government and a reduction in governmental expense through abolition of many state boards and bureaus, which, he said, seemingly existed only to provide salaries for hundreds of employes.

Dearmont said surveys had shown that the same duties were assigned to two or more bureaus in many instances, with the result that one interfered with the other, and that frequently work done was at double or treble expense.

He told of past efforts toward consolidation of departments and abolition of useless bureaus, attributing the failure to accomplish much improvement to a public apathy, which, he said, was due to the fact that in prosperous times taxpayers were less impressed by the size of their tax bill than in periods of economic depression.

He said there was now an aroused public opinion on excessive costs of government, and that under sincere leadership it should be possible to bring about real reforms along this line in the next Legislature.

In a two-day visit in St. Louis, Dearmont conferred with many supporters and steps were taken toward the organization of a Dearmont Club in St. Louis County, and for an extension of the activities of the Dearmont Club in St. Louis, organized two months ago.

$6000 LIQUOR EQUIPMENT DUMPED INTO QUARRY POND

Max Tabachnik, Owner of Supplies, Will Have to Pay $80 for Cost of Destruction.

Four truckloads of paraphernalia, held by Federal Judge Davis to be contraband because it was intended for use in violating the Volstead act, were dumped yesterday by deputy marshals into the waters of a deep quarry at Ashland and Euclid avenues.

The contraband, said by prohibition authorities to be worth about $6000, was seized in two raids more than a year ago on the store of Max Tabachnik, and under the order of the court he will have to pay the costs of destruction of the property amounting to about $80. There are charges against himself and his clerk, Jack Baum, pending also.

Included in the property destroyed by the marshals were 223 cases of various brands of malt syrup, 1291 other cans of malt syrup, 341 empty beer and whisky bottle cases, 113 empty glass jars, 271 drinking cans and measures, 209 bottle stoppers, 202 packages of beer caps, 75 syphon hoses, 174 bungs and plugs, 187 glasses, 276 packages of whisky and gin flavoring extracts and smaller numbers of wine presses, funnels, buckets, flasks, corks, cakes of yeast, bottle cleaners, filter papers, charred barrels, crocks and gauges.

SEARCH WIDENED FOR SLAYERS OF WEALTHY SPORTSWOMAN

Police Agree on Robbery as Motive for Killing of Widow and Maid.

By the Associated Press.

MIDDLEBURG, Va., Jan. 15.—Search for the slayers of Mrs. Agnes Boeing Ilsley and her maid has spread to wider territory. Proceeding on the belief that George Crawford, discharged Negro employe of the wealthy sportswoman, committed the crime with the aid of an accomplice, the officers said they had decided robbery was the motive, although no valuables were taken.

The murderer, as they reconstructed the crime, sought money or valuables and planned no killing until he found himself recognized. Then Mrs. Ilsley and her elderly servant, Mina Buckner, were beaten to death. The crime occurred Tuesday night in a cottage on the estate of the widow of Spencer Ilsley, Milwaukee banker.

Somewhere in Virginia five Negroes, four of them men, one a woman, were held today as material witnesses. Officers were sure they had been in touch with Crawford just before or after the murder.

Evidence held by Washington police which they considered linked Crawford definitely with the crime was disclosed today to consist of a letter, apparently in his handwriting, found in Mrs. Ilsley's automobile which was abandoned near the capital the day after the crime. In the letter, authorities said, Crawford promised some money to a Negro woman living near Tyson's Corner, Va. He had seen her Sunday, they said, and obtaining this money was probably the robbery motive.

Neighbors of Mrs. Ilsley, including internationally known horsemen and women of the surrounding country, gathered for her funeral today. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Boeing, were expected here from Florida. After services at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, the body will be taken to Milwaukee for burial.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

ASH PRESTON was crooked. No doubt of this!

Perhaps the father was, too, and some of the brothers. But Mrs. Preston was ignorant of it; so were Alice, and the younger brothers. Thiry bore this burden alone. That was the secret of her sad eyes and lips. That was the power Ash Preston had over her—love for him and fear. It did no longer seem unnatural. That was why no cowboys ever got a fair chance to win Thiry Preston's friendship.

Rock knew the West. He had become a part of it. The Prestons were new, comparatively, to this wild range. He knew Western men, their uncanny power to suspect and search out and find among them the cattleman who transgressed the unwritten laws. All cattle-raisers stole from one another. But there was a distinction with a difference.

Gage Preston was getting rich—a little bit swiftly for a rancher on an ordinary scale. How? Rock answered the query in many ways, but only one way seemed tenable. Preston sold cattle on the hoof, the same as other ranchers. None but rustlers ever sold cattle that did not belong to them. And certainly Preston could not be a rustler. It was inconceivable that Ash Preston could be a rustler, either, at least without his father knowing. But Rock scouted the rustler idea.

The Prestons had become butchers of cattle on a considerable scale. Did any one, outside themselves, know just how many steers they butchered? What a pertinent question here! Rock was certain that he would find out that no outsiders knew how many head of stock they killed. And here was the gist of the matter.

Some of the Prestons, with Ash at the head, and the father either in with them or unable to prevent it, were killing cattle not their own, burning or hiding the skins, and selling the beef at near and distant points.

"Good Lord!" muttered Rock, under his breath. "I've hit it plum center.—The damn fools, thinkin' they can hide that long!.... Gage Preston ought to have more sense. He struck me queer, though. But it's that rattlesnake son who's got this outfit buffaloed. No wonder poor Thiry has sad eyes.... Well, by Heaven, I'll stay at Sunset Pass!"

* * *

A BELL awakened Rock from late slumbers. The sun was up, and as he peeped out over his blanket covering he saw the grass shine gold under the cedars. He had overslept, which was not a remarkable fact, considering how long it had taken him to get to sleep. In the sober light of day the task before him seemed tremendous. He had to prove his suspicions, which had lost no strength during sleep, and if they were well founded, then he must somehow stop the illicit proceedings before the Prestons were overwhelmed by catastrophe.

No new thing for Rock was it to appear a light-hearted, careless cowboy when underneath this guise he was hard and cautious, keen as a blade. The Prestons, excepting Ash, would be easy to deceive.

Briskly he strode toward the double cabin, conscious of heart-beating anticipation, and when he thumped upon the porch Alice Preston came out of the kitchen, carrying plates and cup, which she set upon the table.

Mrs. Preston looked out of the kitchen and greeted Rock with pleasant smile and words.

"Are the boys up, too?" he asked as he fell upon the ham and eggs and hot biscuits.

"Land's sake! They're up an' gone long ago," she replied. "They were sure funny. Tom said: 'Let him sleep, Ma. The longer the better'....An' Al said: 'Don't wake the new boss, Ma. He won't never get no sleep when Ash is here, so let him get some now'....An' Harry said: 'Ain't Thiry up yet, either? Reckon settin' up in the moonlight is bad for some folks.'"

"It sure is, Mrs. Preston," laughed Rock. "I'm sorry, though, if I'm to blame."

"Oh, Thiry was up hours ago," Alice informed them. "Saw Pa and the boys ride away. I know she had a run-in with Ash, because she had been cryin'."

"THAT'S too bad," said Rock, bending over his plate and eating fast. He had seen the mother's face change very slightly, almost imperceptibly. Ash Preston was a thorn in the flesh of this wholesome family.

Rock made short work of his breakfast, and glad somehow that he had not encountered Thiry, he hurried down toward the corrals.

At the barnyard Rock found Al Preston leading in some horses, and one of his brothers was jacking up a hind wheel of the green wagon.

"Morning, boss. Hope you're not sick," drawled Al.

"Boys, I was plumb dead. I'll sure let you punish me for bein' lazy."

The other boy nodded at Rock.

"Are you Tom or Harry?" asked Rock, suddenly reminded of the twins.

"I'm Harry."

"All right, Harry, I'll know you tomorrow or bust. Where's Tom?"

"He left us to grease the wagon and went off after a horse for you."

"For my white horse, Egypt?" asked Rock.

"No—I'm sorry to say," returned Harry, haltingly, as if he had bad news.

"Did Egypt jump the pasture fence?"

"No. Ash saddled him and rode off on him."

Rock sat down suddenly, stifling the yell that leaped to his lips.

"It was just daylight when I got down here," went on Harry.

"Range and Scott were just ridin' off. Ash had your horse and saddle. Pa was cussin' Ash awful. Reckon they'd been arguin' 'cause Pa never cusses till he's wore out.

"Well, when he got done Ash says, 'Pa, how'd you like to go to hell?' Then he forks your horse and rides after the boys. Pa 'peared to be chokin' mad. All of a sudden he busted out laughin'. He climbed up on the wagon with Boots and they left." * * *

ROCK for the moment succumbed to a silent fury. But seeing the gray-eyed brothers watching him curiously, keen to catch how he would take this first move of Ash's, he thought he had better explode naturally and wholesomely, as might any cowboy.

"—— —— —— —— ——!" he yelled, lustily. "He took my new white horse! And my saddle that I wouldn't lend to the King of England! . . . Never had that happen to me. Doggone!—Boys, was it supposed to be a joke?"

"Joke nothin'. Ash was just mean, like he always is when we get a new rider. But reckon you'll have to take it as a joke."

"Huh! I will—like the old lady who keeps tavern out West!" replied Rock, with a short laugh.

"How's that, boss?" inquired Al, hugely delighted.

"Like h——," answered Rock. "Boys, I reckon I'm the maddest cowpuncher that ever was. I think I'll get a horse and saddle from you, and go after my own."

"If you take my advice you'll swallow it—leastways till Ash comes back. Chances are he won't do Egypt no harm. If you follow Ash now, mad as you are, there'll only be another fight."

"Take it as a joke. Or better be nice about it," added Harry. "That always stumps Ash. If he can't make you mad he let's up—for a while, anyway."

"Thanks, boy. I'll think it over," rejoined Rock, grateful for their solicitude. "But I reckon the good Lord himself couldn't keep my mouth shut—after that."

"Let's get to work," suggested Harry. "We're late. And Ash ain't the only one Pa can cuss."

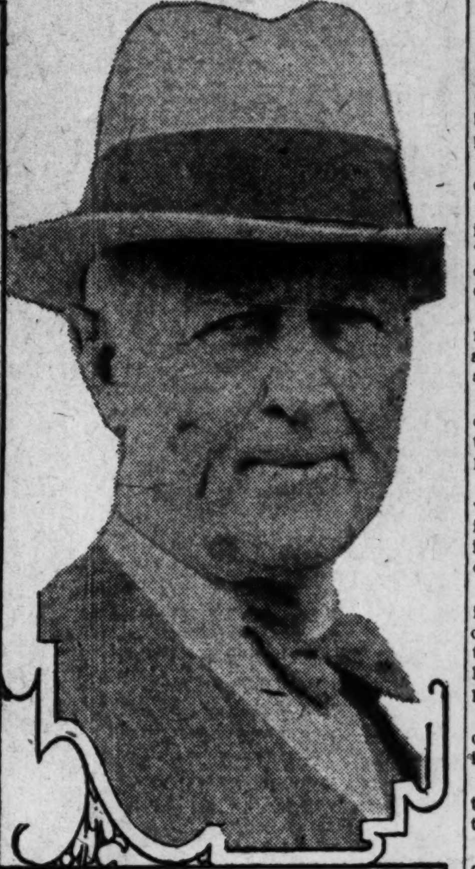
YOUTH AND BEAUTY FALL BEFORE AGE AND EXPERIENCE

George Arliss . . . . Well Past 60, but Still a Big Box Office Hit.

In his 50's, but rising to new heights . . . Lionel Barrymore, shown with Norma Shearer in "A Free Soul."

George Fawcett . . . . Has Never Slipped From Favor With the Motion Picture Audiences.



Hobart Bosworth (top) and Marie Dressler (below), Who Manage to Give the Youngsters Competition.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14.

MENTION of the words "movie star" usually brings up a vision of youth—a handsome, virile young man or a golden-haired, smiling girl. But it happens that some of the foremost stars in the celluloid firmament are well past their youth. Some of them, in fact, are beginning to get near the point when they can be called "old." And of the applicants for Hollywood jobs today, a great many are middle-aged.

All of this was emphasized last fall when the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences bestowed its awards for the best performances of the year on two people who are beyond the half-century mark.

Marie Dressler, who is 60, received the award for women: Lionel Barrymore, now in his 50s, was voted the best among the men.

Of course, filmland is still full of young stars—the Janet Gaynors, Richard Arlens, Clark Gables, Joan Crawfords and so on. But these youngsters have to share the topmost pinnacles with players many of whom are old enough to be their parents.

Who are some of these aging stars? Well, here is a list for you. Read it and see if the old folks aren't winning in Hollywood.

Stars 60 years old or more include Miss Dressler, George Fawcett, J. C. Nugent, George Arliss, Hobart Bosworth.

Those between 50 and 60 are Tom Mix, Edna May Oliver, Richard Bennett, Claude King, Montagu Love, J. Farrell MacDonald, Conway Tearle, Frederick Burton, O. P. Heggie, Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone, Polly Moran, Monte Blue, Warner Oland, H. B. Warner, George Bancroft, J. M. Kerrigan, James Kirkwood, Will Rogers, Joseph Cawthorne, C. Aubrey Smith, Ernest Torrence and Noah Beery.

Stars whose ages range from 40 to 50 include the following:

* * *

THOSE three lists include some of the very brightest stars in the Hollywood sky.

Some movie people believe that this reflects a change in public taste due to the depression. In good times, they say, the American public wants boy-and-girl love stories and happy endings. Today they want something more realistic—something like the screen adventures of a lumbering "Min," a happy-go-lucky "Bill" or a hard-boiled "Little Caesar."

Although she was a big figure on the legitimate stage for years, Marie Dressler never enjoyed any real fame on the silver screen until the last year or so. To be sure, she played in pictures, but she wasn't a real favorite.

Then she made several comedies with Polly Moran and started up the cinema ladder. A strong character part in Norma Shearer's "Let Us Be Gay" boosted her still farther. And "Min and Bill" finished the job.

That film was the pioneer of a series of pictures in which young love has been subordinated. It proved that people will go to see a drama centered about older characters if the old folk are vivid and interesting.

Wallace Beery has had more ups and downs than an elevator boy since the days when he was a ham actor and Gloria Swanson was his wife.

He was a popular favorite as a screen villain and then slumped. "Old Ironsides" started him off again as a comedian and, teamed with Raymond Hatton, he rose to new heights in a series of comedies. Then he tumbled again. "Min and Bill" brought him back once more, and now he is enjoying greater success than ever before.

* * *

"THE CHAMP," his latest film, will rank among the 10 best of 1931. It's a picture without the usual love interest, too. The story, centering around Beery, is that of a former world's champion striving to come back. It's that realism which puts it over.

Then there's the case of Edward Robinson, one of the leading box office attractions today. In his three outstanding successes, "Little Caesar," "Easy Money" and "Five Star Final," Robinson's own characterizations are the outstanding factors. Sometimes there is romance in Robinson's films, but he doesn't concern himself with it.

George Bancroft follows in a similar channel. By letting others furnish the sex appeal in his films, George has achieved far greater success than he ever did in his younger days when he tried to play a young lover.

A few years ago James and Lucille Gleason would have been relegated to small bits, perhaps supporting their own son, Russell. With times as they are now, however, they are on a par with him. And some think that Jimmy and Lucille are the real stars of the family, despite the success Russell has been having of late.

Middle-aged homely persons always have done better in comedies than in straight drama. However, Jimmy Durante for years was considered too rough in appearance for the movies. Today he is one of the leading comedians—all because of two pictures.

In William Haines' latest production, "The New Adventures of Get Rich Quick Wallingford," Durante stripped the entire picture of acting honors. He was the one people talked about, in spite of the fact that Haines did his best work of the last year.

He came close to doing the same thing again in "The Cuban," Lawrence Tibbett's new film. Nor is it solely Durante's laugh-making ability which makes him popular. He has a human interest appeal that the fans like.

Polly Moran always has been popular with the theater-going public. As a vaudeville star she was rated as the best woman monologist in the business. She was a "wow" as the star of the old "Sheriff Nell" comedies.

Then she slipped into small character roles in feature dramas. Polly's past was great, all right. But her popularity has doubled since the older players of filmdom have come into their own.

* * *

THE interest taken by Mr. and Mrs. Public in the strong character work of older players also has had its effect on the young actors and actresses. They don't spend all of their time on the screen showing how nice they can look. Life isn't that way and new stories all include a touch of character flavor.

Helen Hayes, for example, is young and about as pretty as girls come. But the triumph she achieved in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" was due in a large measure to her performance in the latter part of the film, when she was made up as an ugly old woman.

Greta Garbo did the same in "Susan Lenox, Her Fall and Rise." Garbo didn't get old, but she forgot beauty for the realism of a tinseled costume of a side show dancer in a cheap circus. She has forsaken beauty for realism in other films recently, too.

And leading men, in the past always heroic, no longer play their roles "straight." They, too, have succumbed to the public's pressure and injected characterization into their roles. This was forced upon them if they wanted to save any of the movie laurels for youth.

The child must learn to beh inwardly as well as outw "breaking in" its own physical chine for smooth and harmon operation.

While the child is born with nate capabilities to feed, excr and sleep, these capacities are cr and untrained.

The more serious forms of ne ous instability may cause the ch to suffer convulsions upon the le provocation.

Under proper handling, the c will overcome this handicap, in later years withstand provok irritations without going into ne ous spasms.

In a less serious form, nerv instability may be seen in child's irregular breathing, and p ticularly in its frequent attacks hiccough, or spasms of the d phragm.

The rate and rhythm of child's circulatory system are irregular.

Not infrequently, too, its excr tory functions are so irregular to cause alarm.

There may be constipation w out apparent reason and supp sion or retention of the urine.

The digestive system and functions are also subject to turbances in movement and ordination.

Temporary spasms of the lorus, the opening of the stom into the intestine, and the irre lar peristaltic movement of the testinal tract give rise to vomi ing, pain, and in a number of i stances, to a hypertrophy or ove development of the stomach.

When properly trained, the ch acquires a rhythm of functi which does away with these irreg larities.

If you ask My Opinion

by Martha Carr

ANSWERS to "Janie's" question, "What do boys like in popular girls?" grow apace. Evidently the boys are not backward in saying. Here follow opinions and dissertations.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for a personal reply.

DEAR MRS. CARR: This letter is my greeting to Janie.

It all depends upon the boy or man as to what kind of a girl they like to go with. If we all liked the same type of girl, most of us would be lonely. Here 's my prescription: Looks are only secondary. Nine out of 10 girls can make themselves attractive with ordinary amount of effort. I like to go with a girl who is going with me because she enjoys being with me and does not deal out her friendship in accordance with my pocketbook or the make of car I drive. Quite often it is necessary for me to use the street car. A large proportion of girls will not go with a man unless he has a machine, even if it entails no long walk. I like to go out with a girl who is interested in something besides the latest divorce scandal, and reads something in the paper besides the comics and the movie advertisements. As to smoking—that is her business. As to petting—not a girl who pets with every fellow because she thinks he won't take her out if she doesn't. Neither do I like a girl who goes around with a "keep off the grass look." And as an ending, I like a girl who is feminine. This sounds like a big order, I know, but if a girl does not come up to most of these standards, I would rather stay at home. I hope to hear from you again, Janie.

T. D.

* * *

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: In reply to Janie's question, I want to speak from my own experience. Although not a boy, I can tell something of their likes and dislikes, because I have been successful in gaining their wholehearted friendship, and they take me to worth-while places and make me have a good time.

From observation, and from conversation with over 30 men and boys with whom I have dated the last two years, I have discovered they like a girl who is neat and attractive; they detest excessive makeup; most of them dislike to see a girl smoke; they abhor loud talking and common mannerisms. They like a girl to be somewhat dependent; not to display her book learning too obviously; they appreciate attentiveness when they are talking. The girl should find out their chief interests and create intelligent conversation from these leads. If she can tease them in a cute way without overdoing the "cuteness"—do it!

Don't be too serious or take their attentions too seriously, as this often scares a man off. Be a good sport with reservations, avoiding unnatural behavior. Be yourself, because a man is quick to discern false and pretentious behavior.

A FRIEND.

* * *

DEAR MRS. CARR: A few days ago, I noticed in your column a letter from a girl signed "Janie." In our local paper (Hot Springs, Ark.) some time ago an article that might have answered her question, was published. I will quote a little of it:

"Far above everything else that a boy wants is decency. If girls could only see the flapper as we see her! We see her as one too familiar with the boys, careless of speech, actions and morals and attitudes, in relation to us. It is no credit to us that we talk to her, because even as we speak to her we have an intense loathing for her type.

We think fidelity is important; that is, we should know at all times where we stand with her. Don't lie! Better to lose a boy friend and keep his respect and her own than to keep his friendship and forfeit later his esteem.

Conservatism is the best guide as to what she wears, says and does. Be true, be loyal, be graceful, be gracious, be pure, be sweet.'

INTERESTED.

* * *

DEAR MRS. CARR: Although 19 years old I have some ideas as to my ideal girl. 1—A rather small girl, blond hair, a good dresser, great personality, good dancer, ardent lover of sports, tennis, ice hockey, basketball, football and one who likes good clean shows. 2—A girl who knows her place; that is, doesn't mush around every boy she sees, while in the presence of her escort at a party. Neither do I like a drinker. 3—A girl who does have some serious moments. That is, one who plans a future and is not just living her life from day to day, with no hopes and desires for improvement. 4—A girl who is not a gold digger—one who is a real buddy and pal, a companion.

JUST OLD-FASHIONED.

DEAR MRS. CARR: I am a young man 20 years old and much interested in Janie's question.

I realize that most fellows expect a girl to pet, and if she doesn't will drop her. I may be old-fashioned, but I prefer a girl who can be a good pal without making herself cheap, who is sympathetic and willing to listen to what I have to say. I like to know those who have personality and intellect and who can hold a boy's interest without petting. I am not condemning the girl for this altogether. The boys, a lot of them, are cads and expect too much and it all causes regret afterward. I want to see what the other boys say. H. E. S.

* * *

DEAR MRS. CARR: May I submit an answer to Janie's question? But while doing it, I'll try to bear in mind that none of us are perfect. Real boys prefer girls who are not conceited, silly, ignorant, wise-cracking boyish girls.

Girls should not be deceitful. Lots of them are devils at home and angels to outsiders. They should not brag about their boy friends as so many do, who think it cute. And girls call fellows "cute;" no fellow is "cute." And he doesn't like being called so.

If girls are lovely and sweet to look at, they must try to be what they look.

BOBBY.

* * *

MARTHA CARR: In response to Miss Janie, as a man 32 years old, I want to say that for my part, I prefer the girl who has a lot of common sense and uses it. And from my experience I know they are rare. Some of them will date anybody with a good car and think more of a good time than of the character of the man. A great many of them judge a man by the way he looks.

I like a girl who looks well, and dresses neatly; but who is no dance-hall queen. I like one who shows that she might be able to save some for a rainy day and if she is to marry the man would be an inspiration to him.

E. G.

* * *

DEAR MRS. CARR: In answer to Janie's letter, which appeared in your column, I will say that it all depends on the character of the fellow as to what kind of a girl he prefers to go around with. Any intelligent fellow enjoys the company of a girl who is clean of mind, who is congenial and peppy (not wild); one who possesses a good personality, pleasing disposition and sense of humor.

Good looks are an asset, but not a necessity as long as the girl is neat and makes a good appearance. Girls that smoke and drink often times ruin a good party.

Jose Laval Wears Whipcord Sports Suit

Jose Laval, daughter of the President of the French Council, is an ardent huntswoman. She often follows the chase on her father's farm in Normandy.

Her new hunting costume is of dark brown whipcord designed with a divided skirt and a short jacket, which buttons closely about her figure.

With it Mlle. Laval wears a vest of scarlet wool and a mannish white satin blouse.

The Carried Lunch

If someone in the house carries lunch every day, it is worth the expense of investing in one of those new compact lunch boxes, which contains a small vacuum bottle that makes it possible to carry a hot drink or soup.

Real Antiques.

We do not like to use a brass polish on our antique brass, as we wish to avoid that bright finish. Try rubbing with a solution of vinegar and salt and it will make it clean-looking without that bright polish.

Typing at Home

If you do typing at home, you want it to be as quiet as possible in order to hear both telephone and door bells over its racket. Place the typewriter on thick folds of newspaper. It will deaden the noise very much.

Things in Season

Keep to foods in season if you wish to keep down expenses. The new fresh things in market look so tempting, but it unquestionably is these items that make us overreach our weekly budget.

Signs of Wear

Cut an inch off one side of your tablecloths as soon as they begin to show signs of wear and hem the raw edges. This will make the folds come in a slightly different place and they will last far longer than if always folded the same way.

Castor oil will give a fine polish to leather furniture.

Those Shiny Heads

In these days of shiny, glistening heads from pomade, it is wise to protect the wall paper over the top of the box couch or day bed by placing tapestry or print over this place. They can be cleaned much more rapidly than greasy wall paper.

In the Wintry Winds

One housewife has a spring clothespin wired on the inside of the porch railing and the paper carrier snaps the daily newspaper into it. Then, on windy days she does not have to gather her papers from all corners of the porch.

Sparkling Decanters

Decanters must be cleaned, even though not used, in order to keep their shining appearance. This job can be made easy by using a little vinegar with a handful of salt. Place the solution in the decanter and shake well, rinsing in clear water afterwards.

Dampened ashes will successfully clean steel knives.

Easier Ironing.

Most housewives use an electric iron for their laundry work, but do they all arrange their ironing boards so that it is possible to sit down to iron all their plainer things? It is certainly a saving in energy and a needed rest for tired feet.

It is a foolish housewife whose Sunday dinner is so elaborate that her "day of rest" is spent in the kitchen.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Australia Once More

THEY stopped off to see the Tasmanian Striped Bandicoot before going back to Australia. He was about 15 inches in length and his tail was short and very tiny.

In fact it looked as though it was hardly a tail at all before it came to the end.

The Bandicoot had soft, smooth fur and a long, thin snout. His ears stood straight up and were not very large. His waistcoat was white and his coat of brown, and as he stood and spoke to them he held his short front feet up, much in the manner of a kangaroo.

When they got back to Australia they paid a visit to a Rabbit Bandicoot which reminded them of a rabbit much more than it did of the Bandicoot they had just seen.

Oh, how many animals they saw! They visited the Dingo Dogs—wild and wolf-like and known for being beloved by natives but hated by those who had sheep farms. The Dingo Dogs were fond of sheep killing.

John and Peggy visited members of the Opossum family and they saw Turtles and Lizards and Frogs.

They saw Sea Lions and they saw Snakes, and they traveled all over to see these creatures.

They saw Crocodiles and Tortoises until they really felt they knew Australia's animals quite well. And they saw Sperm Whales and heard of the great devotion of a Sperm Whale mother to all her friends and particularly to her young.

Somehow they had never thought of a huge creature such as a Sperm Whale as being so affectionate and so loyal and so brave!
